PICK JUDGE HYLAN TO HEAD TICKET AGAINST MITCHEL

Democratic Fusionists Name Brooklyn Man and Tammany Is Astonished.

MURPHY POSITION UNKNOWN

Wigwam Leaders Predict Candidate Will Withdraw in Favor of Sheriff Smith or Hearst.

CHOICE WAS UNANIMOUS

Dowling Chosen for Borough President of Manhattan and Smith for President of Aldermen.

The Democratic Fusion Committee of 170, which was organized through Tammany influence in order to bring together all the anti-Mitchel forces in the municipal campaign this Fall, decided unanimously last night upon County Judge John F. Hylan of Brooklyn as its candidate for Mayor. The Business Men's League, an auxiliary organization, has already come out in favor of Judge Hylan's nomination. It now remains only for Tammany to accept Mr. Hylan to put the Democratic ticket into the field. The anti-Mitchel slate follows:

JOHN F. HYLAN, for Mayor.
ALFRED E. SMITH, for President of the Board of Aldermen.
FRANK L. DOWLING, for Borough President of Manhattan.

Whether Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, will accept Judge Hylan as the organization candidate was the main subject of speculation in Democratic circles last night. Tammany district leaders, frankly, do not want Hylan. They have urged Murphy all along to pick a regular organization candidate, and they have given Mr. Murphy to understand in no uncertain terms that their first choice is Sheriff Alfred E. Smith, probably one of the most popular figures that ever appeared in the Tammany organization. Sheriff Smith's friends on the Democratic Fusion Committee fought for his nomination up to the last, but the Hylan adherents won out.

Effort to Placate Smith Men.

The Democratic fusionists sought to placate the Smith followers by naming him as its candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen. This suggestion also went through unanimously last night, as did the designation of Frank L. Dowling for Borough President of Manhattan. If the Democratic fusion slate is accepted by Tammany, Sheriff Smith will oppose Fire Commissioner Robert Adamson at the polls for Aldermanic President and Mr. Dowling, the present President of the board, will be the candidate against Marcus M. Marks, the Republican-Fusion candidate for Borough President. The Democratic fusionists could not unite upon a candidate for Controller last night, and will meet again this evening to try and find a candidate for that office.

Judge Hylan was one of nineteen candidates who have been considered by the Democratic Fusion Committee. He had many indorsers, and when the Business Men's League united upon him it was considered a foregone conclusion that the Democratic Fusion Committee would accept him. Judge Hylan is anxious to make the race. He is at Saratoga, and upon hearing of his indorsement by the Business Men's League he called up Joseph Yeska, the Chairman, over the telephone last night and said:

"I am honored at my nomination by the Business Men's League. I am with you heart and soul in this fight to return our city government to the hands of the people. As I conceive the issue in this campaign, it is the moneyed interests versus the people. I am entering this fight with the pledge that when elected I will strive to give New York the best business administration it has ever had. I accept the nomination of the league with the greatest satisfaction because it will enable me to help remove the menace of 'foundation autocracy' which now threatens New York."

Mr. Hylan's statement was taken to apply to his indorsement also by the Democratic Fusion Committee.

Tammany Leaders Astonished.

Many Tammany leaders who are not in on the inner counsels of Murphy and his advisers frankly professed the utmost astonishment last night to hear of Judge Hylan's selection. Very few of the district leaders ever heard of him and why Tammany should take a Brooklyn candidate, little known in Manhattan, over such a candidate as Sheriff Smith or one of a dozen loyal organization men they said they could not understand.

A Tammany leader who said he did not want his name used at this time summed up the Fourteenth Street organization's attitude toward the Democratic Fusion Committee's selection as follows:

"Either Murphy has had one put over on him or he is playing a deeper game than appears on the surface. It seems inconceivable in the first place that Tammany Hall should go to Brooklyn for a candidate to oppose Mayor Mitchel when there are so many good candidates right here in Manhattan. It also is beyond comprehension that it should select a man who never was heard of in Fourteenth Street. I will wager that not a single Tammany district leader ever heard of Judge Hylan before his name was mentioned in deliberations by the Democratic Fusion Committee. We put forward 'Al' Smith, and we were willing to go the limit for him. Hylan means absolutely nothing to us. Tammany voters are loyal, but they have little choice between Mayor Mitchel and this man.

"As I said, Murphy may have had one

American Citizens in Germany Are Pressed Into the Kaiser's Army

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 14.—An American of German birth, who was permitted to leave Germany recently, says that the military authorities there are commencing to take American citizens, long resident in Germany, for military service, on the grounds that they have forfeited their American citizenship and are now denationalized. Even native-born Americans, he says, have in some instances been put into the army, but the military duty usually applies to naturalized citizens of German origin.

The procedure of the military authorities against the so-called Stateless individuals repeatedly has been the subject of interpellations in the Reichstag, usually in the case of Belgian residents in Germany, but the authorities refuse to change their attitude.

The Americans, a number of whom have protested to the Spanish Embassy, it is believed here, have little hope of escaping service.

WILSON NAMES 184 GENERALS

Nominates All the 35 Brigadiers of the Regular Army for the Rank of Major General.

O'RYAN GETS SAME GRADE

147 Colonels and Lieut. Colonels Made Brigadiers—Promotions in Navy, Too.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—President Wilson today sent to the Senate the names of 184 officers whom he has appointed as general officers in the National Army. Thirty-seven of them are to be Major Generals and the remaining 147 will be Brigadier Generals.

The appointments are not permanent, although before the war is over some of them, through promotion to fill vacancies in the general officers' list, will be made permanent. The appointments are for the period of the war.

While all are commissioned as Major Generals or Brigadier Generals in the National Army, so as to give them uniform commissions for the purposes of the war under the terms of the selective service law, they will be subject to detail with any of the divisions or brigades into which the armies are formed for the war. They may be assigned either to the Regular Army, to the National Guard Army, or to the National Army.

The list shows that thirty-five Brigadier Generals of the regular army are promoted to be Major Generals of the national army. This advances all the Brigadiers of the regular army.

Two National Guard officers are appointed Major Generals in the national army. They are Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan of New York, and Major Gen. Charles M. Clement of Pennsylvania. While commissioned as national army Major Generals, they will be assigned, at least during the early stages of the war, to be Major Generals of divisions respectively of the New York and Pennsylvania National Guard forces. The thirty-seven Major Generals created today, with the ten regular Major Generals of the line, will, therefore, give the armies of the United States a total of forty-seven Major Generals.

105 Colonels Promoted.

One hundred and five Colonels of the regular army and two Lieutenant Colonels of that service have been appointed Brigadier Generals of the national army. They will be assigned wherever needed to regular army brigades, to National Guard brigades or to national army brigades, but will be about evenly distributed between these three wings of the great army now being formed.

As all the Brigadier Generals of the regular army have been promoted to be Major Generals, and will command divisions, it is evident that the Colonels who have been promoted to be Brigadier Generals are in many instances to take the places of those Brigadier Generals who have been in command of brigades but who have now been made Major Generals.

Thirty Brigadier Generals of the National Guard and nine National Guard Colonels have been appointed Brigadier Generals by the President. Of these, three come from the New York Guard, Brig. Gens. Lester, Wilson, and Hamilton. One former Brigadier General of the army, John A. Johnston of Pennsylvania, has been appointed from civil life to be a Brigadier General. He resigned from the army.

The officers whose appointments were made today are to rank from Aug. 5.

The assignment of one of the new Major Generals was announced today when the War Department let it become known that General Mann would command the Forty-second National Guard Brigade. Some of the officers promoted to be Major Generals today are already in France with General Pershing.

The President's appointments of general officers were made without delay on his part. His action is another evidence that in nearly every aspect of the war he is following the recommendations of the General Staff and of the Army War College. A special board has been at work for several weeks selecting officers to be promoted. It was not until late yesterday afternoon that the work of this board was completed and sent to the White House by Secretary Baker. President Wilson spent one night going over the recommendations, the accompanying report and the biographies of the men recommended for promotion or appointment.

He was assured that the selections had been made with a view solely to military efficiency. By 2 o'clock this afternoon the President had not only placed his seal of approval on the entire list, but had forwarded the nominations to the Senate. Appointments above the grade of Colonel to the National Army must be sent to the Senate

M'ADOO REQUIRES 9 BILLIONS MORE

Treasury Head Asks Congress to Vote New War Credits to Last to June.

NEW LOANS TO THE ALLIES

Bond Issue of 3 or 4 Billions and $500,000,000 More Taxes at This Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Congressional leaders were informed by Secretary McAdoo today that it would be necessary for them to authorize at this and the Winter session of Congress an additional $9,000,000,000 for war expenditures, including further loans to the Allies, to June 30, 1918. Five billions in bonds already have been authorized, and a $2,000,000,000 war tax bill is pending in the Senate.

Within an hour after the Secretary had conferred with Representative Kitchin, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, plans were under way for raising the money. A meeting of the Ways and Means Committee was called for Aug. 25, and arrangements made for the House, now taking three-day recesses, to resume its regular meetings on Aug. 27 and expedite financial legislation.

Issuance of between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 in bonds to meet new allied loans and authorization of an additional $500,000,000 in taxes, to be added to the bill before the Senate, probably will be proposed by the committee and agreed to by the House. No delay in either authorization is anticipated. The bond issue will be agreed to within a day, Mr. Kitchin predicted, and the $500,000,000 probably will be added to the Revenue bill in conference, with the approval of the House.

The plan is to have the remainder of the $9,000,000,000 authorized at the next session of Congress, beginning in December. Whether it will be raised by bonds or aditional taxation, or in what proportion of both, is undecided.

Announcement that authorization of a new bond issue to meet an allied loan was desired came as a surprise to most of the Congressional leaders. They thought the conference the Secretary sought with Mr. Kitchin was for the purpose of discussing raising possibly an additional $1,000,000,000 or $2,000,000,000 for emergency domestic needs. They planned to authorize it, go home, and raise at the next session the remaining $4,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 it was estimated the war would cost this fiscal year.

The needs of the Allies have been much heavier than was expected, and the $3,000,000,000 already authorized, it is estimated, will hardly carry them farther than October.

WOULD TAX WEALTHY MORE.

Senate Committee Minority Reports in Favor of Shifting Burden.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—After a minority report on the War Revenue bill had been offered in the Senate today by Senators Gore, La Follette, and Thomas as members of the Committee on Finance, urging that the strain of the war taxes be put upon incomes, excess war profits, and liquors, the Senate began taking up amendments to the measure with a view to speeding its final passage.

Judging from the progress made today, Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said he expected the Senate would come to a vote on the measure by the end of next week. Up to today there had been no stubborn fight over the bill. The struggle will come toward the end of the week, when the committee's proposals as to corporation and income taxes will be taken up.

While there is considered to be little doubt that the bill as recast by the Finance Committee will be accepted, Senator Simmons admitted tonight that of necessity several days must be devoted to analytical discussion of the basic tax levy on individual and corporation incomes and profits, which embraces more than half of the $2,006,970,000 carried in the measure.

In rapid succession and with little debate the Senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, approved the Finance Committee's revision of the soft drink, tobacco, and most of the public utilities schedules.

Tax on Consumers Lightened.

Extension of the 3 per cent. tax on freight transportation to motor vehicle lines competing with railroads was approved in the acceptance of the new freight transportation section, designed to raise $77,500,000. The Senate also accepted the committee's reduction from 10 to 5 per cent. in the taxes on passenger transportation and Pullman accommodations. Both charges would be paid by individuals and not by the carriers.

Committee elimination of the House taxes on gas, electric light, and local telephone bills of consumers also was accepted without debate. They were estimated to yield $10,000,000, and were stricken out because of their direct burden upon the general public. The tax of 5 cents on telegraph, radio, and long-distance telephone messages costing more than 15 cents was approved. It is estimated to yield $7,000,000.

Elimination of the House provision taxing all insurance policies was accepted. The House proposed a tax of 8 cents per $100 on life insurance policies and about 1 per cent. on new or reinsurance.

In its report the minority of the Senate Finance Committee attacks the bill as ignoring the request of Secretary

19,000 MILITIA GOING TO FRANCE; 69TH IN THE FORCE

New Forty-second Division Is Made Up of National Guards from Twenty-six States.

GENERAL MANN IN COMMAND

He Is a Veteran Indian Fighter, Who Served in Cuba and the Philippines.

BIG FORCE OF ARTILLERY

All the Regiments Have New Designations—"Fighting Sixty-ninth" Now the 165th Infantry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The War Department today announced the organization of the first of the National Guard army divisions to be sent to France. It will be known as the Forty-second Division, will consist approximately of 19,000 men, and will be commanded by Major Gen. William A. Mann, who is to relinquish almost immediately his present post as Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department, to organize and train his new command.

The Forty-second Division, which will include the "Fighting Sixty-ninth" Regiment of Infantry of the New York National Guard, will sail for France very soon. It is understood this division will not be sent into camp in this country, but will be organized and intensively trained abroad. It will be a composite division made up of National Guard commands covering the four points of the national compass. Troops in this division will range from Oregon and California to New York and Pennsylvania guard units, and from Wisconsin to Louisiana and Texas, as well as from the deep centre of the country.

While there was no official admission of the fact, it is believed that commands composing it, as part of the first guard division to be sent to France, were picked from widely scattered regions of the country for certain psychological, as well as for military, reasons. It is perhaps more than chance that some of these men come from Oregon, where there have been I. W. W. disturbances; from California, where there have been labor troubles; from Georgia and Oklahoma, where there were threats of resistance against the draft law, and from several strongly pro-German communities. It was hinted, but not officially admitted, that the manner of the formation of this division is such as to arouse patriotic and popular interests in certain widely scattered sections of the country.

Consists of 19,000 Men.

The War Department's announcement said nothing about this division going to France. It merely announced the names of the organizations selected and said that General Mann had been placed in command. When War Department officials were asked to what camp this division would be sent they replied that it would go to no camp. It was semi-officially admitted that this would be the first National Guard division to be sent to France. The formation of the new division is in accordance with the provisions of the general order calling for the reorganization of the entire army to harmonize with the divisional organization of the forces of the Allies on the western front. Instead of being composed of 28,000 men, this division will consist of 19,000 men. Instead of having three infantry brigades of three regiments each, the new division is to consist of two infantry brigades of two regiments each, a field artillery brigade, with a trench mortar battery added, and various battalions and trains. The ratio of artillery strength to infantry is greatly increased, as compared with the former plan of organization, and the machine-gun arm is materially enlarged. There is no cavalry in the division. Nor is there any aero squadron, as with the old divisions. The aircraft units are to be provided for otherwise in the army's plans.

War Department's Bulletin.

Following is the War Department's announcement under the heading Composite National Guard Division:

The following organizations of the National Guard have been selected to compose the Forty-second Division:

The following numerical designations have been assigned:

Division headquarters troop to consist of the Second Separate Troop, Louisiana Cavalry.

The Division Machine Gun Battalion, No. 149, to be composed of the Third Battalion, Fourth Pennsylvania Infantry.

The infantry brigades to be numbered eighty-three and eighty-four.

The Eighty-third Infantry Brigade to comprise the 150th Machine Gun Battalion, (composed of Companies E, F, and G, Second Wisconsin Infantry); the 165th Infantry, (Sixty-ninth New York Infantry,) and the 166th Infantry, (Fourth Ohio Infantry).

The Eighty-fourth Infantry Brigade to comprise the 151st Machine Gun Battalion, (Companies B, C, and F, Second Georgia Infantry); 167th Infantry, (Fourth Alabama Infantry,) and the 168th Infantry, (Third Iowa Infantry).

The Artillery Brigade, to be numbered Sixty-seventh, comprises:

The 149th Field Artillery, (First Illinois Field Artillery); the 150th Field Artillery, (First Indiana Field Artillery,) the 151st Field Artillery, (First Minnesota Field Artillery,) and the 117th Trench Mortar Battery, to be composed of the Third and Fourth Companies, Maryland Coast Artillery.

The Engineer Regiment of the division will be numbered 117th. The First Battalion will be formed from the First Separate Battalion, Engineers, South Carolina, and the Sec-

POPE PROPOSES A 'STATUS QUO' PEACE; ALLIED CAPITALS COLD TO OFFER; AUSTRIAN WEAKNESS SEEN IN MOVE

WILSON HOLDS TO POLICY

Does Not Believe the Time Has Come to Talk Peace.

AWAITS ACTION BY BERLIN

Washington Official View Is That Germany Must Make Direct Proposals.

FIND AUSTRIAN WEAKNESS

Belief That Vienna Inspired the Papal Proposals as Remedy for Desperate Straits.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Based on what is known of the previous general attitude of this Administration and what was learned today of the disposition of President Wilson's advisers concerning the peace proposal offered by Pope Benedict, it is not going too far to say that the United States Government will find itself obliged to adhere to the determination of taking no part in peace negotiations until the Imperial German Government comes forward itself with specific propositions founded on an acknowledgment of intention to make reparation for the wrongs it has done and on willingness to reform the system that has produced the great world conflict.

In substance the proposals of the Pope are understood to be as follows:

A recognition that the great war is ruining the world and a declaration that conditions must be remedied before it is too late to prevent what would amount to the destruction of practically all the countries involved.

Acceptance of the proposal for a compact among the nations to preserve peace and prevent the violation of the integrity or neutrality of small States.

A reduction of armaments by international agreement.

Freedom of the seas, seemingly not merely in the sense in which President Wilson used the term in his several notes to Germany on the subject of submarine sinkings, but in the sense in which Germany would have the term used; that is, to permit neutral nations to trade with a belligerent country without interference from an enemy of the belligerent. This impression is gathered from the statement of the Pope that the term should be construed in its fullest sense.

An agreement that the warring group of belligerents will not undertake reprisals in trade or commerce after the war. The nations in each group have entered into an understanding that they will give preference in commercial relations with one another to the detriment of the economic interests of their enemies.

Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania to be restored, and all other conquered territory to be returned without payment of indemnity. This would carry with it the restoration of Germany's African colonies and her overseas insular possessions

Special consideration to be given to the disposition of Poland, Armenia, Trieste and Trent, with due regard for national aspirations and the sentiment of the peoples of the territories in question. It is said that the Pope included Alsace-Lorraine in this class. As to Italia Irredenta, the Pope believes that as this is a very delicate matter it should be considered in a spirit of conciliation and fairness.

Special consideration to the future status of the Balkan States.

Doubt Basis for Peace.

Officially the Administration has nothing to say, and will have nothing to say until the Pope's proposal to the belligerents is delivered to this Government. The authentic outline of the Pope's suggestions already received will enable these to be studied in advance of the receipt of the formal note. There is nothing in the Pope's appeal that leads this Government to believe that a solid basis for peace exchanges has been laid down.

While Senators and Representatives are disposed to be reticent in the absence of more complete knowledge of what the Pope has proposed, it seems to be apparent that the sentiment in Congress is in accord with the unsympathetic attitude that prevails in official circles.

In Entente quarters in Washington the proposal of the Pope is looked upon as emanating from the Government of Austria-Hungary rather than from any German influence. At the same time there is no inclination to attribute to the Pope any other than the highest motives.

That, too, is the feeling among officials of the United States, who find in the view that Austria is behind the proposal the optimistic thought that Emperor Charles and his Government are sick of the war and are willing to go as far as they dare without the consent of the German governing group, headed by Hindenburg, Ludendorff, and Tirpitz, with the Crown Prince as the nominal leader. A very positive opinion prevails in the best-informed circles here that

British Colonies Oppose the Restoration Of German Possessions in the Pacific

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The question of the future disposition of German colonies came up today in the House of Commons during the discussion of the Colonial Office budget. Donald MacMaster, M. P. for Surrey, Northwest, and a former member of the Canadian Parliament, assured the Government that British colonies would uniformly oppose restoring to Germany her colonies in the Pacific Ocean.

The British colonies, he said, realized the danger of these German possessions. Canada knew that Germany might have blown Vancouver or Prince Rupert to atoms had the German fleet not gone on other ventures off the coast of Chile.

Walter Hume Long, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said that Canada did not dogmatize regarding the future of German colonies, but desired the Imperial Government to realize the strength of their feelings, not from a desire of increased territory, but solely from a desire that peace should be such that it would make certain the security of the empire.

FEARS SERIOUS EFFECT ON RUSSIA

German Agents Sure to Seize on Any Encouragement of Pacifism Here, Says Russell.

APPROVES POPE'S MOTIVES

But Believes His Move, Following La Follette's Resolution, Will Hurt Russian Situation.

Charles Edward Russell, returning to the city with the Root commission, expressed the fear last night that the Pope's peace proposal would have an unfavorable effect on the situation in Russia.

"One of the dangerous elements of the situation in Russia," he said, "is that the people have been told by certain arrivals from the United States that the war is unpopular here, and that America entered it only because of the influence of the munition makers. Any encouragement, therefore, of pacifist agitation in the United States, such as will unquestionably result from the Pope's proposal, will inevitably be reflected in Russia. German agents, who are circulating the reports of the unpopularity of the war in the United States, will say, 'You see, I told you so,' and the situation will be aggravated by just so much.

"It is unfortunate for the Russian situation that the Pope's proposal should follow by such a short interval the La Follette resolution in the Senate. First came that strange and sinister outburst of pacifism in the Senate, and then this announcement from the Pope, which, prompted though it was by the most humane of motives, will inevitably result in the greatest agitation by the pacifists the United States has known.

"Unquestionably the majority of the people in Russia want peace, but there, as here, are the men of vision and courage who know the world must stand against a peace that would be worse than the war. The stimulation of pacifist agitation in the United States, due to the La Follette resolution, and the well-intentioned proposal from the Vatican, cannot but complicate the situation."

Mr. Russell said that the people of Russia who were loyal to the allied cause would realize, like the friends of democracy everywhere, that the peace proposal was "impossible" since it contemplated the return to Germany of her colonies.

"That would mean the restoration of Germany's colossal empire," said Mr. Russell, "and enable her to rebuild along the lines followed before the war. It would enable Germany to resume her grasping policy of colonization, and this would mean another war, ten or twenty years from now, more terrible than this. Germany knows she cannot win this war, and her sole thought now is to save her colonies. It was Germany, therefore, that prompted the Pope's peace proposal, and is behind the pacifists' agitation in this country."

Referring to the proposed Socialist conference at Stockholm, Mr. Russell, who was expelled from the Socialist Party here because of his attitude on the war, said he could not see why any real Socialist should desire to attend it.

"There is nothing to confer about," he remarked.

ROOT DECLINES TO COMMENT.

Silent on Pope's Plan—Calls Stockholm Council a Mistake.

Elihu Root, head of the commission that has just returned from Russia, refused last night upon arriving at the Plaza Hotel with the other members of the commission, to comment on the Pope's peace proposal.

Regarding the proposed conference of Socialists at Stockholm, Mr. Root said he considered it a mistake.

"Our Government very properly refused to issue passports to the delegates desiring to attend it," he said. "There is nothing that the Stockholm meeting can accomplish."

LONDON CATHOLIC VIEW.

Pope's Appeal Regarded as Ill-Timed and Mistaken.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—From a high Roman Catholic authority THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent gathered tonight that the first impressions caused by the news of the Pope's peace appeal are that it is ill timed and that as a consequence its material results will be incommensurate with the moral authority which the Vatican exercises over the world.

In setting forth ideals which were as yet unrealizable the Pope was fulfilling his mission of pointing out to the world the paths of righteousness. English Catholics were not disposed to question the motives or ethics which actuated the Supreme Pontiff, for they believed that love and charity were the mainsprings of action of the Holy See, but the Pope's necessary assumption in the premises that all peoples were animated by equal considerations of right and wrong was open to question in the light of the concrete facts of the war.

BRITISH LABORITES BACK HENDERSON

Executive Bodies Indorse His Plan to Send Representatives to Stockholm.

NAME HIM AS A DELEGATE

And Vote to Ask the Government to Withdraw Its Order Refusing Passports.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—At a joint meeting tonight of the Executive Committee of the National Labor Party and the Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress, the attitude of Arthur Henderson, Secretary of the Labor Party, who resigned on Saturday as a member of the British War Cabinet, with regard to the Socialist Conference in Stockholm, was indorsed. The meeting appointed delegates, including Mr. Henderson, to the Stockholm Conference and resolved to ask the Government to withdraw its order prohibiting the issuance of passports to Stockholm delegates. The resolutions adopted expressed unabated confidence in Mr. Henderson.

In the course of the meeting a telegram was received from Camille Huysmans and Hjalmar Branting, promoters of the Stockholm Conference, accepting a consultative status for the conference. They said they would work to get this basis accepted, but they still considered it important that the Entente powers should be represented.

A joint meeting of the Executive Committees of the Labor Party and the Parliamentary Labor Party was held in the House of Commons. George Nicoll Barnes, who succeeded Mr. Henderson in the War Cabinet, and all the labor members of the Cabinet attended. Mr. Henderson, James Ramsay MacDonald, and Philip Snowden and most of the labor members of Parliament were also present.

No communication was issued to the press, but it is understood that no change in the situation resulted and the position of the labor members of the Government was not discussed, though it is known that a pacifist section, headed by Mr. MacDonald, is trying to bring pressure to force the labor Ministers to resign. Apparently, however, nothing will be decided pending the adjourned meeting of the National Labor Conference next Tuesday.

Havelock Wilson, President of the National Seamen's Union, in a statement prepared for The Associated Press today, gave the "reasons why British seamen cannot fraternize with Germans at Stockholm or anywhere else." The document is an account of recent sinkings of British vessels in which German submarines fired upon open boats or otherwise savagely mistreated the hapless crews.

It was explained that no attempt had been made to make a complete list, but that examples had been selected more or less at haphazard to illustrate the reasons for the attitude of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union toward parleys with the enemy. The first instance picked out was the already familiar case of the British steamship Belgian Prince. The statement says:

"The Belgian Prince was sunk by a submarine July 31. The lifeboats were broken up by the Germans, and the survivors were thrown into the sea after being deprived of their lifebelts. Forty men were drowned.

"The British steamship Kildale was sunk April 12. Fifteen shells were fired at the boats while they were pulling clear of the ship, killing one seaman.

"The British steamship Westminster was sunk Dec. 14. The boats were severely shelled by the submarine, the Captain and mate being killed.

"The British steamship Eavestone was sunk Feb. 3. The submarine's guns were turned on the boats, firing shrapnel shells, fragments of which swept both boats, killing the master, steward, and three others and seriously injuring the second officer.

"The British steamship Addah was sunk June 15. The submarine fired on the master's boat, killing eight men. After the boat had been sunk and the men were swimming about in the water the submarine again fired shrapnel shells at them."

BERLIN, Aug. 13, (via London, Aug. 14.)—"Arthur Henderson's resignation as Minister without portfolio in the British War Council," says the Socialist newspaper Vorwärts, "is a bad blow for the policies of Premier Lloyd George, and we doubt whether they can survive it.

"In the course of his speeches the British Prime Minister repeatedly expressed the conviction that the war could not be won without the workingmen. His policies above all deserve to be designated as social-imperialistic, as they are calculated to convince the laboring men of social benefits accruing to him from the victory of English imperialism, thus building a bridge between him and the nation at large.

"This bridge was called Henderson. It collapsed with surprising suddenness Aug. 11, after the conference of the Labor Party, on Mr. Henderson's advice, had voted by an overwhelming majority to participate in the Stockholm peace conference. The Labor Party's resolution means the breaking through of mass sentiment which is aimed at the Government's policies. Reviewing the events of the last few days in their entirety, it may be said that the Governments of England, Russia, and France have become wabbly."

WOULD RETURN BELGIUM

Serbia and Rumania Also Would Be Given Up Under Pontiff's Plan.

GERMANY TO GET COLONIES

Conference to Decide Other Problems—No Annexations, No Indemnities.

NO FORMAL REPLY LIKELY

London Thinks Pope's Action May Be Prelude to Straight Offer from Central Powers.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Peace proposals suggesting the restoration of Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania and a peaceful solution of the problems of Alsace-Lorraine, Trent, Trieste, and Poland, have been made by Pope Benedict to all the belligerent and neutral Governments.

It is further proposed, according to reports from Vatican sources, that there be no annexations and no indemnities except in special cases such as Belgium and Serbia, that Germany's colonies be returned to her in exchange for the occupied departments of France, and that there be freedom of the seas, disarmament, and the formation of a supreme court of arbitration for the settlement of future international disputes.

The Pope's proposals will be published here on Thursday

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The outline of the Vatican's peace proposals received here demands the restoration of all German colonies to Germany. Summed up, the proposals are for a restoration of the status quo ante-bellum, with all questions as to the readjustment of frontiers to be left to undefined "subsequent negotiations."

In an earlier dispatch the Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company said:

"There has been great diplomatic activity recently at the Papal Secretariat, numerous diplomats having long interviews with Cardinal Gasparri. I am able to announce that the Holy See has addressed a note to belligerents and neutrals. The note makes a new and formal appeal for peace. It invites the belligerents to state their conditions in concrete terms, so as to facilitate a preliminary understanding."

POPE'S PROPOSALS LEAVE BRITAIN COLD

Regarded as a German Trial Balloon—No Faith in Plan of Conference.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The Pope's message to all the belligerent Governments is expected here to have more concrete importance attached to it in Germany and Austria than in England, France or Italy. Its effect upon the United States is a subject of much discussion, which is not altogether devoid of anxiety when the question is narrowed down to its influence upon Catholic opinion in America.

Though the full text of the Pope's message has not yet been made public it is not believed that a summary transmitted from Rome gives any indication of new facts which could alter the view of the Allies as to the impossibility of arriving at a satisfactory peace under existing conditions. Pope Benedict suggests that Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania be restored. Germany's willingness to restore them in the full sense of the word remains as doubtful as ever. Lord Robert Cecil's statement in the House of Commons just a week ago that the German Government had been careful not to remind the world they explicitly promised Britain in 1914 that under no pretence whatever would they annex Belgian territory, is particularly pertinent.

The solution of the problems of Alsace-Lorraine, Trentino, Trieste and Poland by such methods as the Pope suggests is held to be impossible of attainment while German militarism remains dominant. Take, for instance, Alsace-Lorraine. Assume that Germany agreed to abide by the result of a plebiscite of the two provinces, France would not accept such an offer under present conditions for, as President Rondolphi of Ligue, Patriotique des Alsaciens-Lorrains in London, said today: "A plebiscite under German auspices would be a betrayal of our race."

President Rondolphi pointed out that since the outbreak of the war at least 30,000 young Alsatians and Lorrainers had deserted into France. This fact alone shows which way the sentiment of the two provinces tends. In the course of their whole administration the Germans have demonstrated that they do not trust the natives of Alsace-Lorraine. As recently as 1913 von Jagow said that the Germans in Alsace were in an enemy country, and von Dallwitz, the Imperial Governor, complained early in 1914 that the spirit and feelings of the population were more French than ever. Since the beginning of the war hundreds of civilians, men and women, have been deported into Germany just like the inhabitants of northern France and Belgium. The confiscation of property is going on every day. A plebiscite of the remainder of the population conducted by Germany would be a delusion and a snare.

It is suspected here that the Vatican is acting under Austro-German influences, which have everything to gain by peace movements and nothing to lose in case they come to anything concrete. It was stated to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today by a Foreign Office official that information had been received indicating that Germany was desirous of playing a waiting game until her Government was definitely able to gauge America's determination and potentialities in the war. Berlin still hoped that the submarine warfare would weaken England and obstruct America. Meanwhile, Berlin counted on pacifist movements and supposed lethargy of American people to hamper the efforts of the Wilson Government. The injection of a papal appeal for peace into the American body politic would probably, in the view of Berlin, considerably strengthen the anti-war feeling in the United States.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The peace pronunciamento of Pope Benedict was an entire surprise to the British public. Whether or not it was a surprise to the Government cannot be learned.

The proposal embodies what have been well known here for some time, as the terms the Central Powers would have been glad to offer and relieved to have accepted, being virtually the restoration of before the war conditions, with a commission to the diplomats to thresh out the questions which have been on the border line

British pacifists undoubtedly will favor the acceptance of any offer to go into a peace conference. but a great majority of the people will look askance at a proposal which they think is issued distinctly in the interests of the enemy Powers. The Pope's offer did not even constitute a newspaper sensation. While some afternoon papers gave it their large headlines. others printed it merely as a paragraph among the secondary news items of the day.

"These so-called peace terms have a distinct German flavor." This reply was given in an authoritative quarter in reply to a question by The Associated Press in regard to the Vatican proposals. The opinion was expressed that the inspiration for the peace move probably emanated from Austria and was in the nature of a trial balloon, as a prelude to more definite propositions from the Central Powers to the Allies. The informant of The Associated Press continued:

"It has long been known to statesmen of the allied countries that the Central Powers are eager to conclude peace on terms of restoration of the status quo. Therefore there is no need of any protracted consideration before saying what the attitude of the Allies will be. A status quo peace would be distinctly a German peace, and is the very thing which President Wilson and other American statesmen have been long emphasizing as impossible and unthinkable. All the sacrifices of this terrible war will have been vain if we do not conclude a peace which will insure the world against a repetition."

In reply to an inquiry whether the Vatican note had been expected or had come as a surprise, it was stated that the first information regarding it reached Whitehall yesterday, "although a similar note would not have caused any surprise at any time in the last two months."

It was explained that on account of its nature the note probably would require no formal answer. It is expected informal replies will be delivered by means of speeches in the next few days by various allied statesmen.

The belief in Whitehall is that any proposal for a status quo peace will have a curter reception in the United States than in Europe.

"The American position in this war has perhaps been made clearer than that of any of the other belligerents," said the informant of The Associated Press. "The United States has no 'entangling alliances' in this matter, and has taken a firm stand for a peace which will clear the world of the menace of militarism and absolutism. From the American point of view any status quo peace obviously is impossible.

"The suggestion for the return of the German colonies is one which we will leave with perfect confidence to the consideration of the American people. Is it thinkable that hapless natives should be returned to a power which has shown herself so unfit to administer the affairs of subject races? If anything could be worse than Germany's record in Europe it is her record in the colonies. Is a permanent peace possible in Africa with Germany there?

"America is today the greatest hope of the Entente Allies for a stable peace. America is fresh and determined. She has vigor and backbone, youth and strength, and unlimited resources. She will not let Europe halt until peace on a stable and permanent basis has been definitely established. That is one great reason why every one of her allies should be overwhelmingly thankful that America now is with us."

The Star says:

"Hitherto the Pope's interventions on the side of peace have been academic rather than practical." The article recites the Pope's efforts and remarks during the war, and continues:

"It was reported at the end of May that a new peace movement originating at the Austrian Court was being 'favorably considered' by the Pope, and it was believed that he was trying to save Catholic Austria-Hungary from disaster. But it was stated at the end of last month in a remarkable article in a Geneva newspaper that there was authority for denying the widespread theory that the Pope dreams of a peace without the conquerors being conquered—that is, the restoration of the status quo ante-bellum."

ALLIES MUST REFUSE.

No Other Course Open, Says London Chronicle—Other Press Views.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 15.—The Chronicle in an editorial on the Pope's peace appeal says:

"In any case the Allies will have to refuse. No other course is open to them if they are not prepared to throw away their future and stulify all those who died for them. Peace concluded at the present moment would inevitabliy reflect the present conditions, which in consequence of Russia's temporary military eclipse are more favorable to the Central Empires than has been the case for thirteen months and more favorable than the enemy can fairly hope ever to have them again.

"The best terms we could today get as to territory would, generally speaking, be the restoration of the status quo, but this formal restoration would leave unaffected the four great results provisionally achieved by Germany in the war, her conquest of Austria-Hungary, the solution of the Polish question in a sense calculated to bring the whole Polish nation, the sixth in Europe, within her circle of power, the destruction of Russia's position as a great power, and proof of German supremacy throughut Central Europe and the Balkans in such a way as to ensure her future omnipotence there

"Let us add that it would leave these four achievements stand as they stand now to the credit of the Prussian militarist oligarchy and would, therefore, destroy any chance of democratising Germany, of making democracy safe anywhere else."

The Morning Post says: "How is it that these peace manoeuvres are so persistent just now? The explanation is sufficiently obvious. An immediate negotiated peace has become the supreme German interest. The continuance of the war can give her no more. It is certain to give her much less because she will have to face with depleted resources the full weight of her new enemy, the American Republic. Germany affected to believe the United States as a belligerent did not count. That illusion is already shattered.

"The terms of peace sugested by the Pope mark a decided advance on anything that Germany hitherto has been disposed to discuss, though they still lack the thing essential—guarantees, except, indeed, guarantees for Germany, who is to obtain 'freedom of the seas, and abolition of all retaliatory economic conflicts.' However the aggrived may suffer, the aggressor is to be safeguarded, and even rewarded."

BRITISH MAKE GAINS TO EAST OF YPRES

Push German Posts Across the Steenbeke River and Reestablish Their Lines.

CANADIANS NEARER LENS

Expel Snipers from 600-Yard Front—Outposts Now Only 800 Yards from the City.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British troops in Flanders today improved their position on the right bank of the River Steenbeke, northeast of Ypres, and captured some prisoners. The official statement from British Headquarters in France tonight tells of the repulse of several strong raids by the Germans between Ypres and Arras. German aviators have been very active, and the British succeeded in destroying seven machines and driving four down out of control. Two British machines were lost.

The statement follows:

Early this morning the enemy attacked our line east of Westhoek, but met heavy artillery and rifle fire and was repulsed. He succeeded only in driving back one or two of our advanced posts a few yards.

During the day we again improved our positions on the right bank of the Steenbeke, where we captured several prisoners. Last night the enemy twice endeavored to raid our positions east of Laventie. At the second attempt he succeeded in entering our lines, but was immediately driven out.

Another raid undertaken in considerable strength, estimated at three companies, was made against our trenches of Neuve Chappelle. It was repulsed by Portuguese troops after sharp fighting in which a few prisoners were secured.

The enemy's aircraft continued to pursue aggressive tactics yesterday and attacked our long-distance bombing machines with great vigor. Our machines, nevertheless, reached and bombed successfully their objectives in every case. Artillery and photographic work was carried out throughout the day by our machines, and machine gun fire was opened with effect upon enemy infantry, both in the trenches and in the open. In the air fights seven German airplanes were brought down and four others driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing.

"Our raiding parties entered the German lines last night northeast of Goubeaucourt and at two points east of Vermelles, securing a few prisoners," says the earlier official statement. "A number of the enemy were killed and his dugouts were bombed.

"A hostile raid was successfully repulsed north of Roeux. During the night the enemy's artillery was more active than usual east and northeast of Ypres and in the neighborhood of Lombaertzyde."

Canadians Creep Up on Lens.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 14.—Posts were pushed out on a front of about 600 yards into ruined houses, from which the enemy snipers have been annoying the Canadians in the advanced line in the region to the north of the Lens-Lievin road early last night. Little resistance was experienced, and only one prisoner was captured.

The posts pushed out are only 800 yards west of the centre of the city, but a belt of razed houses lies between the Canadians and Lens. Over the open space thus secured the enemy is able to direct a heavy machine-gun fire from the strongly fortified houses on the other side.

The artillery duel rages with unabated violence. In the counter battery actions yesterday Canadian gunners caused eight explosions in enemy gun positions and destroyed their gun pits entirely.

French Raid German Lines.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The German lines near Rheims were penetrated in two places last night by French reconnoitring forces, the War Office announces. German raids in Champagne failed.

The War Office communication issued this evening says:

During the day the cannonade was at times very violent in Belgium and on both banks of the Meuse. Surprise attacks against our small posts to the east of Cerny, in the Caurières Wood (near Verdun) and in the sector of Carspach were easily repulsed. We made some prisoners.

Following is the text of the Belgian communication:

Yesterday, despite unfavorable weather, our artillery, energetically supported by our fire-regulating aviators, carried out a destructive fire against the enemy artillery, which replied against some of our trenches and communication roads. The enemy also fired gas shells in the region of Ramscapelle.

In spite of the barrier formed by the enemy's escadrille, our aviators carried out photographic work at a distance behind the German positions. During the night the enemy shelled our communications.

Today, because of the low visibility, there was a slackening in the destruction fire, and the German artillery also was less active. The region of Furnes was bombarded.

Berlin Records Minor Successes.

BERLIN, Aug. 14, (via London, British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.)—The German official communication issued today says:

Western front: Strong allied enemy attacks are being prepared. The artillery duel in Flanders has been of varying intensity. It again reached great violence in the evening on the coast and northeast and east of Ypres. Powerful enemy reconnoissances collapsed before several sectors of our defensive zone.

Southwest of Westhoek we drove the English out of some wooded sections.

Throughout Artois the fighting activity has increased, notably on both sides of Lens and on the Scarpe. On this front also several English attacks failed.

During an enterprise by Saxon and Bavarian storming detachments near Neuve Chapelle a large number of Portuguese were made prisoners.

Army of the German Crown Prince: On the Aisne front and in Western Champagne a considerable increase in the artillery fire is noticeable. At Carnillet and south of Nauroy the French twice attacked unsuccessfully positions which we had won at this point Friday.

Army of Grand Duke Albrecht—Between the Meuse and the Moselle enemy attacks were repulsed near Flirek. On the Lorraine plain and in the Sundgau the firing activity has become more lively.

In numerous aerial battles nine enemy airplanes and two captive balloons were downed. On Sunday Senior Lieutenant Destler downed his twenty-third and twenty-fourth opponents.

German General Headquarters this evening issued the following statement:

In Flanders and along the Meuse there have been artillery duels of varying intensity.

AUSTRALIAN COASTER LOST?

Matunga, Last Reported Aug. 5, Has Been Searched For in Vain.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 14.—The Navy Office says that the British steamship Matunga of Sydney, 1,618 tons gross, from Brisbane, sent a wireless message on Aug. 5 saying that she expected to reach her next port of call on Aug. 7, but that she has not been heard of since.

All search for her has been vain.

PRESS TEUTONS BACK ON RUMANIAN FRONT

Russian and Rumanian Forces Begin Strong Offensive in West Moldavia.

GREAT BATTLE DEVELOPING

Mackensen's Troops Repulsed on Southeast Line—Foe's Attacks Weakening for Lack of Reserves.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 14, (British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.)—The Rumanian offensive in Western Moldavia continues successfully, according to the official report from the War Office today, and the Austro-Germans have been driven from the village of Slanic as well as from heights southwest of Groze Chti. All the latest enemy efforts in the Fokshani region have been repulsed by the Russians and Rumanians. The statement reads:

Western (Russian) Front.—There were fusillades and scouting operations.

Rumanian Front.—Throughout Monday there were stubborn battles in the Ocna-Groze Chti region. The Rumanian troops continued their counter-offensive begun on Sunday, and toward evening occupied the village of Slanic and dislodged the enemy from the heights about six versts southwest of Groze Chti. The offensive is developing.

Caucasus Front.—A Russian scouting party of forty men in a daring surprise attack against a Turkish barrier guard in the region of Tirebelli captured some prisoners. The remainder of the front was quiet.

Our ships in the Black Sea, in the region of Sinope, destroyed two large Turkish barges loaded with benzine and twenty-two loaded feluccas.

German airplanes dropped bombs on the railway stations at Nolodesono and Siniavaka.

BERLIN, via London.) Aug. 14.—Army Headquarters today issued the following statement:

Eastern Theatre—Prince Leopold's front: There have been no large fighting operations.

Archduke Joseph's Front: South of the Trotus sector the enemy. by a strong counterattack, contested our gain of ground south of the Oituz and Casin valleys. He also launched violent attacks which were all repulsed.

Field Marshal von Mackensen's group—Near Pantziu there has been fresh fighting in which the enemy in fruitless attacks suffered the heaviest of losses. Between the Suchitza and Putna valleys our troops have pressed back the enemy into the mountains despite stubborn resistance. Forefield engagements along the Lower Sereth went in our favor and some prisoners and booty were captured. In the region at the mouth of the Danube the firing activity has been revived.

Foes May Shorten Lines in Russia.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Russian Embassy is informed by the Petrograd Foreign Office today that there is a general calm on the Galician front. except in the direction of Brody, where the Germans are making intense efforts on account of the strategic value of that locality.

Germany is expected to withdraw some of her forces on Russian territory, because of the wastness of the space recently occupied by her and the impossibility of maintaining all of it without adequate reserves. To hold it, the Petrograd advices stated, Germany will have to detach troops from the Western front and send them to the Russian theatre.

TELLS KING GEORGE RUSSIA WILL FIGHT ON

Premier Kerensky Replies to Good Will Message with Optimistic Assurances.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 14.—Premier Kerensky, in replying to a message of good-will King George sent him at the beginning of the fourth year of the war, said:

"I am certain the Russian people will find the necessary strength to surmount the serious trials of the present time and conduct the world war to an end which will be worthy of the terrible sacrifices already made by every nation which is struggling for right against might."

More than 1,000 persons have been invited by the Government to attend the conference which is to be held at Moscow Aug. 25-27 to consider in their broadest aspects the situation of the nation and the plans for the new national Government. Those who have been asked to attend include all members of the four Dumas, other persons prominent in public life, and representatives of all important organizations, whether political, economic, commercial or scientific.

The conference will be held in the Kremlin Palace. It will be opened by Premier Kerensky with a general statement respecting the situation and a program of the Government. The Premier will be followed by various Ministers, who will report the situation in their departments.

MAKES JEW A MINISTER.

Ukrainian Congress Elects Writer to Head Jewish Department.

A cablegram from Kiev to the Jewish daily, The Day, announced yesterday that the Unkrainian Congress had elected a member of the Jewish Socialist Territorialist Party as Minister for Jewish Affairs in Ukraine. This is the first time that any Government, provisional or otherwise, has created a Ministry for the special supervision of Jewish interests. The cable from Kiev reads as follows:

"The members of the Ukrainian Congress have elected a member of the Jewish Socialist Territoralist Party, Silverfarb, as Minister for Jewish Affairs in the Ukraine. The Yiddish language has also been officially recognized as one of the Government languages in the Ukraine. All official documents of the Government will be published simultaneously in Yiddish and Russian."

Silverfarb has been very active in the Territorialist Party. He was known to his followers as "Basin," a pen name by which he became familiar to all sympathizers and opponents of Jewish freedom.

SOLDIERS IN FRANCE REBEL AT 'SAMMY'

Never Use the Name Themselves and Ask the People at Home to Drop It.

'JOHNNY YANKS' SUGGESTED

But That Doesn't Win Full Favor—Hope Time Will Evolve Right Word.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 13, (delayed.)—Not until the recent arrival in camp of certain American newspapers did the soldiers of the American expeditionary forces become aware that efforts were being made in certain quarters to fix upon them the name of "Sammy." That name is never heard on this side.

Within the last few days the correspondent of The Associated Press has been approached by great numbers of the officers and men asking that something be sent home telling the people that the standard-bearers of the American Army really resent what they consider an inapt, undignified, and irritating name. It can also be stated that the resentment does not rest alone with the officers and men of the army, but that it extends to all Americans resident in Paris and in other parts of France, many having written in to say that they consider "Sammy" most unsuitable for men who have come to France seriously and earnestly to fight for the liberties of the peoples of the world.

"Ridiculous," Says Officer.

"Please hit the 'Sammy' propaganda as hard as you can," said an officer of distinguished rank to the correspondent today. "The men and officers would be proud to have an appropriate nickname, but there is not one among us who thinks 'Sammy' is in any way suitable, and it certainly is not desired.

"The name does not in any way suit a fighting man. We recognize, of course, that it is an effort to play upon the name of Uncle Sam, but who would think of calling Uncle Sam Uncle Sammy? It is ridiculous.

"We had a discussion coming over on the transports as to possible nicknames, and 'Sammy' was one name suggested, but it met with no favor whatever. None of the names suggested seemed just right, but there was some consensus of opinion regarding the proposal that the nickname be 'Johnny Yanks,' which, of course, is a combination of 'Johnny Rebs' and 'Yanks' from civil war days.

"No nickname can be forced upon the fighting men. To stick it must be spontaneous and unanimously recognized as just the thing. Such a name may yet come to us. It is possible that the French themselves may solve the problem and give us a name that will not only suit us, but will be distinctly reminiscent of our stay in France.

Deeds May Develop Name.

"Perhaps something we shall do will give us our proper name. Until that time we are willing to be known as just plain American soldiers, willing and anxious to do our duty. We have gotten along a great many years without a national nickname, and, perhaps, we can stand it a little while longer.

"'Sammy' does not inspire us to fight the enemy. It rather makes us feel like fighting the misplaced assiduity of some of our well-meaning friends."

West Pointers particularly smile at "Sammy," for that word has always been a nickname at the Military Academy for molasses. "Pass the Sammy" is an old table phrase.

Among soldiers in the regular army the infantrymen have been known for a long time as "dough boys." No one seems to know just where this name came from, but it is only meant for infantrymen, and could not fit the army at large.

Men of the rank and file have a picturesque way of expressing themselves generally on every subject, and the appellation "Sammy" called forth some new masterpieces of rhetoric not wholly suited for cable transmission.

The best that can be said of "Sammy" is that a few soldiers remark that if the folks at home want to call them by such a name "they don't care." They say they will "carry on" in spite of any name or any other "obstacle" which may be placed in their way.

MEN OUTGROWING UNIFORMS.

Attributed to Open-Air Training—Morgenthau Visits the Camp.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 14, (by The Associated Press.)—The strict physical training out-of-doors which the members of the American expeditionary force are undergoing is having its results. One turned up today when Field Headquarters received a letter from a company commander in which he said his men were developing so fast that all their uniforms were getting too small. Some of the uniforms, he wrote, now are four inches too small about the chest.

Henry Morgenthau, former American Ambassador to Turkey, who is visiting the French front for several days, stopped over at American Field Headquarters today and spent several hours inspecting the men in training. He said he would take back to President Wilson a first-hand impression of the American expeditionary force in the field.

PERSHING NEEDS LABORERS.

Handicapped by Lack of Men to Move Materials from Ports.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The American authorities are handicapped temporarily by a shortage of labor at ports of debarkation. Railway ties, telephone poles, automobile trucks, and other materials are piled high at one landing place awaiting shipment to camp. It is expected that many laborers will be brought from the United States.

It is estimated officially that one day laborer is necessary to unload supplies and build roads for each nine soldiers.

PLATTSBURG MEN QUIT CAMP

Newly Commissioned Officers on Way Home for Brief Rests.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, Aug. 14.—Over 4,000 members of the reserve officers' training camp, which ended today, left for their homes. The rest of the men with their friends and families are driving south in automobiles. Automobilists arriving from the south report a steady procession of machines containing men in khaki filling the Albany Road.

In a few days the 3,300 officers commissioned at Plattsburg will be with their commands. Some will go to the National Army cantonments at Ayer and Yaphank. Others will report at Plattsburg as assistant instructors. Some will proceed to regular army mobilization points at Fort Ethan Allen, Syracuse, Fort Sill, Gettysburg, and elsewhere. And seventy reserve Second Lieutenants are under orders to report later at an Atlantic port.

These officers will serve at General Pershing's training camp, and it is expected that they will return in a few months to give instruction in trench warfare at training camps in this country.

These men will be allowed to go to their homes until they are ordered to the transports.

M'ADOO REQUIRES 9 BILLIONS MORE

McAdoo for $5,000,000,000 additional revenue for this year, and also as putting too heavy a tax upon the consumer, instead of the corporations profiting by the war.

While the minority report does not go into details as to the amount, it believes could be accumulated through its suggested system of levy upon incomes and war profits, it estimates that double the amount contemplated in the Finance Committee's draft of the bill could easily be derived in that way. The minority urges that as much tax as possible be disposed of in the levy against big incomes and war profits, and that the Government resort to bond issues only when it has reached the limit as to these two resources of revenue.

Advances to the Allies.

The minority criticises the committee's draft of the bill as assuming that the estimated expenditures for 1917 are only $5,093,958,000, while in reality, it says, the additional estimate put in by Secretary McAdoo raises this to $10,735,807,000. The report goes on to say that the estimated receipts from ordinary tax sources in 1917 are $1,333,500,000, and proceeds:

"Not only do the estimated expenditures exceed the estimated receipts by $9,402,307,000, but we must consider what must be raised for advances to other Governments."

The $3,000,000,000 already authorized by Congress for Allied loans, the minority report says, will bring the aggregate of estimated expenditures up to $13,735,807,000, but prospective loans, it says, will involve at least $4,000,000,000 more, making something like $17,735,807,000 that the Government will spend on the war this year.

Taking up the most logical sources of war revenue, the minority report urges that the corporations earning huge profits out of the war ought to stand the brunt. It severely criticises the Finance Committee for having failed to apply this tax to the utmost limit.

If it is reasonable, the minority argues, to put a 50 per cent. tax on normal incomes of approvable size, as the bill proposes, then there can be no valid argument against a flat 50 per cent. tax on corporation and individual excess war profits.

"Both these taxes are levied upon extraordinary and unusual profits," the report says. "Even if they absorbed the greater part of the profits of individuals, such taxes would not in any way affect the income of the same individual the next year. The capital remains. The tax does not impair the earning power of that capital, and in the next year the profits will again be received from the business as before, while in the case of war profit tax, even if the tax were fixed at a rate of 100 per cent., it would still leave the normal profits untouched. That is why the conservative British Finance Minister does not hesitate to impose a rate of 80 per cent. on war profits without fear of any ill effect so far as further revenue from the same source is concerned."

Yields from War Profits.

Under the 80 per cent. tax on war profits, such as applied by Great Britain, the minority estimates that $2,300,000,000 would be paid by corporations in the United States, based on war profits of 1916 and considerably more if based on the calendar year 1917.

The minority submitted the following estimates, made by a Treasury expert, as to taxes that would accrue to the Government, from a flat levy on excess profits running from 30 per cent. to 80 per cent. flat, based on 1916 war profits: A war profit tax at the rate of 80 per cent. would yield $2,300,000,000; 70 per cent., $2,021,000,000; 60 per cent., $1,732,500,000; 50 per cent., $1,443,700,000; 40 per cent., $1,155,000,000, and 30 per cent., $866,250,000.

Discussing the possibilities as to tax yield on incomes, the minority report points out that Great Britain raised its income levy over $1,000,000,000 this year, with a population only 42 per cent. of that of the United States. On that basis, the minority calculates, the United States yield in income taxes would be at least $2,500,000,000. But this calculation, it says, does not take into account "the much greater per capita wealth in this country."

The minority promises to submit detailed estimates later as to the precise amount the higher income tax would yield.

As an argument against the levy on excess profits in the bill as it stands, the minority says the United States Steel Corporation and the Standard Oil Company would escape with an unfairly low proportion of tax.

"The United States Steel Corporation's war profits, estimated on the basis of the war profits of 1916, are $207,945,953," says the committee. "The amount of tax, according to this bill, which would be collected from the above war profits, is $76,726,472, thus leaving $131,219,481 untouched by the tax. The normal profits of this corporation have for years been so large as to constitute a national scandal, in view of the actual capital invested in the concern. Why should these enormous profits escape tax while heavy tribute is levied upon the scanty earnings of the poor?

Standard Oil Profits.

"Another corporation shown in the list, and which is merely typical of many, is the Standard Oil Company of New York. This is merely one of the many 'Standard Oil' concerns and by no means the most profitable. Its war profit figure, on the same basis as above, was $2,425,570. Of this amount, according to the terms of this bill, there would be taken by taxation $5,065,560, leaving more than $15,000,000 of these war profits to be cut as a 'melon' for the benefit of the owners of the corporation, while bonds are to be saddled upon the people, the interest on which will more than equal the principal before payment is made.

"The history of this concern and its methods are too well known to require comment. Its normal peace-time profits far exceed those, in proportion to investment, even of the United States Steel Corporation, but it is proposed to take less than one-quarter of merely war profits, which are over and above the peace-time profits of this concern.

"These are fair examples of what it is proposed to accomplish by this bill, while laying a heavy tax upon the necessities of life, and represents the system of taxation which anyone must defend who gives his support to the bill."

In comparison with the average yearly wage of $700, earned by the American laboring man, the minority presented statistics indicating that the percentage of war profits over normal earnings of the du Pont Powder Company was 1,400 per cent.; Bethlehem Steel, 1,300 per cent.; American Zinc, Lead and Smelting, 1,500 per cent.; United States Steel, 300 per cent.; Anaconda Copper, 400 per cent.; American Beet Sugar, 250 per cent.; Armour & Co., 350 per cent., and American Hide and Leather, 250 per cent.

In urging that the income tax scale be increased to lighten the burden borne by the laboring classes, figures were cited indicating that wages have increased only 18 per cent., while the necessities of life have advanced 85 per cent.

AUSTRIAN WEAKNESS SEEN IN PEACE MOVE

Austria is ready to quit, but is held back by Germany. The significance of the frequent visits of members of the German Government to Vienna recently has not been lost on Washington observers of international moves.

Until the Pope's note has been received in complete official form there is likely to be no consideration given to it by the President and the Cabinet in any formal way. This was indicated by the failure of the President at the regular Cabinet meeting this afternoon to make any reference to the Pope's suggestions, although it is supposed that a long conference after the meeting between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing was devoted to an informal study of the Pope's views. On leaving the meeting Cabinet officers said that they had not heard of the Pope's proposal, and were not in a position to discuss it.

Find No Stable Foundation.

But it may be said that while exchanges among the Allies may put a new phase on the matter—which, however, is not regarded as likely—the general feeling in important quarters is that nothing has been proposed that furnishes a foundation for attaining the aim of President Wilson and the Ministers of the nations allied with the United States in the war against Germany to make the world safe for democracy and safeguard the existence of small States, or that furnishes any assurance that Germany will be made to pay for the wrongs she has inflicted. The invasion of Belgium, the sinking of the Lusitania, and kindred outrages are to pass practically unnoticed and without the exaction of reparation from the autocracy at Berlin, which has violated the rules of humanity in conducting this war.

One view in quarters associated with the prosecution of the war against Germany accepts the theory that the Austrian Government induced the Pope to make the proposal, and contends that Austria was acting in behalf of Germany, which hoped to put the Allies in a position where they would be obliged to accept or reject terms that seemed in some degree to be disadvantageous to Germany, and to acknowledge in part the principles which President Wilson has enunciated as those of the American Government and people in entering the conflict.

It is pointed out that outside of the suggestions for the restoration of Belgian and other conquered territory, which would carry with them the restoration to Germany of her lost colonies, most of the settlements proposed are left to the future, probably to arbitration, although this is not clear. Arbitration of such questions, it is contended here, would be impossible, and the disposition is to believe that Germany or Austria has this firmly in mind.

Wilson May Frame Answer.

It will be necessary for this Government, perhaps for President Wilson, to answer the Pope's communication. Nobody is in a position to say what the character of the answer will be, but it is taken for granted, on the basis of what is known of the feeling prevailing in Government circles, that this Government, while expressing sympathy with the proposals of the Pope, will suggest that there should be peace overtures from Germany herself which should indicate clearly her agreement in advance so to reform her policies as to remove the menace of militarism; and to insure the safety of the smaller nations which have felt the mailed fist in all its force.

In the Pope's note hearty approval is given to President Wilson's proposal for what has been termed a League to Enforce Peace among the nations of the world, and no doubt is felt here that the President will express his appreciation of this attitude. But it is believed in well-informed circles that the President will not be willing to permit Germany's acceptance of this basic principle to influence him to overlook the great principles which Germany has violated, which violation this Government insists she must remedy in order to win her way back into the sisterhood of nations.

Allies Agreed in Advance.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Pope Benedict's peace proposals were not unexpected by the United States or any of the Entente Allies. The possibility of a peace move was discussed with British Foreign Minister Balfour and M. Viviani when the British and French official missions were in Washington, and it was agreed that all the Allies, including the United States, should refuse to discuss peace terms while Germany occupied the territories she had taken by force, and thereby avoid what the allied statesmen considered a German trap.

Now the Pontiff's proposal presents the question in a somewhat different light, difficult perhaps to meet, because it offers to a war-weary world a hope for peace.

American officials acknowledge that the Vatican's proffer is of a nature calling for a reply. Diplomats of the Entente circle voice nothing but a unanimous opinion that it will be rejected. American officials realize that a convincing reply is required for the world's page of history, but that the proposals cannot be accepted as they stand is certain; that they will not be accepted at all is probable.

To Come Through Neutral Envoy.

An unofficial outline of the Pope's communication was received here this morning. Members of the President's Cabinet said it had not been discussed at this afternoon's meeting, but some of the President's official family gave signs of the difficulty which it has presented. Tonight the official text had not been received, and it had not been established whether it would come through the Spanish Ambassador or the Swiss Minister. Spain and Switzerland are the only two European neutrals having relations with the Vatican.

The first appraisal of the proposal by officials and diplomats was that it was another attempt by Germany, this time working through Austria because of the latter's close relation to the Vatican, to accomplish what she failed in her first offer of peace—the assembling of peace delegates at a round table conference. where the interests of one ally could be played off against the other, with the disruption of the grand alliance as the stake. In no quarter is there any disposition to question in any way the good faith of the Vatican, although the peace activities of the Roman Catholic elements in Germany and Austria have been prominent for several months.

But, as the unofficial outline disclosed the terms of Pope Benedict's proposal, officials were astonished to realize its similarity in part to some of President Wilson's declarations on the subject. International agreement to enforce peace, reduction of armament, and recognition of the national aspirations of the small peoples, all were brought forward by the President in his addresses before Congress.

The one point on which Germany might stick, diplomats feel, is the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine. These provinces, because of their mineral deposits, are not only necessary to the economic existence of Germany, they say, but in the hands of France again would constitute a military menace to the whole German scheme on the western frontier. A neutral diplomat today ventured the opinion that Germany, beaten, would concede all but the loss of Alsace-Lorraine.

Proposals Made by Pope.

Among the Pope's direct proposals are reduction of armaments, freedom of the seas, and that there shall be no retaliatory struggle after the war for world commercial supremacy. These are regarded as the foundation stones of the Pope's plan.

The proposals make in print something more than a column of large newspaper type. Although special efforts are being made to facilitate their transmission to the United States, this may not be effected for at least a day or two.

In eloquent language the Pontiff describes the terrible conditions existing in Europe, which he declares is headed for destruction unless the belligerents are willing to listen to the appeals of disinterested friends to cease a suicidal war. Such conditions, the Pope feels, amply justify him in taking the present opportunity to suggest what may be, he hopes, at least a foundation upon which peace negotiations may be initiated.

At best Pope Benedict's proposals are only suggested as a rough basis for such negotiations, and he realizes that the details in all their complexity must be worked out patiently and in a spirit of conciliation by the belligerents themselves.

Unqualified approval of President Wilson's plan for the avoidance of future wars by some form of international organization which shall have behind it the necessary power to enforce its judgments is given by Pope Benedict, who declares that along with such a splendid project must go effective arrangement for reduction of armaments to a point just sufficient for defensive purposes or to carry out the mandates of a world court.

Return of German Colonies.

Included in the restoration of territory the Pope's proposals insist should be the return to Germany of all her colonies, as well as the complete restoration to Belgium of her sovereignty.

It is inconceivable, the Pope holds, that any permanent peace can be maintained unless the various peoples are willing to gather in an amity founded upon a recognition of national rights.

Any attempt to prevent free economic action between the belligerents, the Pope says, would be disastrous; therefore he holds there must be freedom of the seas in all that the term implies. The Pontiff declares that so extensive has been the injury to all the belligerents that there can be no thought now of either indemnity or reparation.

In a spirit of conciliation and justice, he says, all the belligerents must submit to accept the losses they have sustained except in the matter of territory, and beside these questions of indemnity and reparation the Pope declares that these must be no continuation of the war by an economic struggle for supremacy thereafter, which would be purely evil.

This refers directly to the so-called Paris economic conference, which was followed by one in Vienna, where the effort was made to bind the belligerents on each side after the war to have practically no commercial relations with their late enemies.

Restoration of Seized Soil.

On the important question of the disposition of occupied territory and the territorial ambitions of the belligerents, the Pope, by way of preface, admits that special cases might justify special consideration and still be adjusted in conformity with the principles of equity and justice. But, as a general proposition, he feels that a proper basis for discussion would be the restoration at once of all territory now in enemy occupation.

That would involve the liberation of Belgium, leaving not a trace of German control, political or military. The same principle of unincumbered freedom in its full sense, he says, should prevail in regard to every power and nation. Not only must French territory now occupied by Germany be restored to France, he says, but, on the other hand, all German colonies which have been occupied by England, Portugal, Belgium, and Japan should be returned to Germany.

The more difficult question of Italia Irredenta, the Pope thinks, should be examined in a spirit of conciliation and fairness and that special consideration in the settlement should be given to national aspirations.

Likewise does the Pope hold that the complex questions involved in readjustment of the Balkan States should be considered in the same spirit of equity and justice. He has especially in mind Armenia, the Balkans and Poland, and the intimation conveyed is that these questions can safely be dealt with by direct diplomatic exchanges between the belligerents, once an agreement is reached upon the general principles of recognition of national aspirations and justice.

SENATORS NOT IMPRESSED.

Many Fail to See in Pope's Plan a Basis for Negotiation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Few Senators were inclined to believe today that the peace proposals of Pope Benedict would go very far toward bringing the warring nations to end the world conflict. Nearly all of those interviewed expressed the view that the proposals—as far as disclosed here—fail to form the basis upon which the United States would be able to deal at this time with Germany.

More than one Senator in private talk said that if peace were to come upon the basis suggested by the Vatican it would mean nothing more than virtual dictation by Germany of her own terms. From the trend of talk it is likely that the Vatican overtures will be commented upon in the Senate when debate on the King and La Follette resolutions comes up.

Senators on the Committee on Foreign Relations were reluctant to comment, saying the matter was too delicate to discuss. This was the attitude taken by Senator Lodge, ranking Republican member of the committee, while Senator Stone, Chairman of the committee, said he would talk about peace later on in the Senate.

Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip, said he was pleased over the action of the Vatican and hoped it would be productive of results. Senator Lewis recently made a speech in which he interpreted Chancellor Michaelis's utterance in the Reichstag as being a "feeler" for peace with America.

"I am inclined to believe the President will be considerably impressed with the Pope's suggestion of peace terms," he said. "The proposals undoubtedly will be regarded with favor in Vienna and in Rome, and it is likely that they will have due weight on other belligerent capitals. Coming from the Vatican, the whole world must listen to this offer for peace intervention."

Senator Williams of Mississippi, Democrat, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he did not believe there could be any serious consideration of peace terms until Germany consented to withdraw her armies from Belgium and Serbia.

"The proposals of the Pope seem to go a little further than the German proposals," he said, "so far as Alsace-Lorraine, Trent, Trieste, and Poland go. If these are to be restored, there can be talk of peace, but I am not sure that this is contemplated by Germany. She has never yet indicated her willingness to go so far. I am afraid there is nothing definite upon which we might base a calculation of peace now."

Senator King of Utah, Democrat, declared that the Pope had not opened the way for peace.

"No talk of peace should be heard until Germany is beaten decisively," he insisted. "There can be no peaceful solution of the problems of Alsace-Lorraine except by a decisive victory at arms. Any such problem cannot be adjusted by negotiation or by arbitration. Much as I would like to see this war come to an early end, I cannot see that it can be accomplished at this time, for Germany is not yet beaten—and that is the only thing that will enable the Allies to talk the sort of peace that will be lasting. Democracy must beat autocracy before this war ends."

Senator Shields of Tennessee, Democrat, said he thought proposals for peace ought to come from Germany and not from any other source, if they were to have the effect of accomplishing the desired end.

"Every one is glad to see the Vatican take the attitude it has," he said, "but I am afraid it will come to naught. Germany must abandon her iniquitous motive of world empire and the establishment of autocracy. Until that day arrives, no peace overtures from the Vatican—and I say this with due respect—or from anywhere else, will avail. That is my settled conviction, and I believe we will have to fight on until it is an established fact."

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, Democrat, took the viewpoint that as Germany started the conflict she must stick in it until she either agrees to terms of peace acceptable to the Allies or is decisively beaten by force of arms.

"Germany began the war by committing murderous assault upon the peace of the world," said Senator Ashurst. "If she really wants to talk the kind of peace acceptable to the Allies, she must agree to restore not only Belgium, but Serbia, France, Poland, Rumania, Montenegro, and all the other countries she has overrun. She must pay in restoration—and I believe in indemnity—for her wild career of blood and devastation, just so far as human justice can make her pay. Until she is willing to do this, we cannot talk peace with her."

Senator Johnson of California, Republican, refused to discuss the proposals. Senator Wadsworth of New York, Republican, said no peace terms could be seriously considered that did not have, as their basis, restoration of invaded Belgium. "When we have definite assurance of that," he said, "we will have something tangible to go on."

ELECT STOCKHOLM DELEGATES

Samuel Gompers Denounced at Meeting of Workmen's Council.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, was denounced as a "foe to labor," and Senator La Follette's peace resolution was indorsed at a meeting of the Workmen's Council held last night in Stuyvesant Casino, 140 Second Avenue. The meeting also elected delegates "to represent American labor" at the Stockholm peace conference, although Mr. Gompers has said that organized labor would not be represented, and although the State Department will not permit them to go.

The Stockholm delegates named were Jacob Panken, who is chairman of the Workmen's Council; Edward S. Cassidy of the Typographical Union, and S. Stedman, Chicago Socialist leader. Resolutions were adopted condemning the Secretary of State for refusing passports to Stockholm delegates.

The main animus of the meeting appeared to be opposition to Mr. Gompers, who has organized the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, for the purpose of thwarting the activities of the council, which Mr. Gompers regards as aiding Germany. Practically every speaker assailed Mr. Gompers as surrendering the rights of labor to the capitalists in his work of assisting the Council of National Defense.

NEW YORK PRESS COMMENT.

Germany Must Speak First.

From The New York World.

The relations between the Vatican and the Austrian Government have long been intimate. It is fair to presume that the Pope has not made a formal proposal looking toward peace without full consultation with the Government at Vienna. It is likewise fair to presume that Vienna would not have consented contrary to the wishes of Berlin. In any case, the first response to the Vatican proposals must come from the German Government, and there must be convincing proof that it has not tricked the Pope as it tried to trick President Wilson.

The German Government in this war has proved itself a moral idiot, and negotiations with a moral idiot are necessarily attended with grave misgivings. What the Vatican has to suggest will necessarily receive the most respectful, earnest attention in every capital of the allied nations, but all of them have a right to demand that Germany must speak first. When the nations know what Berlin has to offer, what reparation Germany is prepared to make for its crimes and what guarantees the German people themselves can give for the future conduct of their Government, democracy will know whether negotiation is possible or whether Prussianism is merely seeking a breathing spell preparatory to a fresh assault upon civilization.

What of Belgium?

From The New York Sun.

As to Belgium, for instance, what is meant by restoration? Merely restoration to the map, or restoration to conditions which existed when the Kaiser informed President Wilson, through Ambassador Gerard, that Germany had found it necessary to violate Belgian neutrality on "strategical grounds"?

Restoration that means no more than the criminal's withdrawal from the scene of his unspeakable crimes, or restoration that means reparation, restitution, indemnity?

It cannot be that the Pope, if his proposal is correctly reported as declaring that injuries to all the belligerents have been so great that there should be no thought of reparation except by the return of territory, had in mind the awful injuries of innocent Belgium.

That disposition of the case, that dismissal of the offender from the court of the world's opinion with no heavier sentence than that he must evacuate the territory blighted and blasted by his crime, must seem to the Vatican, as it would seem to Cardinal Mercier, a mockery of God's justice.

No Peace on Germany's Terms.

From The New York Herald.

In his present proposal the Pope speaks a word that the German Government has not yet been able to bring itself to speak—"restoration." That is a beginning, but unless it is taken in its broadest and most comprehensive sense, restoration is not enough. For Belgium, for France, for Serbia there must not only be restoration of territory and of complete and unquestioned sovereignty over the land restored to their peoples, but there must also be a full and complete restoration for damage done.

There can be no peace that does not take responsibility into fullest account, that does not provide for adequate punishment of those individually and collectively guilty, that does not make fullest reparation from Germany, that does not contain in itself the right sort of guarantee against a repetition of the crime.

When the hideous blight of Prussianism is destroyed forever the German people can have peace, not before. Any "peace" proposal that does not contemplate unconditional surrender by Germany contemplates a peace not worth thinking about.

Applaud Pope's Peace Terms.

From The New York American.

The Hearst newspapers could not do else than to applaud the terms of peace which the Pope has suggested, because those terms are identical with the terms which we have repeatedly suggested as fair terms, rightful terms and the only terms upon which peace could be negotiated. It is an absolute fact that the terms proposed by the Vatican are almost letter for letter identical with the terms that have been over and over again suggested or set forth in full in these columns. And we still believe that there can be no peace in the world, short of the peace of exhaustion and death, until the belligerent Governments express a willingness to negotiate upon the basis of these identical terms.

No Basis for Serious Discussion.

From The Journal of Commerce.

Restoration of Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania and a peaceful solution of the problems of Alsace-Lorraine, Trent, Trieste, and Poland, are rather vague terms so far as they go, but they fall far short of covering the ground, while anything like the status quo ante, with colonies restored to Germany and no new security for the independence of weaker nations is not conceivable.

It must be recognized that the autocratic power of the German Empire is responsible for this terrible war and all the loss and suffering that it has caused to other nations.. There are some old wrongs that have aggravated the situation and must be remedied before a lasting peace can be secured. There is nothing in this sudden outgiving from the Vatican that gives ground for serious discussion of possible peace terms at the present time.

Strategy Behind the Trenches.

From Il Progresso Italo-Americano.

This move on the part of the Vatican lifts still further the veil of mystery which enveloped German politics at the time of the fall of Hollweg, and his succession by Michaelis to the Imperial Chancellery. We have seen rising clouds in various directions which, we were told, contained the material, tangible elements of equitable settlement. Beyond the trenches battles are going on not less decisive and terrible; beyond the trenches other Generals use their tactics and strategy for the success of every movement. And possibly it is beyond the trenches that we must fix our gaze today.

LOCAL GERMAN PRESS VIEWS

Expects No Practical Results.

From the New Yorker Herold.

No matter how gladly we might hope that the suggestion of the Holy Father might lead to something, we must confess that we do not dare indulge in too great hopes. Assuming that the Central Powers remain in possession of the occupied territories to the end of the peace negotiations, they have a powerful weapon in hand against their opponents. In case they should withdraw their troops beforehand they would on their side have given an advantage to the enemy. If one could find anywhere in the world a square dealer who was willing and had the power to take over this territory and to administer it until peace was concluded it would be much easier to end the war than under the present circumstances. But such a square dealer cannot be found, so we fear that the suggestion of the Pope, no matter how deserving of gratitude, will have no practical results.

Sign that Wish for Peace Grows.

From The New-Yorker Staats Zeitung.

The Vatican has taken this most important step. One may see therein a reflex of the longings for peace which undoubtedly prevail among the peoples of Europe. The belligerent Governments will scarcely be able to ignore the proposal of the Pope; they will have to express themselves upon it. Whether practical results can grow out of it remains to be seen. When one considers the most recent expressions of the Allied statesmen, and their very energetic rejection of all possibilities of peace on the part of the Washington Government, it is unlikely enough that a serious movement toward peace can now develop. Nevertheless the step undertaken by Pope Benedict is a sign that the wish for peace in Europe is growing stronger.

LAW WILL CRUSH DRAFT VIOLATORS

Offenses in Other Exemption Boards to Meet with Dire Punishment.

GRAND JURY HEARS EVIDENCE

Women Tell of Men Who, They Say, Bought Freedom from the National Army.

SWANN GETS INTO CRUSADE

District Attorney Assigns Assistants to Push Charges of Perjury Against Unwilling Registrants.

Prompt action is being taken by the Federal authorities in this city to stamp out violations of the draft law by members of Exemption Boards and to punish adequately all such violations. In addition to Board 99, the members of which were removed by direction of President Wilson, charges which have been made against at least two other boards are now being investigated by Secret Service men.

Especial efforts are being made to have any new violators of the military law indicted on a more serious charge than that of conspiracy, made against the board members already arrested. Deputy Attorney General Roscoe Conkling and Assistant United States District Attorneys John C. Knox and Edwin M. Stanton held a long conference yesterday afternoon, at which the entire situation in certain exemption districts was discussed. None of the conferees would indicate what took place.

Reports from the exemption boards in this city showed that in seventy-seven of them 8,197 men were examined yesterday. Of these 1,908 were enrolled, making a total of 18,919 men enrolled to date.

The Grand Jury investigation of the conspiracy charge against Louis I. Cherey, who was Chairman, and Dr. Samuel J. Bernfeld, who was a member of Board 99, was continued yesterday, and in the course of the day about twenty-five persons were examined, some of whom are said to have admitted buying their exemption from military service. Kalman Gruher, who admits he distributed "exemption blanks" in the Ninety-ninth District, and whose son was among those exempted by Board 99, was also investigated by the Grand Jury.

Of the witnesses before the Federal Grand Jury six were women said to have been the relatives of men who had dealings with members of exemption boards in districts below Fourteenth Street. Several of the women seemed greatly depressed.

In order that the investigation of all reports may be as thorough as possible, a system of co-operation has been worked out between United States District Attorney Caffey and District Attorney Swann. The latter is reported to have evidence in several cases where men of draft age made false affidavits, and information of actions of the accused former members of Board 99. All the resources of Mr. Swann's office were placed at the disposal of the Federal authorities. Assistant District Attorneys Dooling and Markewich were assigned to investigate perjury charges growing out of attempted evasions of the draft law.

Mr. Swann has received more than sixty letters from persons who claim to have evidence that members of certain boards have trafficked in exemptions. One wrote that while in the examining room of Board 99 last week he overheard a man boast that he had bought his exemption for $200.

Some New York boards will have a hard time to get their full quotas by Sept. 1. Board 109, with headquarters at Essex and Delancey Streets, had examined more than 1,200 men up to 6 P. M. yesterday, and of this number had found only twenty-four who waived exemption. The numerous exemption claims are to be made the subject of inquiry.

Board 111, at 332 West Forty-third Street, found thirty-five who waived exemption out of 338 examined, and has sent out a second call for 400 men. This board is examining the exemption claims and has disapproved many of them and ordered the makers certified for service. At 52 St. Mark's Place, where Board 114 meets, more than 500 men have been examined, and out of this number the board obtained forty-eight who did not claim exemption. The board has begun the examination of 500 men named in the second call.

In District 169 several men who waived exemption have posted a placard that "no slackers are wanted in this district" and "chicken-hearted men may as well keep away." The placard adds: "We may be a little late in starting, but we are going, and we are not afraid of the U-boats either. Get aboard now, for the ship is sailing as soon as she gets a full crew."

Several boards announced last night that their quotas are either filled or are in sight. Board 17, Beaumont Avenue and 183d Street, the Bronx, announced that its quota of 219 men is ready with 18 to spare. This number is in addition to over 100 other men who will be certified for service as a result of their failure to appear for examination. Board 120, at 319 West Fifty-seventh Street, announced that its quota of 168 had been obtained and it had a surplus of 20. Board 149, with headquarters at 182d Street and Wadsworth Avenue, reported that it has 200 men, 29 in excess of its quota.

Chairman Charles E. Hughes, Secretary W. B. Davenport, and members of the various committees of the District Board for the City of New York were busy yesterday going over the numerous appeals which have been laid before the board. No announcements will be made regarding the status of any of these appeals until the committees have made their reports to the full board at its regular meeting this morning. Mr. Hughes sent to the Chairman and members of the ten other district boards in this State a telegram in which he said:

"Pursuant to the suggestion of the Adjutant General, it gives me pleasure to invite you to attend a conference of the members of all the district boards of the State of New York, to be held on Thursday, Aug. 16, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the rooms of the City Bar Association at 42 West Forty-fourth Street, in the City of New York."

The Mayor's Committee on National Defense has called a meeting of representatives of the city's principal organizations for Monday afternoon next in the City Hall at 3:30 P. M. to prepare plans for a great farewell to the drafted men when they leave for camp early in September.

MARTIAL LAW IN SPAIN FOLLOWS DISTURBANCES

Cabinet Gives Military Authorities Full Control to End Disorders—Strike Spreads.

MADRID, Aug 14.—The whole of Spain has been placed under martial law following disorders resulting from the general strike, which is spreading. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Cabinet. Instructions were sent to the military authorities, who have been given full control. Disturbances which occurred at various places have been stopped by military forces.

The strike, which was begun by the railroad employes, has even affected the newspapers here and only those which have nonunionist staffs will appear tonight. They have received assurances from the Government that they will be protected. At noon yesterday the capital was quiet. A majority of the workmen wish to work in peace; only the minority seek to promote disorder.

AMERICANS INVITED TO SHOOT GERMANS

French Officers Decide Visitors May Try Marksmanship Against Enemies Across the Line.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Aug. 14.—[By The Associated Press.]—A rather grim little point of trench etiquette, which had been puzzling the American officers lately, has been settled by the French with the usual politeness and magnanimity. It has been decided that American officers visiting the French front have a perfect right, as guests, to carry revolvers or rifles and take a shot at any German who shows his head above an enemy parapet. American officers have been backward about doing this, fearing to trespass upon the inalienable rights of the French to shoot every Boche opposite them.

But the French have assured their American comrades that the killing of Germans is no longer a novelty to them, and that they are delighted to have the Americans get their first blood acquaintance with the enemy from behind the French lines.

"I had a beautiful chance to shoot a German officer who stood up in a trench for several moments while I was visiting the French front," said an officer today. "But I was not sure about the etiquette of the situation and refrained from acting. Afterward the French commander told me that I should not have let etiquette stand in the way, and that he hoped all of us in the future in visiting his sector of the line would bring our revolvers or sniping rifles along."

The American Army teems with sharpshooters—men who wear the silver badge of marksmanship on their breasts. These men are fairly aching to get a chance to lie in the trenches opposite the Germans and snipe every head that shows itself. Many of the officers will get this opportunity soon. In anticipation of their visits, they are now being instructed in the use of gas masks and the ordinary means of taking quick cover from shells or machine gun fire.

The men will not receive their gas drills yet awhile, for none of them will go to the trenches until all the officers have been there and become acquainted with the trench methods and trench habits and the proper manner of handling their men in various trench emergencies.

The ever-increasing number of American officers at the French front makes an American casualty list not only possible but probable almost any hour.

SENT TO SOUND TURKEY?

Rumor in Washington That Morgenthau Goes on a Peace Mission.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—According to the Foreign Affairs News Service, Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, before leaving for Europe, ostensibly as the head of a mission to investigate possibilities for ameliorating the condition of war sufferers in Palestine, took his instructons directly from President Wilson.

Mr. Morgenthau is now in France, and it is understood that his visit to Palestine has been postponed, owing to the check of the British expeditionary force at Gaza by the Turkish troops. It had been expected that the British advance would swiftly penetrate deep into Palestine, as was promised by the success of their initial operations along the Egypto-Palestine border.

The news service says, on "high authority," that the special purpose of Mr. Morgenthau's visit to Europe and Asia is to study, especially in its political details, the entire Jewish problem, and particularly with relation to the proposed creation of an independent Palestine.

President Wilson is said to have been influenced in his decision to send Mr. Morgenthau abroad by the division of opinion and sentiment among American Jews, by no means a majority of whom favor the transformation of Palestine into an independent Zionist State.

The bureau intimates that Mr. Morgenthau, who knows personally the influential statesmen and military chieftains of Turkey, intended, on reaching the British lines in Palestine, to seek conferences with Turkish officials and to discuss with them the possibilities of a separate peace for Turkey. There is said to be great dissatisfaction in Turkey over the continuance of the war, caused principally by the economic distress of the population and the seeming impossibility of wrenching victory from the Allies.

DANIELS ATTACKS NAVY LEAGUE HEADS

Calls Slanderous Their Report That Labor Blocks Mare Island Explosion Inquiry.

DEMANDS THAT THEY RESIGN

Letter to Thompson Follows League's Statement That Fatal Explosion Was Caused by Time Fuse.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Aroused by what he declared to be a "false and slanderous" statement, which the Navy League of the United States issued here today, asserting that it had been credibly informed that the investigation of the recent explosion at the Mare Island Navy Yard had been "blocked," Secretary Daniels made public a letter he, tonight, sent to Colonel Robert M. Thompson urging that Colonel Thompson resign as President of the Navy League.

"The chief service which you and the other officials of the Navy League can render to the navy," said Secretary Daniels in his letter to Colonel Thompson, "is to resign at once and permit the league to be directed by those who in a crisis like the present could not permit a statement to be given out to the public which attempts to discredit the entire Navy Department, and which will be read with contempt and disgust by every honest citizen of America."

The statement which was thus publicly condemned by Secretary Daniels asserted that the Navy League had received a communication "from an official source" that a time fuse was connected with the black powder magazine at the Mare Island Navy Yard, which exploded last month, causing the deaths of five and injuring thirty-one persons, and that the resulting investigation had been blocked. The statement in full follows:

The Navy League Statement.

"The Navy League has received a communication from an official source stating that a time fuse was connected with the black powder magazine at the Mare Island Navy Yard, which exploded on July 9 last, causing the death of five persons and the injury of thirty-one. The discovery of this fuse, contends the league informant, proves conclusively that the explosion was the result of a criminal conspiracy. Fear is expressed that vigorous investigation of the case has been hampered or prevented because of influence exerted by powerful labor interests.

"Although the name of the informant is withheld, the Navy League states that it is a person whose daily work would place him in a position to know the facts. The information was transmitted to the Navy League as a protest against official inaction in the case and because of the apparently sincere conviction on the part of our informant that a dangerous softness is evident in the handling of labor questions by the Navy Department.

"When the Mare Island explosion was first reported, in the newspapers of July 10, Secretary Daniels issued a brief statement outlining the extent of the damage done, but giving no clue to the cause of the explosion. He said that he had ordered an immediate investigation. The Navy Department has heard nothing of the matter since then, it is said.

"The Navy League has no means of conclusively determining the accuracy of the statements made in this letter, but it has given very careful consideration to the seriousness of the charge it contains and would not give currency to them if it did not have confidence in the source of its information, its general reliability, and its position to learn the facts stated.

"It is clearly proper that investigation into such an occurrence as the Mare Island explosion must and should be made secretly, and the league realizing that the mere circumstance that no statements have been made to the press regarding the progress of the investigation does not warrant the assumption that no proper investigation is being made.

"On the other hand, the fact must be faced that a Government department could employ this veil of proper secrecy to hide the fact that the investigation had been blocked. The press and public would assume that silence on the part of Government authorities about the matter was simply due to the desire to press the investigation more effectively without hindrance from premature publicity.

"It is, therefore, an extremely difficult matter to determine satisfactorily, by the customary inquiries, whether such an investigation is proceeding or has been blocked. The league is informed by a man who is in a position to know that in this instance the investigation has been blocked. It is urged, furthermore, that publicity is the only measure that can end this block and force action.

"The league sincerely hopes that, in giving publicity to this information, it is serving the higher public interest, which is its one and only purpose."

Secretary Daniels's Letter.

The letter of Secretary Daniels to Colonel Thompson follows:

"Aug. 14, 117.

"Dear Sir:

"Some time ago you called at the Navy Department and stated that you wished the Navy League to be in thorough harmony with the Navy Department, and that if I thought that your continuance and the continuance of Mr. Staton as Secretary would make it impossible for the Navy League to help the navy you would both retire and would be pleased to have me suggest officers who would work in harmony with the department.

"Although certain members of the Navy League had for years been unfair in their criticisms, I knew that the bulk of its membership was composed of patriotic citizens who had no part or lot in such use of the league. You will recall that I told you at the time that the Navy League was a purely voluntary organization, had no connection whatever with the Navy Department, and that, while I had not been in accord with some things the Navy League had done, I did not desire to have any direction of the league or make any statement with reference to who should be its officers.

"In view, however, of the false and slanderous statement given out today by the Navy League, I am writing to say that the chief service which you and the other active officials of the Navy League can render to the navy is to resign at once and permit the league to be directed by those who in a crisis like the present could not permit a statement to be given out to the public which attempts to discredit the entire Navy Department and which will be read with disgust and contempt by every honest citizen of America. Sincerely yours,

"JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

In addition, Mr. Daniels issued this statement:

Calls It a Contemptible Slander.

"Immediately upon receipt of the report of the explosion of the Mare Island powder magazine, the Commandant of the navy yard was directed to institute an immediate, full, and detailed investigation of the circumstances attending the explosion, and to fix the cause and responsibility for the same.

"The board appointed by the Commandant of the Mare Island Navy Yard has actively pursued this investigation, but its report has not as yet been received in the Navy Department.

"The board in carrying out its work has in no way whatever been hampered or restricted by any supplemental instructions from the Navy Department, but has been afforded ample funds and the full resources of the Government in carrying out its thorough investigation.

"While it has been current rumor that this magazine was exploded by a time fuse or other device maliciously placed by parties unknown to the naval authorities, the department in this case, as in all other cases, has refrained from issuing any statement until it was in possession of all the facts. No statement will be made until the full report has been received.

"The attention of the public is invited to the deliberate attempt of the responsible agent of the Navy League to publish a statement which, even if true, should not have been given out without reference to the department. Inasmuch as it is false, the action in giving it circulation shows a malicious attempt to discredit the Navy Department and the capable officers who are doing everything possible to ferret out the cause of the accident and obtain evidence that would fix the responsibility. If I were to state to the public all the steps that the officers charged with this duty have taken and are taking, the people would despise the slanderers who attempted to impugn their honesty and sincerity.

"The false suggestion that any action or lack of action has been due to the Navy Department's attitude toward labor is too contemptible to deserve notice."

MOVE TO END SHORTAGE OF COAL IN NORTHWEST

Government, Operators, and Railroads Plan Preferential Car System to Do It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Plans for relieving the coal shortage in the Northwest by a system of preferential shipments were formed today at the conference of Government officials, railroad men and coal operators, and the President may be called on for executive approval to make them effective. Francis S. Peabody, Chairman of the Coal Production Committee of the Council of National Defense, said he thought the preferential system would solve the problem, but if that failed commandeering of cars probably would be resorted to.

The plan adopted by unanimous resolution contemplates furnishing to bituminous coal operators, who can ship to Cleveland and Eastern Lake ports, 100 per cent. car service with the understanding that they will ship 50 per cent. of their output to Lake ports for reshipment to Northwestern territory ports.

Daniel C. Willard, Chairman of the Advisory Commission of the Defense Council, was delegated with Mr. Peabody and C. M. Scheaffer as aids to carry the plan to some authority for final veto or approval. The authority was not named, but inasmuch as the power to order preferential shipments now rests solely with President Wilson, it is assumed that the proposal ultimately will go to him unless he appoints a preferential shipment board to handle such problems.

MEATLESS HALF THE TIME.

Restriction Is Reported Effective Throughout Whole German Empire.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin is quoted in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam to the effect that meatless weeks have been decided on in Saxony and are now to be extended to the whole German Empire. According to this report, there will be two meatless weeks a month, beginning with September.

A previous report was that Saxony was to have one meatless week each in September and October.

WASHINGTON CROWD EGGS SUFFRAGETTES

Pelts Headquarters and Tears "Kaiser Wilson" Banners in Fragments.

U. S. SAILORS IN THE MOB

Ex-Soldier Who Stripped Flags from the Building Arrested with a Government Clerk.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—For two hours this afternoon there was a succession of disorderly proceedings between the east gate of the White House and the headquarters of the militant suffragists at Cameron House in Madison Place, half a block away. Crowds gathered and there were frequent rushes at the suffragist pickets in the effort to tear from them banners with the offensive legend which addressed the President of the United States as "Kaiser Wilson."

Men in the uniform of United States sailors were prominent in the attacking forces. They rushed the banner-bearers, and on one occasion led an offensive against Cameron House. Stones and eggs were thrown and windows broken. The police attempted to keep the crowd back from the White House gate, but refrained from arresting either the women or the men who sought to destroy their banners.

The climax came when Jack Gottlieb, who says he served as an orderly under General Pershing in the Philippines, climbed up a ladder to the flagstaff of Cameron House and tore down not only the suffrage banners, but the American flags, asserting that he felt it was akin to sacrilege to permit the flag of the United States to wave over the house of an oranization that would permit seditious statements to be made against the President.

Gottlieb was arrested on the technical charge of taking down the American flag, but there is a belief that he will not be severely dealt with.

Louis Lawych, a Government clerk, taken into custody in front of a White House gate after tearing down one of the "Kaiser Wilson" banners, was charged with disorderly conduct.

When Lawych was arrested a half dozen bluejackets and youngsters in the white of the Naval Reserve attempted to take him away from the lone policeman who had him in charge. One of the men in uniform swung on the officer's jaw, and in the excitement that followed the would-be rescuers escaped through Lafayette Square, just across Pennsylvania Avenue.

The women went back to headquarters after their last banner had been taken from them, followed by a jeering crowd, which fell in line and carried bits of the banners on canes and sticks. By this time the police reserves from several nearby stations were on hand, and when the crowd found no more banners were to be brought out it quickly dispersed.

The campaign today was a test effort of the suffragettes, and it is understood that it did not have the approval of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and other New York representatives. According to a report current here tonight, the Washington organization that has followed the militant style is doing so in defiance of the National Woman's Party, which leases Cameron House.

The actions of the Washington militants, it is said, have started a controversy in the ranks of the party which promises little in the direction of co-operation and is a strong influence against concerted action for "the cause." The New York leaders are reported to be tired of the methods employed by the "ultras" and to feel that no good is being accomplished.

FIGHTS AIRPLANE MERGER.

Aeronautical Society Denounces Association of Manufacturers.

The new combination of airplane manufacturers under the name of the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association was vigorously attacked last night at a meeting of the Aeronautical Society of America at the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street. About a hundred members, mostly engineers and inventors of airplane devices, were present, and unanimously voted approval of a report of a special committee which called the association "an illegal enterprise in restraint of trade, destined to injure the art."

At the close of the meeting the President of the society, Frederick W. Barker, was directed to telegraph to President Wilson, the Secretaries of War and Navy, and the Attorney General, asking them as to the truth of statements by officials of the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association that their combination was sanctioned by the Government. "If it is a fact that the official sanction of the United States is behind this plan," says the resolution, "then this society shall deem it a patriotic duty to refrain from further action herein pending present war conditions."

The special committee whose report was adopted consisted of Charles W. Howell and Leon Cammen, engineers and inventors, and Thomas A. Hill, patent attorney, who is the lawyer for Albert S. Janin, who challenges the Curtiss claim to the basic patent for hydroaeroplanes.

Officials of the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association had been asked to attend the meeting, but none was present.

BEEFLESS, BACONLESS DAY.

First of Two a Week Successfully Observed at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Aug. 14.—Today was the first of the beefless, baconless two days a week ordered by Food Controller Hanna. Most of the hotels and restaurants observed the regulation in full, serving fish instead of the meat. The public took to it good naturedly, those who asked for bacon and beef doing so mostly as a joke.

The next beefless day will be Friday. No penalties for violation of the regulation will be enforced this week, but offenders will be prosecuted thereafter.

FAMOUS SOLDIERS IN THE LIST.

All the Regulars Promoted Except One Are West Pointers.

With a single exception all of the thirty-five officers of the regular army, whose nominations to be Major Generals were sent to the Senate by President Wilson yesterday, are graduates of the Military Academy at West Point.

New York State gets seven of the new division commanders—Generals Greene, Cronkhite, Sage, Townsley, Blatchford, Greble of the regulars, and General O'Ryan of the guard being native born New Yorkers. Of the other thirty Generals four are natives of Ohio, three are Pennsylvanians, two each were born in New Jersey, Michigan, Maryland, Illinois, and Indiana, while New Hampshire Maine, Massachusetts, Kentucky, the District of Columbia, Virginia, Texas, Kansas, Alabama, Missouri, Florida, and North Carolina supply one Major General each.

General Harry F. Hodges is one of the best known of the new Generals. For years, until his appointment as a Brigadier General in 1914, he was one of the famous officers of the Corps of Engineers. He was General Goethals's chief assistant in the construction of the Panama Canal, and for the last two years has been in command, with headquarters at Fort Totten, of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery District. He is an honor man of the West Point class of 1881, and was born in Massachusetts fifty-seven years ago.

General Glenn, who is known from end to end of the country, is the famous Major Glenn of the Philippine water cure incident. General Glenn is the President of the United States Infantry Association, and was until a year ago Chief of Staff on Governors Island. He is one of Major Gen. Leonard Wood's most intimate friends. He is a North Carolinian, a West Pointer of the class of 1877, and is 61 years of age.

An officer well known to New Yorkers is General Adelbert Cronkhite, until recently commander of the coast defenses of the Panama Canal Zone. General Cronkhite was born in New York City fifty-six years ago, and was graduated from West Point in 1882. He is one of the artillery experts of the army, and before going to Panama was for many years artillery officer of the Eastern Department of the army, on Governors Island.

Generals Townsley and Biddle are both former Superintendents of the Military Academy. It is no secret in the army that these two officers are among those whom President Wilson considers among the ablest in the service. Townsley is an artilleryman and Biddle an engineer.

General Kuhn was Military Attaché in Berlin during the first two years of the war, and is now President of the War College Division of the General Staff and one of the officers prominently mentioned as the successor of Major Gen. Hugh L. Scott as Chief of Staff of the army. Kuhn is a Kansan, and a West Pointer of the class of 1885.

General Blocksom is the officer who was sent to Brownsville, Texas, by President Roosevelt to investigate the trouble caused by negro regulars in that city several years ago. It was partly due to the report submitted by Blocksom that President Roosevelt dismissed from the service a whole battalion of negro soldiers.

Edward St. Julian Greble is one of the army's most efficient field artillery experts. General Greble is fifty-eight years old, and was graduated from West Point in 1881. General H. C. Hodges, Jr., and General Harry F. Hodges were among his classmates.

Six in Class of '83.

Six of the new Generals were graduated from West Point with the class of 1883. They are Clarence Edwards, now in command of the Northeastern Department, with headquarters in Boston; Harry C. Hale, Omar Bundy, C. W. Kennedy, J. W. Ruckman, and W. H. Sage. Edwards, Hale, Kennedy, and Sage are of the same age, and were born in 1859.

General Wright, one of the New Jersey Generals, is now on duty in New York. He is one of the army's most efficient men, and was one of General Funston's most trusted advisers at Vera Cruz. General Plummer succeeded General Edwards as commander of the mobile forces on the Isthmus of Panama.

General Parker now commands the troops on the Mexican border. He was in his day one of the best known cavalry officers in the service, and by many is considered the handsomest officer in the United States Army.

General Dickman is one of the officers recently promoted to general rank. For years Dickman was Colonel of the Second Cavalry and commanded the cavalry organization at the 1916 officers' training camp at Plattsburg.

General Treat is another of the army's best known field artillery officers. He is 58 years old, a native of Maine, and a West Pointer of the class of 1882. General Allen was a classmate of General Treat at West Point. General Allen is Kentucky's representative among the new Generals.

General French is from Indiana and was graduated in 1879. He is 60 years of age and still has four years of active service ahead of him. General Greene, one of the New York Generals, is also a West Pointer of the class of 1879.

General Bell has been for the last three years on duty at El Paso, and to him has fallen the task, on numerous occasions, of parleying with Villa and others of the Mexican bandit leaders. It is said of General Bell that he is the one man on the border the very sight of whom makes Villa tremble. He is of the "means business" type of officers and knows exactly how to handle the Mexicans. He and General Strong, the latter a field artilleryman, were classmates at West Point and were graduated in 1880.

General Kernan for years has been one of the crack infantry commanders. He is from Florida, is 58 years old, and was graduated with the West Point class of 1881.

General Swift, like Parker, has always been of the cavalry. He is a Texan and is 63 years old.

General Peyton C. March, one of the younger Generals, is a native of Pennsylvania and a son of the late Dr. March of Lafayette College. He was one of the honor men of the West Point class of 1888. His entire service has been with the field artillery, and he is the officer who organized the new Ninth Regiment of that arm.

General Robert Lee Bullard is from Alabama. He is 56 years of age and a West Pointer of the class of 1885. He and General Kuhn were classmates.

General Blatchford is the only officer promoted from the regulars who is not a graduate of West Point. He entered the army as a Second Lieutenant from civil life in 1883. He is a native of New York and is 58 years old.

Mann an Old Indian Fighter.

General Mann, who is to command this division in France, heads the list of officers of that rank who were today promoted by President Wilson to be Major Generals of the new national army. He was born in Pennsylvania and was graduated from West Point in 1875 and was made Second Lieutenant of Infantry soon afterward, serving almost continuously on the frontier in Dakota, Montana, and Wyoming from 1875 to 1892, including the escorting of working parties of the Northern Pacific Railroad and participating in the Pine Ridge campaign against the Sioux Indians in 1890 and 1891. He was made Captain of Infantry in 1896. In the Spanish war he was with the Fifth Army Corps in Cuba, participating in the battle of El Caney on July 1, 1898, and in the trenches before Santiago until the surrender, in the Philippines, taking part in the operations against the Luzon insurgents.

JOY AT SIXTY-NINTH'S ARMORY

News from Washington Puts the 'Fighting Irishmen' on Their Mettle.

Although they had heard in an unofficial sort of way for several days that the Sixty-ninth was to be the first New York regiment to go to France, it was not until late yesterday afternoon that official orders were received, designating the regiment to supply the green in the rainbow, as it was called, or the Forty-second Division.

When the news arrived the men were scattered over the armory floor at all sorts of tasks and recreations, but when the message was shouted from group to group everything but the good tidings was forgotten. Hats, playing cards, brooms and everything throwable went sailing into the air.

Enlisted men joined hands and swung, with whoops in wild dances around the armory, while officers, realizing the grimmer significance of the order, but just as happy as the men, grasped hands in mutual congratulation. As Private F. X. Kelly of Company E put it, the feelings of the Sixty-ninth might be summed up thus:

"The saints be praised!"

When, however, the exuberance of the soldiers simmered down a bit they began the task of getting equipment in shape to move.

While Colonel Reed would not comment on the report, it was ascertained that the Sixty-ninth probably will go into camp at Mineola very soon. It is necessary to increase the regimental strength from the American standard of 2,002 men to the European strength of 3,167, and this probably will be done at Mineola through the transfer of men from other guard organizations.

British Imports and Exports.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The British Board of Trade figures issued today show imports in July of £90,182,430 and exports of £49,838,635.

NEW YORK DIVISION MAY TRAIN AT HOME

Reported That Beekman Camp Will Be Used Because of Delay at Spartanburg.

Because of delay in getting the Spartanburg camp ready, the Sixth Division, composed of the State guard, may train at Camp Whitman in Beekman, according to Adjt. Gen. Louis W. Stotesbury, who returned yesterday from a conference with Secretary of War Baker. The Adjutant General declared that such a change was being considered by the War Department, and that a decision might be expected in a few days.

Headquarters staff officers continued yesterday to deny knowledge of what plans were in contemplation for the Sixty-ninth. They declined to discuss the matter, declaring that any facts published about a regiment that might be destined for active duty would be in violation of Section 3 of the United States Army regulations governing censorship.

After five months spent guarding up-State railroads and water works, the Seventy-first Infantry, 2,002 strong, returned to this city yesterday afternoon and went into camp beside the Twenty-third Infantry in Van Cortlandt Park. A crowd, estimated by the police at 10,000, was on hand to greet the guardsmen. The arrival of the third battalion of the Twenty-third shortly before the Seventy-first brings the total number of troops under canvas in the park up to 4,000.

NEW OFFICERS TO FRANCE.

Linguists Among Men Commissioned in Reserve Camps Chosen.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—A number of reserve officers just commissioned at the various training camps have been selected for immediate service in France. These, it is reported, will be assigned to the Intelligence Department of the General Staff for important work. Preference has been given to those who speak French and German. It is understood that their work will consist in part in reading captured documents, interviewing prisoners, and otherwise collecting information that will be of benefit to the commanding officers of the American forces in making their military plans. The names of the officers selected are withheld.

While the military authorities are not making any statement on the subject, it is said that other reserve officers will be sent to France at once for training with the French forces so that they may return to the United States and give instruction to officers and men of the national army.

SEDITIOUS ORATORS TO BE PROSECUTED

Arrest of Cleveland Moffett Moves Defense Society to Plan Action.

POLICE PROMISE TO HELP

Patrolmen Instructed to Arrest Curb Speakers Whose Remarks Appear to be Treasonable.

The police will hereafter pursue a more vigorous policy in dealing with attacks on the United States and our allies by street-corner orators and will make arrests for utterances that appear seditious, it was announced yesterday afternoon at Police Headquarters by Acting Chief Inspector Dillon after he had heard witnesses regarding the arrest of Cleveland L. Moffett, the writer, at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway on Monday night for interrupting a speaker alleged to be preaching pro-Germanism and treason.

Inspector Dillon exonerated the policemen who had arrested Mr. Moffett on the writer's statement that he had not been roughly handled by the police, and that he persisted in his efforts to break up the meeting for the purpose of making an issue of the right of street-corner orators to abuse the United States and her allies and insidiously to champion the Teuton cause. Inspector Dillon said, however:

"I do not find the policemen at fault, because it is very difficult for a trained lawyer to draw the line between what constitutes treason and sedition and a legitimate exercise of the right of free speech. You cannot expect a policeman to act in doubtful cases."

"But these cases are not all doubtful," said Mr. Moffett. "Suppose, for instance, that a man should say 'To h— with the American flag.'"

"Kick him in the stomach," said Acting Chief Inspector Dillon. "That is a different case entirely. But it has not been clearly established how far an orator can go and still be within bounds. That question has not been passed on by Magistrates. What is needed is a definition from law authorities on those points. I am personally very much opposed to allowing pro-Germanism to be preached from the street corners in any form, and I can tell you that steps will be taken to prevent it, as far as the law will allow us to go."

Inspector Dillon added that as test cases were necessary and Mr. Moffett would have aided the police if he had obtained a warrant for the arrest of the speaker on Monday night, instead of trying to break up the meeting. Mr. Moffett complained that it was difficult to get a warrant for the arrest of a man whose name you did not know and who might disappear during the hour or two required to get the warrant. He contended that dealing with such cases was a function of the police and should not be left to the initiative of individuals.

Mr. Moffett said that a meeting of the American Defense Society would be held probably this afternoon at 303 Fifth Avenue to consider whether to get a warrant and make a search for the alleged preacher of treason and to consider plans to suppress treasonable soap-box orators. John E. Moore, National Secretary of the Friends of Irish Freedom, which the meeting at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway was supposed to represent, made a patriotic speech denying that the Friends of Irish Freedom were anything but patriotic Americans. He asserted that the speakers for the Friends were not pro-German and offered to produce the speaker at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway, if Mr. Moffett would get a warrant. Mr. Moffett said that he would take the matter up with Mr. Moore, if the American Defense Society favored prosecuting the speaker.

The American Defense Society issued this statement yesterday:

"The arrest of Cleveland Moffett, an American citizen, well-known writer and Trustee of this society, brings prominently before the public the fact that irresponsible citizens, pacifists and persons of German sympathies are allowed, unchecked from any responsible quarter, to make treasonable speeches in the streets and to advocate policies which are directly opposed to the safety of this nation. This ill-judged leniency on the part of the authorities has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the Board of Trustees of this organization and the arrest of Mr. Moffett makes clear the fact that definite action of some kind is necessary. A leniency toward and tolerance of pacifists, pro-Germans and fanatics in general, which may be tolerated in times of peace, is intolerable and foolhardly with the country at war.

"The American Defense Society accordingly invites every citizen of New York who has direct testimony to give concerning seditious meetings and treasonable utterances to communicate at once with its headquarters in 303 Fifth Avenue, and to submit such testimony as he may have to offer. The American Defense Society will assume the responsibility for seeing that any such act or utterance is promptly reported to the authorities."

PACIFIST ORATOR VANQUISHED

Guard Officer Flays Speaker Who Denounced Our Allies.

A crowd at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway, which has been the fighting ground of stump speakers, listened last night to a red hot patriotic speech by Lieutenant Eugene J. Orsenigo of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. Y. N. G., and seemed to like it.

Lieutenant Orsenigo appeared on the corner just after a pacifist had been unfolding a plan for holding a large American army in this country to defend our shores in case any European nation should attempt to invade us. Speaking from a soap box, this orator said:

"There is a political party forming in this country, and let me tell you it will soon be greater in numbers than any of the old parties. It is composed of the men who are opposed to sending our young men abroad to find a shallow grave in the soil and for the cause of some country of Continental Europe."

The speaker was mopping his brow and descending from his soapbox amid a scatering applause when the big red recruiting auto truck of the Seventy-first Regiment rounded the corner. Springing up on the seat of the truck and waving his hand for silence, Lieutenant Orsenigo said:

"I have heard the last few remarks of this speaker, and I am surprised that he is allowed to utter such sentiments on a New York street corner. He is pleading for us to wait and see if our brave allies are defeated, so that we can fight the invading Germans on our soil, if they are not.

"I don't believe in allowing speakers to sneer at our allies and to speak slightingly of America's soldiers. We are an easy-going people, and we have allowed them to go too far. You know they are on this corner and on other corners, attempting to poison the minds of our young men and hoping to cause our failure in this war. Are you willing to stand for that?"

"No!" shouted scores of voices in the crowd.

"What do you stand for?"

"For America!" "For the U. S. A.!" "For Uncle Sam!" came numerous shouts.

"How many of you believe in that other fellow?"

"None of us!" roared back a majority of the crowd, which had now grown to about six hundred. "Where is he?" "Hang him up!" "Here's a lamppost!"

The previous speaker had either gone or mingled in the crowd, for he was not visible and no one appeared to take the other side.

Lieutenant Orsenigo said in conclusion:

"No, Sir, the English are our allies, they are our brothers in this war, they have been fighting nobly as all the Allies have been, and I will not listen to any man running any of them down in my presence. Italy and Russia have been protecting us. Russia is having her troubles, and they are due mainly to spies paid by the Kaiser, and that is something for us in this to remember when we listen to pro-German agitators."

An outburst of cheering and handclapping interrupted Lieutenant Orsenigo. No one else attempted to heckle him after the first heckler's experience, and the Lieutenant began pleading for recruits. Three young men in the crowd answered his first call.

Earlier in the evening William H. Hines of 160 West 113th Street caused the arrest at Thirty-seventh Street and Broadway of William Robinson, 29 years old, a street speaker, on a charge of disorderly conduct, alleging Robinson had said that any one who advocates sending American soldiers thousands of miles away from the country was a traitor. On arriving at the Men's Night Court to be present at Robinson's arraignment, Hines there caused the arrest on a disorderly conduct charge of Stephen Johnson, 40 years old, of 330 West Forty-eighth Street, whom he charged with unpatriotic remarks. Magistrate Fuchs held Robinson in $1,000 bail for further examination in Jefferson Market Court tomorrow, and paroled Johnson for further examination.

FEARS KUEHLMANN SHADOW

Bernhard Doubts Friendship for England Can Be Dropped.

BERLIN, Aug. 13, (Delayed.)—Writing in the Vossische Zeitung, Georg Bernhard calls Dr. Richard von Kühlmann, the new German Secretary for Foreign Affairs, a man with an English shadow.

"No man," the political writer says, "can leap over his shadow, and this shadow is the sole reason why we regret Chancellor Michaelis permitted himself to be advised to make this selection."

PORTO RICO ASKS FULL INDEPENDENCE

Both Houses of Insular Legislature Address Appeal to President Wilson.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 14.—Resolutions addressed to President Wilson and demanding complete self-government for Porto Rico were passed by both houses of the Insular Legislature today. José Dediego, the foremost advocate of independence, as Speaker of the House sent the following telegram to President Wilson and Congress:

"In inaugurating a new political régime the House of Representatives has resolved unanimously to offer, through you, to the American people a message of gratitude for the law which has caused a realization in part of the legitimate aspirations of the people of Porto Rico. The House also resolved to express to the people of the United States that the people of Porto Rico were ready to contribute with their blood, under the glorious flag of the United States, to the triumph of democracy throughout the world, and demand from the United States the completion of its work in Porto Rico by granting to our people the full right of self-government."

President Barcelo of the Senate sent this message to the President:

"The first Porto Rican Senate greets President Wilson and relies on him and the American Congress for a greater development of the system establishing in Porto Rico a Government of and by the people to its fullest extent and purity."

SENATORS APPROVE FOOD BILL IN CAUCUS

Fate of Measure May Rest with Decision of Republican Assemblymen Today.

RURAL MEMBERS ELUSIVE

May Have to Send Sergeant-at-Arms to Bring Them In to Vote—Middlemen's Lobby Active.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 14.—Final action in the Legislature on the Food Control bill only awaits the outcome of the caucus of Republican Assemblymen called by Speaker Sweet for tomorrow morning. The Senate, after a brief session today, adjourned to meet again at noon tomorrow. Should Speaker Sweet by that time have succeeded in whipping his Republican following in the Assembly into line for food control, the amended War Committee bill will be called up immediately for third reading in the Senate.

While every report brought to the Capitol indicates that all through the rural districts there is decided opposition to any food control legislation at all, the War Committee's bill was approved and accepted at a conference of Republican Senators this afternoon. Only twenty-three of the thirty-two Republican members of the upper house attended, but Senate Leader Elon R. Brown expressed the opinion after the conference that he would have no difficulty in lining up the necessary twenty-six votes for the bill.

So far as the Assembly is concerned Speaker Sweet has not yet been in a position to take an inventory of his strength. It is among the Republican assemblymen up-State, who must go back to their constituents for re-election this Fall, that the producers and middlemen have conducted their most vigorous campaign against regulation of the traffic in food.

The slim attendance at the extraordinary session of Republican Assemblymen from up State is taken in some quarters to be an indication that this campaign has not been altogether ineffective. All the Republican members of the Assembly were directed ,through telegrams signed by Speaker Sweet, to be in attendance at last night's session. Only a handful did attend, however. New telegraphic instructions directing their atendance today were sent out after last night's meeting, yet the Assembly was compelled to adjourn its session today without transacting any business, owing to slim attendance. Predictions are not lacking tonight that a third batch of telegrams, dispatched today, may prove ineffective, and that the services of the Sergeant at Arms may be required to bring the absentees to the Capitol in time for the final vote.

In the rural districts it appears to have been accepted as a certainty that the enactment of the pending Food Control bill will have as a corollary the appointment of George W. Perkins as head of the proposed Food Control Commission. The farmers, according to all reports brought to the Capitol, are opposed to Mr. Perkins even more strongly than they are to food control itself.

"If Mr. Perkins is named it will mean a fight on Governor Whitman among the farmers all along the line," said Samuel Fraser, who filed a formal protest against the appointment of Mr. Perkins yesterday on behalf of the Federation of Farm Bureaus in forty-seven strongly Republican counties, as well as on behalf of fruit growers and cold storage interests, powerful in the western part of the State. "We would accept General James W. Wadsworth, who is a farmer himself and understands our business. In fact, we do not care who is head of the commission, if a commission we must have, so long as it is not Perkins. His autocratic manners do not make any appeal among the farmers, who are willing to co-operate for the good of the State and nation, but are not willing to be regulated by Perkins."

To the protest filed by the Federation of Farm Bureaus was added today one from the New York Food Distributors' Association, which has among its membership the New York Produce Exchange, the Mercantile Exchange, the Butter and Egg Exchange, the Fruit Exchange, the New York Milk Dealers' Conference Board, the Retail Grocers' Association, and many other organizations whose members are engaged in the distribution of food products.

At the conference of Republican Senators today a proposal to eliminate from the bill the provision in Section 10 giving the State Food Control Commission power to inaugurate a system of licenses for cold storage warehouses and food distributing concerns was voted down, 20 to 3. A proposal to amend the bill so as to provide for a postponement of the State licensing plan until after the Federal Food Administrator had inaugurated such a system was carried by a majority so slight that it receded and permitted the existing provision to stand. A proposal to exempt profits of cold storage plants and food dealers from regulation was voted down.

The first bill passed by both houses at the extraordinary session was sent to the Governor today. It was a measure enabling officers and employes of the State or any of its political subdivisions to accept office and serve on exemption board without jeopardizing their positions in the public service. The bill was passed in the Assembly last week, and today the Senate concurred.

Governor Whitman was today filling a speaking engagement at Lake George, but is expected back tomorrow.

TO CONTROL WHEAT UNDER CORPORATION

Main Office of Government's Grain Organization to be Opened in New York.

The wheat business of the country will be regulated and controlled from a central office in New York. The machinery is to be set up on the seventeenth floor of 42 Broadway, where a suite occupying nearly the entire floor has been engaged. An unassuming gold-lettered sign above the door to the only entrance announces that within are the offices of "The Food Administration Wheat Corporation." About twenty men and women were at work there yesterday, the advance guard of about seventy-five who will comprise the office force.

The Wheat Administrator will be Julius H. Barnes, designated by Herbert C. Hoover as his chief assistant in matters relating to wheat. Mr. Barnes is in Washington, and it was said yesterday that he would come here when the office was organized and was ready to begin actual work, probably on Thursday. Mr. Barnes is a Minneapolis man, an authority on grains. He has lived in this city, having been a member of the wheat exporting firm of Ames, Barnes & Co.

Most of the office rooms have been furnished for it is said that the work of organizing the central office of the wheat corporation, which has been going on for two months, is practically complete. The furnishings might be described as plain but efficient. Besides the work offices there are a line of executive offices and a rather pretentious room that has been designated as the conference room. This room taken with the name "Wheat Corporation" painted over the door led to the belief that Mr. Hoover intended to organize his wheat control business as a corporation with Mr. Barnes as the head, and on much the same plan as the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The new office is to be the headquarters, and branch offices will be opened in every wheat centre of the country, including Minneapolis, Duluth, St. Louis, Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit, Portland, San Francisco, Galveston, New Orleans, Kansas City and Philadelphia. The branch offices will keep in close touch with the grain situation in the several districts, with field investigators to deal with wheat at the source of supply or export.

PROPOSE MILK INCREASE.

Certified Producers to Vote on Resolution to Advance Price to 25 Cents

Special to The New York Times.

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N. Y., Aug. 14.—A resolution calling for an increase in the price of certified milk to 25 cents a quart was presented at the meeting of the Certified Milk Producers' Association here today, and will be acted on tomorrow. The resolution reads in part: "This association believes that certified milk produced near centres of population should be advanced to 25 cents a quart, at which price it gives the cheapest food value in comparison with all other standard foods, and the smallest percentage of profit, for production and distribution, and there are no contractor or middleman profits."

The present price of certified milk is about 18 cents.

MONEY FOR MISSING GIRL.

Marie Smith, Gone Since May 12, 1916, Is Grandfather's Heir.

Captain Grant Williams, head of the Missing Persons Bureau at Police Headquarters, has been asked to find Marie Smith, 17 years old, who left her home, 352 West 117th Street, on May 12, 1916. A large fortune has since [illegible] her by her grandfather, who died in Dayton, Ohio. The police did not make public the amount.

The girl left to go to some point in Ohio, but never reached there. She was 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighed 120 pounds. She had brown eyes, dark brown hair, and a fair complexion. At the 117th Street address no one who could be reached last night knew of Marie Smith or her family. There was no available record at Police Headquarters of the person who reported Miss Smith's disappearance.

SENTENCED TO FIRING LINE.

Soldier Convicted of Bigamy Gets Chance to Serve in France.

Facing either prison or the trenches, Kenneth Shannon, 19 years old, of East Orange, N. J., a private in the New Jersey Field Artillery, after pleading guilty to bigamy, was sentenced to serve out his term on the fields of France by Judge Mulqueen in the Court of General Sessions yesterday. Before leaving for the Mexican border last Summer, Shannon married Miss Dorothy E. Bird of East Orange, and upon returning, he married again, the second wife being Lillian M. Smith of New York.

Shannon appeared before Judge Mulqueen yesterday in his uniform, and admitted that he had done wrong and that he ought to be punished. The Judge called to the stand his second wife and asked her whether she would rather see him in prison or in France.

"In France, by all means," replied the wife.

Judge Mulqueen agreed with her and, turning to the prisoner, said:

"There are so many cowards and slackers in this city that I have much respect for the man in uniform who volunteers at the call of his country. I suspend sentence on you and place you on probation. You may report with your rifle in France."

PICK HYLAN TO LEAD FIGHT ON MITCHEL

put over on him. He created the Democratic Fusion Committee and we all thought it was a master stroke to bring together all the elements opposed to the Mitchel administration. Murphy has watched the workings of the committee closely. Half a dozen of Murphy's closest advisers were on the committee, including 'Big Tom' Foley, Sheriff Smith, and Tom McAvoy. We figured that they would look out for the wigwam's interests. All the time we hoped that 'Al' Smith would be the man. It may be that the committee got completely away from Murphy and that he will be surprised to learn that Hylan was selected. It will be easy for Hylan to withdraw, and he may have been selected merely as a stalking horse. Judge Hylan has two weeks to withdraw, and it may be that Murphy is figuring on putting some one in his place at the last moment. I would not be surprised if that man was William R. Hearst.

"One thing is sure: If Murphy stands pat on Hylan, the Tammany organization will enter the Mayoralty fight all shot to pieces. The district organization may not revolt, but it will be lukewarm to the Tammany Mayoralty candidate. It looks to me as if Murphy had picked another Sulzer."

Three Considered for Controller.

The selection of Judge Hylan was made about 10 o'clock last night, after the Democratic Fusion Committee had been in session at its headquarters, 50 East Forty-second Street, for several hours. The Nominating Committee reported its choice earlier in the evening to the Executive Committee, of which J. J. O'Donohue is Chairman, and that committee, in turn, turned in its report to the full committee. At the meeting of the latter body some speeches were made in favor of Sheriff Smith and Thomas W. Churchill, former President of the Board of Education, but when it came to a vote the full committee was unanimous in choosing Judge Hylan. Likewise there was no opposition to the selection of Sheriff Smith for President of the Board of Aldermen or Frank L. Dowling for Borough President.

No action was taken on the candidate for Controller, but it was said that the committee has under consideration for this office the names of Nathan Hirsch, a well-known cotton dealer; Jesse O. Straus and Charles L. Craig, counsel to the West End Association.

For Sheriff the only name under consideration is that of H. Warren Hubbard, Tammany leader of the Twenty-eighth Assembly District, who is a prominent real estate operator, with offices in the Marbridge Building.

A vote taken in the Executive Committee during the afternoon, William F. Schneider, Chairman of the Democratic Fusion Committee, said, showed twelve members in favor of Hylan, to four for Hearst, four for Churchill, and one for Sheriff Smith. The prediction was freely made last night that Judge Hylan would withdraw within the next week or two, and that the names of either Sheriff Smith or William R. Hearst would be substituted.

Joseph Yeska, Chairman of the Business Men's League, made this comment last night upon the league's selection:

"The Business Men's League is highly gratified at the indorsement of its candidate, Judge Hylan. In presenting his name to the committee on Monday evening for its consideration, the league felt certain that it had in the Judge a candidate around whom the business interests of the city could rally."

Judge Hylan was born in Greene County of this State in 1868. He was graduated from the New York Law School in 1897. He has figured in Democratic politics in the city since 1905, when he was an unsuccessful candidate for Magistrate of the Municipal Court. In the next year Mayor McClellan appointed him a City Magistrate, and he served for two years and a half. At the expiration of the term he was appointed for a ten-year term. In March, 1914, he was appointed a County Judge of Kings County by Governor Glynn. In the next year he was elected to that office. He has always been a Democrat, and was President of the Allied Boards of Trade and Taxpayers' Association of Brooklyn, and also of the Brooklyn Municipal Ownership League.

HIGBEE NAMED FOR PRESIDENT OF QUEENS

Livingston Still Insists Cropsey Will Enter the Republican Primary.

At a meeting of the Republican Fusion Committee at the Hotel Manhattan last night Robert W. Higbie was chosen as the Fusion candidate for Borough President of Queens. The Queens situation has been giving the Fusion leaders considerable trouble, and at one time it was thought that Borough President Maurice Connolly would be nominated.

The trouble over the selection of a candidate for Register of New York County was also ironed out. The committee decided to select the incumbent, John J. Hopper. There was some opposition to Hopper, principally on the part of Daniel H. Jacobs, a labor member of the committee. He was in favor of Coroner Timothy Healy.

The Fusion leaders got a scare at the meeting when word was received from Brooklyn that Justice Cropsey had determined to stay in the Mayoralty race against Mayor Mitchel. Word to this effect was said to have been received from the secretary of Borough President Pounds of Brooklyn. It was said that Mr. Cropsey would make an announcement of his intention today. Jacob A. Livingston, chief promoter of the Cropsey boom, said yesterday that Mr. Cropsey was still very much in the race.

"I am for Cropsey," said Mr. Livingston. "I believe he will enter the primaries. If he runs against Mitchel in the primaries he will carry the greater city. We will then have the Fusion ticket and the other ticket, headed by Mayor Mitchel, will be the third ticket. Considerable Cropsey sentiment has developed in Manhattan, as well as in the other boroughs."

Mr. Livingston said he was not surprised at the announcement of State Controller Eugene M. Travis that he was for Mitchel, as it was considered all along that he was a Mitchel man.

105 INDICTED FOR RIOTS.

East St. Louis Officials Cowardly, Says Grand Jury.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Aug. 14.—Sixty-eight indictments against 105 persons, the charges including murder, arson, conspiracy, rioting, and assault with intent to murder, were returned today by the Grand Jury here which has been investigating the race riots in East St. Louis, July 1 to 3.

The report of the Grand Jury said: "We believe the riots, at least the occurrences which led up to them, were deliberately plotted. Indolent public officials heard the rumblings, but overawed by cowardly inclinations remained inactive.

"We have found it obligatory to indict a high police official. An attorney-at-law accused of making an inflammatory speech advocating mob violence has been summoned by an indictment to answer the charge.

"We believe that the riot was caused by a propaganda of intolerance which the races were taught to have for each other. During the last two years there has been an influx of negroes estimated at 8,000."

Regarding the employment of negroes at the aluminium works to take the places of white strikers, the report says:

"That employers abused this situation seems to us to be a warranted charge"

Fifth Child to J. L. Delafields.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Livingston Delafield are receiving congratulations upon the birth of their fifth child, a daughter, named Margaret Sloane Delafield, yesterday at their Summer home, Quogue Point, Westhampton Beach, L. I. The newcomer is a granddaughter of Prof. William Milligan Sloane and of Mr. and Mrs. Maturin Livingston Delafield.

EIGHT INDICTED AS SLAVERS

Prisoners Also Suspected of Being Involved in Loft Robberies.

An examination of the papers and letters which came into the possession of Assistant District Attorney Smith as the result of his arrest of a woman and five men who were alleged to have conducted an extensive white-slave traffic in the uptown section of Manhattan, showed yesterday that the trade was far more highly organized than even the authorities had suspected. After going through the papers and letters found on the persons of the alleged white slavers, Mr. Smith said he had ample proof to show that the gang had lured several hundred young women.

One of the prisoners is Al. Kutner, who, according to Assistant District Attorney Smith, is Abraham Branshansky, also known as Al. Boris. Branshansky and the other prisoners, Elizabeth Stone, Michael Latenza, Nathan Stosfky, Max Gore, and Irving Sirken were all indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday on a charge of conducting a white-slave traffic. Two other men were indicted in connection with the same enterprise, but their names were not made public as they had not yet been arrested. The members of the gang who are now in custody will be arraigned in the Court of General Sessions today.

On the basis of certain information received yesterday, Mr. Smith said he had come to the conclusion that the members of the same gang also devoted their energies to loft burglaries. Among the papers seized in their apartments he found many fictitious letters of recommendation, in which the writer, posing as a respectable business man, urged the prospective employer to welcome into his service some member of the gang. Through these trumped-up letters of recommendation, many of them written on the stationery of prominent business houses, the white slavers, according to Mr. Smith, obtained employment in mercantile houses where they could get a run of the stock and assist in robberies.

ISHII PLEDGES JAPAN IN WAR TO FINISH

Predicts "New Day Among Nations" When Struggle Shall Have Been Won.

HAILS UNION IN THE PACIFIC

"Mole Hills" Which Have Obstructed Understanding with America, He Says, Will Vanish.

A PACIFIC PORT, Aug. 14.—A new day among nations, in which Japan and America shall "forget the little mole hills that have been exaggerated into mountains to bar our good relations," and "march together, work together, and fight together as comrades," was pledged here tonight by Viscount K. Ishii, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the United States.

Heading the special Japanese mission, Viscount Ishii spoke for his Government at a dinner given to him by this municipality. The Viscount was presented by Gavin McNab, an attorney sent from ashington to arrange the reception of the mission, and by the Governor of the State and the Mayor of the city. The Ambassador said:

"We come to you at the dawning of a new day. As individuals we have no right to expect to find place at this busy time of preparation. But we come as the humble representatives of the gracious sovereign of a friendly and loyal nation, and we say that we know well that performance, not profession, deeds not words, sacrifices, not selfishness, are the requisites of the hour.

"Your Goal Is Our Goal."

"Our message is that in this day, through its hours of shadow or of sunshine, your purpose is our purpose, your road our road, and your goal our goal. It is that America and Japan will march together, work together, and fight together as comrades until the end has been reached and the victory won in the struggle which involves our rights and our liberties.

"It is for that—and I take the liberty of using the thought of your great President, Abraham Lincoln—in order that each of us may enjoy an open field and a fair chance for our industry, enterprise, and intelligence that the struggle must be maintained; that we may not lose our birthright—the right of humanity.

"We are here to say that in this tremendous struggle for those rights and liberties, America and Japan are bound together; that when the victory of the allied forces is secure, America and Japan should so live that your sons and our sons will have a certainty of good neighborhood; so live that no word or deed of either can be looked upon with suspicion; that venomous gossip, hired slander, sinister intrigue and influence, of which we have both been the victims, can in future only serve to bring us closer together for mutual protection and for the common welfare.

Will Safeguard the Pacific.

"The importance of this co-operation was brought home to us particularly as we voyaged safely and pleasantly across the Pacific Ocean. We must indeed have assurance of good order in our neighborhood. We cannot, either of us, take risks. It becomes the first duty of Japan and America to guard the Pacific and to insure safe, continuous intercourse between Asia and the United States, to see to it that the ships of the ferocious pirates whose crimes upon the high seas can never be palliated find no shelter in the waters of our seas.

"It is for us together to continue to enforce respect for law and humanity upon the Pacific, from which the German menace was removed at the commencement of the war. Had this not been so, had the barbarian of Europe not been rooted from his Oriental bases, the shuddering horrors of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean would today be a grim reality on the Pacific. In the protection of our sea-going merchandise and men, in safeguarding the pleasures of intercourse, you may count on us as we must count on you.

"In the dawning of this new day of stress and strain let us forget the little molehills that have been exaggerated into mountains to bar our good relations. Let us see together with a clearer vision the pitfalls dug by a cunning enemy in our path, let us together fix our eyes upon the star of principle which shall lead us together most surely to a participation in the triumph of the right, to a certain victory in the greatest and, let us hope, the last great war in human history.

"And when that victory shall have been won let us together help in the upbuilding of a new world, which shall rise, fair and strong and beautiful, from the ashes of the old."

Army and Navy Greetings.

The speakers' table was dotted with uniforms. High officers of the American Army sat in khaki with Major Gen. Hisaichi Sugano, and naval officers in blue surrounded Vice Admiral T. Takeshita, the ranking army and navy representatives on the mission. The State Department delegation was headed by Breckinridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary.

Late in the afternoon General Sugano had his first glimpse of American troops in force when he reviewed 6,000 soldiers and sailors with Major Gen. Hunter Liggett, commanding the Western Department of the Army. At the end of the review he said:

"They are splendid troops. It has been a pleasure to see them."

An excursion into the surrounding country and a visit to a large encampment of troops are on the commission's program for tomorrow.

BLOWS AND BALL GAME MINGLE AS GIANTS AND ROBINS MEET AT POLO GROUNDS

GIANTS SPLIT EVEN IN RIOT AND GAMES

Stengel and Fletcher Fight a Draw After All Players Enter Polo Grounds Mixup.

HOME RUNS PREVALENT

Six Circuit Blows Pounded While New York and Brooklyn Divide Double-Header.

A full-grown riot broke out at the Polo Grounds yesterday while the Giants and the Dodgers were mingling in a double-header, and before the pugilistic conflagration was under control, the players were behaving like a crowd of duly qualified members of the I. W. W. The scrap was hatched in the sixth inning of the second game, when Casey Stengel romped into Fletcher at second base with his spikes gleaming. Fletcher assumed that Casey intentionally tried to cut him down, so in a jiffy Stengel and Fletcher were merrily mixing it up.

From both the New York and the Brooklyn benches the players rushed out to the sector of hostilities. It wasn't a private fight; everybody got in it. Herzog tried to get between the two players, who were trying their best to embarrass each other with kicks and blows, and naturally Heinie Zim wasn't the last man on the scene. Stengel was waving his arms around like a Dutch windmill, but his aim was bad. As each player came between the warring athletes, each was duly greeted with a cuff on the ear, until the number of peacemakers became so large that the rebellion was put down.

Interest in the game halted, and the 15,000 excited fans cheered as they watched the mêlée. Somewhere in the mob were Umpires Harrison and O'Day spreading peace doctrine as fast as possible. Both Fletcher and Stengel were put out of the game. They were informed that if they wanted to fight there were plenty of chances in Europe.

When the fight on the field ceased it was taken up in the stands. There were those who believed that Fletcher was the aggrieved party, while others opined that Stengel was the innocent party. A couple of side scraps started, one back of the Brooklyn bench and one back of the Giants rathskeller. Those in the crowd who possessed level heads concluded that in a fracas of this kind there is no innocent party. They're all guilty.

Home-Run Epidemic Spreads.

The brawl was only one incident in an epidemic of home runs which raged during the double header. Brooklyn seemed bent on substantiating the rumor which is prevalent that they are the champions of the league, and again they broke even on the day's booty. New York won the first game, 5 to 4, while Brooklyn won the second game, 3 to 1.

Half a dozen home runs kept the fielders on the hop during the twin bill. In the first game Krueger and Stengel slammed homers for the Dodgers and Zimmerman and Herzog got excursion drives for the Giants. The hit by Krueger cleared the fence back of the left-field bleachers and landed, limp and exhausted, on the tracks of Mr. Shonts's elevated road. The only other clip of recent years which has cleared that fence was negotiated by Fred Merkle a few seasons ago. He sent the ball through one of the car windows and it got a ride down as far as South Ferry.

In the second game homers were pummeled by Jake Daubert and Heinie Zim. That's two in one day for Heinie, and the occasion was duly celebrated last night in the Bronx.

Rube Marquard was on his best pitching behavior in the second game and Zim's homer was the only damage imposed on his twirling. Jeff Tesreau did some pretty good pitching himself, but the few bangs of the Dodgers were neatly bunched. In the fourth, with one gone, Daubert singled and advanced on Myers's out at first. Stengel then got a pass. Jimmy Johnston singled to centre, scoring Daubert, Stengel going to third. Johnston and Stengel attempted a double steal, and Stengel was declared out for interference when he stuck up his hand and tried to prevent the ball reaching Zimmerman. That didn't make Stengel any too popular with those present.

Daubert Chases Olson Home.

Marquard opened the sixth with a single to left centre and Olson forced. Daubert then clouted the ball into the right-field stand, and Olson trotted home ahead of him. After Hy Myers skied to Robertson, Stengel was hit by one of Jeff Tesreau's rampant curves. Stengel was as mad as a hornet, and accused Tesreau of hitting him intentionally. Tesreau tried to catch Stengel napping off first and his throw went past Holke, and Stengel started for second. Holke recovered the ball quickly and got it to Fletcher, who stood there and tagged Stengel out. Stengel went into second as if he was trying to break the broad-jump record, and his spikes flirted dangerously with parts of Fletcher's anatomy.

Then came the blow-off with Fletcher going at Stengel with hands and feet, while Stengel came back for more. Soon second base was densely populated with belligerent ball players. Both the Brooklyn and New York managers stood off at one side out of range and looked terribly shocked at the deportment of their boys.

In the first game the Giants played a scrappy up-hill fight and beat Colby Jack Coombs, the Kennebunk Express. Coombs wandered back and forth to the bench with a forlorn look as if he had lost his last friend. Coombs used to beat the Giants every time he walked out to the box, but it's different now. Ferdie Schupp pitched the first game for the Giants, but he was slammed as hard as Coombs. His flinging isn't such a mystery as it used to be.

All in all, and taking it this way and that, it was a tough afternoon on the nerves. The Giants and Dodgers are just as fond of each other as a couple of rattlesnakes. If the teams had many more games to play, it would be necessary to muzzle the players, that's all. The Donneybrook fair was like Aunt Dinah's quilting party compared with yesterday's affair.

Herzog and Zim Perform.

The home-run riot broke loose in the Giants' half of the first game. With one out, Herzog welted the ball into the left-field bleachers, and after Kauff popped to O'Rourke Zimmerman pumped another homer into deep left centre. In the second Stengel was safe on Herzog's error and Johnston skied to Fletcher. Hickman jammed a long drive to right, scoring Stengel, but when Hickman tried to stretch the poke into a homer he expired at the plate, Robertson to Herzog to Gibson.

The Dodgers tied the score in the third when Ernie Krueger lambasted a homer over the left-field bleachers on to the elevated tracks.

Burns opened the Giants' section of the third with a single to centre, and went to third on Herzog's slam to left. Kauff bounded a freak single off Coombs's anatomy, and Burns scored.

With two out in the sixth, Casey Stengel tied the score for Brooklyn with a home-run wallop to the bull pen in deepest right.

Brooklyn took the lead in the eighth, when Olson doubled to right centre, went to third on Daubert's sacrifice, and scored on Hy Myers's single to left. The Giants won the game in their half of the same chapter. Herzog singled to left and Kauff bounded a single over O'Rourke's head. Zim coaxed both along with a sacrifice, and when Hickman lost Fletcher's drive in the sun Herzog and Kauff raced over the plate with the victory.

YANKS STILL TRAVEL ON DOWNWARD TRAIL

Lose Twice to Senators—Defeat at 10 to 1 in Second Game Is Worst of Season.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—The Yankees' losing streak ran up to its seventh notch this afternoon when Donovan's men hooked up in a double header with the Senators. The home team took both ends of the twin bill, winning the opening clash by the close figures of 1 to 0, and walking away with the second game by the one-sided score of 10 to 1. The latter is the worst setback the Yanks have suffered all season.

Brilliant pitching by George Mogridge and Jim Shaw featured the opener and the game probably would have gone into extra chapters but for a fumble by Peck with two out in Washington's half of the eighth inning. The teams were deadlocked without either being able to score when the Senators began their turn at bat in the eighth. With one out Shaw rolled to Baumann and the ball hopped away from the Yankee second baseman as he stooped to field it. Judge followed with a hard grounder to Pipp and the latter threw to Peck at second, forcing Shaw.

Then came the disastrous fumble by Peckinpaugh. First he foozled Shanks's grounder, then made a quick recovery, and might have gotten the runner at first and retired the side, but he threw low and wide, the ball rolling to the grand stand. Judge raced around to third on the misplay, but Shanks played it safe and hugged first base. Then he started to steal and Walters's fine peg to Peck at second turned him back. While the Yanks were engaged in running Shanks up and down the base line, Judge made a dash for the plate. Baumann made a poor return, the ball being low and a trifle late, and Judge went over with the only run of the game.

The second game was a cakewalk for the home team. Nick Cullop, whose pitching effectiveness seems to have almost entirely disappeared, got the assignment from Donovan to oppose Walter Johnson, and the Senators pounded the offerings of the Chilhowie southpaw to all sections of the meadow. After the Griffmen finished up the second inning with a five-run lead for Johnson there was nothing in doubt except the size of the score. Donovan realized that it was useless to waste another pitcher on a lost cause, so let Nick stay a while longer and take his medicine. But Cullop got so bad that he was finally taken out after eleven hits, several for extra bases, had produced nine runs. Slim Love finished up the game and distinguished himself by getting two strikeouts per inning for each of the three innings that he worked.

The Yankees' lone run of the afternoon was made possible by a pinch hitter. Caldwell hit for Cullop in the sixth and tripled to right, scoring on a single by Hendryx. Peckinpaugh injured his right arm in the second inning while making a play on Ainsmith at second, and later he gave way to Aaron Ward, the young shortstop from Charleston. The youngster got one of the few hits made by the Yankees off Johnson. It was Johnson's seventh consecutive victory.

BENEFIT FOR 69TH SUNDAY.

Cubs and Giants to Play Game for Families of Soldiers.

For the purpose of raising money to take care of the dependent relatives of the men of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, a concert will be held at the Polo Grounds on Sunday, and at the conclusion of the musical program the Giants and Cubs will play a championship game. This affair was originally scheduled for a date in July, but rain caused its postponement.

The Sixty-ninth is at present awaiting orders to proceed to France, where it is certain that they will be sent with the first division of National Guardsmen selected for foreign service.

The regiment will come in from Mineola, where it is encamped for the event, and will march across the field before the concert. Many talented performers will appear.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 14.—It was announced today that Price McKinney of Cleveland had sold his interest in the Wyckliffe Stable and the Kingston Stud to his business partner and former associate in racing, James E. Corrigan, who also hails from Cleveland.

The horses in future will be raced in the name of Mr. Corrigan, who will retain the colors made famous by the Dwyer brothers. Mr. McKinney, who is the senior partner, is best known to the New York public but there is every indication that Mr. Corrigan, who is now at Saratoga, will take a most active interest in the sport.

J. W. Parrish's Three-Year-Old Makes Impressive Showing by Winning Saranac.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 14.—Another contender for three-year-old laurels developed today when J. W. Parrish's Midway galloped home four lengths in front of the second horse in the Saranac Handicap at a mile. Not extended at any stage of the journey, Midway won as he pleased, completing the mile in 1:39 2-5, a smart performance considering that he carried 118 pounds and was in receipt of weight from only Tom McTaggart and Ticket.

The Saranac has been won by many noted thoroughbreds, the latest three to capture the event being Stromboli, Regret, and Dodge. August Belmont's Hourless was among the eligibles today, but he is still being reserved for a decisive encounter with Omar Khayyam.

From the start of the race Midway showed himself a different horse to the one that finished behind Omar Khayyam in the Kenner Stakes earlier in the meeting. He danced out in front of the field and seemed to say, "Come on and catch me" to the good racers behind him. With Midway three lengths in the lead in the back stretch Corn Tassel, Hollister, Columbine, and Crank were in a close bunch, effectually shutting in Tom McTaggart, while Ticket, a slow beginner, was in last place.

Hollister drew clear going around the turn, but Johnny McTaggart on Corn Tassel found a path next the rail, and in the race along the stretch did his best to get on even terms with Midway. There was little chance for this, as Midway was galloping and won by four lengths, with Corn Tassel finishing second, a length and a half in front of Hollister.

Though three favorites won, there were two or three good things which spelled disaster for the form players. In the first race Yankee Notions was served up as the real thing, and was made a 7 to 5 favorite in a field of a dozen platers. The old gelding was never in the hunt, and only two of the field finished behind him. There was a desperate finish among the leaders, the skill of Troxler landing J. T. Looney's Othello first by a nose, with Barsac a nose in front of Ting-a-Ling.

J. E. Widener triumphed when he sent Louvers out for the steeplechase. Louvers closed favorite over James MacManus's Curraghleen, and, perfectly ridden by Barrett Haynes, won by a length and a half from Ral Parr's Captain Parr. Curraghleen was a contender until two jumps from home, when he nearly threw his rider.

The second success for the Widener stables was in the last event, a mile for maidens on the flat. It was scored by Kilts II., an imported son of Macdonald II., that met with much interference and won so decisively that he is likely to be heard from later.

STRENGTH IN DRAW OF TENNIS SINGLES

Sixty-four Players Entered for National Tournament at Forest Hills.

The draw for the national singles tennis tournament, which will begin at Forest Hills next Monday, with many of the foremost players of the country competing, was made yesterday at the office of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association. The tournament is a substitute for the national singles championship of other seasons, and because of war conditions the entry is not as large as usual. However, there are sixty-four entrants for the event, which is being held in aid of the ambulance fund of the tennis association.

A perusal of the draws shows the names of many of the most prominent contestants of a year ago. How well the tennis players have responded to the call in aid of the ambulance fund is shown by the entry of six of last year's select first ten—Richard Norris Williams, 2d, of Boston, Robert Lindley Murray of Niagara Falls, Joseph J. Armstrong, Peck Griffin, Watson M. Washburn, and Dean Mathey. Murray and Mathey are in the upper half, and with them are such other prominent players as Theodore Roosevelt Pell, William T. Tilden, Frederick B. Alexander, John R. Strachan, Charles S. Garland, and Karl H. Behr.

If anything, there is even greater strength in the lower half, for here are the names of four first ten men—Griffin, Washburn, Armstrong, and the national singles champion, Williams. Others in this half are S. Howard Voshell, the national indoor champion; Harold Throckmorton, N. W. Niles, Fred C. Baggs, Malcolm D. Whitman, and Leonard Beekman.

The first and second round matches of the event will be played Monday.

The draw follows:

BETTER TENNIS AT BOSTON.

Alexander and Throckmorton Defeat Whitman Brothers in Doubles.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 14.—The second day's play in the Longwood national doubles tournament brought out much better tennis than was seen yesterday. The matches in the men's doubles were well contested, but the women's singles were one-sided, with Misses Bjurstedt and Browne having easy victories. Miss Bjurstedt took two love sets in her match with Mrs. Robert Williams and Miss Zinderstein won only two games against Miss Browne. In the mixed doubles Miss Eleonora Sears and J. A. Strachan, the Californian, won after three sets from Miss Marion Zinderstein and H. A. Throckmorton, the score being 4—6, 6—2, 6—2.

The Whitman brothers were beaten in four sets by Alexander and Throckmorton, at 6—2, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1. Strachan and Inman, playing together in doubles, did not exert themselves to win from Lowrey and Bretz, although the match was a long one, two of the sets going to deuce. The score was 10—8, 6—4, 6—4. Pell and Niles worked together admirably against the Reggios, losing only two games in the opening set and taking the succeeding sets at love.

The summaries:

Men's Doubles. — Second Round. — Alexander and Throckmorton defeated Whitman and Whitman, 6—2, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1; Bishop and Mahan defeated Sheafe and Andrews, 6—2, 6—4, 6—3; Strachan and Inman defeated Lowrey and Bretz, 10—8, 6—4, 6—4; Johnson and Wright won from Winchey and Keaney by default; Baggs and Voshell defeated Abbot and Beals, 7—5, 6—1, 8—6; Niles and Pell defeated Reggio and Reggio, 6—2, 6—0, 6—0.

The London Busses—those famous vehicles of prodigious work—have sleeve-valve motors.

More and more, as the greater reliability, greater general "healthiness" and longer service of this type of motor is more fully realised, they are found in cars where continuous service and low final cost are of great consequence.

These same advantages—better service, more continuous service, longer service and lower final cost are inherent in the Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor.

And these advantages are tremendously well worth while in your car.

THE POPE'S PEACE PROPOSAL.

Under the terms of peace proposed by Pope BENEDICT Germany would take her place at the council table of the peace conference with all her lost colonies restored, exempt from every demand for reparation for the ruin she has wrought, secure in the possession of all her territory, save that the future of Alsace-Lorraine would be left to the determination of the conference, and the German Empire would still be under the sway of that autocratic Government which President WILSON said "could not be trusted to keep faith" within a league of peace or to observe its covenants. Except for the express provision that Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania are to be set free and the occupied territory of France evacuated, we find in these Roman terms not one of those conditions of peace which the Allies have repeatedly and with the utmost emphasis declared to be essential, indispensable. On the other hand, we recognize the conditions which it has been long known would be acceptable to the Central Empires, excepting only the proposed submission to the peace conference of the questions of Alsace-Lorraine, the Trentino, Trieste, and Poland.

The very high respect and esteem which the Allies and all the nations of the world have for the head of the Roman Catholic Church will insure an attentive and serious consideration of this appeal for peace, but in any forecast of the nature of the reply of the Allies it becomes necessary to consider how far the preliminary conditions of peace proposed by Pope BENEDICT are in agreement with the reiterated declarations of the allied Governments. We shall find that on the 29th of July the British Foreign Secretary, Mr. A. J. BALFOUR, said that the fight must go on, "for if this war ended with a German peace, that would only be a prelude to a new European war"; until Germany was either made powerless or free, he did not think the peace of Europe could be secured. We shall learn that the British Prime Minister, DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, said on the 4th of August, speaking of the German Emperor, that "so far he has not learned the alphabet of peace, not the first letter of that alphabet. 'Restoration' that is the first letter, then we will talk." We shall be obliged to recall practically the whole of that great document, so important in the making of the world's history, the address of the President of the United States to Congress on April 2, of which it is sufficient here to quote that significant sentence, "the world must be made safe for democracy," and the passage in which the President declared that in such a Government as Germany now has "we can never have a friend, and that in the presence of its organized power, always lying in wait to accomplish we know not what purpose, there can be no security for the democratic Governments of the world." These expressions are in full accord with statements many times made by the French Prime Minister in declaring the purposes his Government had in view in the prosecution of the war.

It does not require the gift of prophecy, therefore, to foresee and predict that the conditions of peace which his Holiness, sincerely desiring that the ravages of war may speedily be brought to an end, has mercifully offered to the consideration of the world will not, without material modifications and additions, be deemed acceptable by the allied Governments. Peace negotiations are usually divided into two parts, the preliminaries, that is, the agreed statement of fundamental conditions with which the belligerents enter the peace conference, and the terms of the peace treaty itself, embodying those detailed adjustments which can be reached only through a face-to-face discussion. In his suggestion of the preliminaries, the Pope includes the restoration of Belgium, Serbia, and Rumania, upon which, of course, the Allies would insist, but he includes also in his plan of restorations the return to Germany of all her colonies taken from her during the war, to which most certainly the Allies will not consent. But the Vatican leaves for "peaceful solution" the vital questions of the restoration to France of Alsace-Lorraine, of Trent and Trieste to Italy, and the destiny of Poland. It is certain that from the point of view of the Allies the proposals of the Pope would have a vastly more favorable reception if these restorations were included in the preliminary terms, agreed upon before the conference met, for we may be assured that neither Italy nor France will be disposed to make peace until they have regained their lost provinces. Moreover, the retention of these territories by Germany and by Austria would be a perpetual menace to the peace of the world. And how should Poland be treated? Certainly the Allies will not be content that the "independent" Kingdom of Poland established by Germany and under German influence shall be accepted as the happy solution of the Polish problem. By proposing the immediate restoration of all enemy territory now occupied on both sides, his Holiness leaves quite untouched the really fundamental problems of war, the all-important conditions of peace.

Of the awful bloodshed, the costs, and the horrors of war, the whole world has grown so weary that the Allies assuredly will not let this opportunity pass without making faithful use of it to reach, if possible, some understanding that will open the way to peace. Unmistakably it is a peace overture, and it comes from the Teutonic Powers. It would not be venturesome to assume that Austria, exhausted, distressed, knowing that nothing but peace, and peace very soon, can save her from ruin, has made her appeal to the Vatican for help. A step so important as that she would not have taken without consulting Berlin. The recent activities of the Catholic Centre Party of the Reichstag and the utterances of ERZBERGER, with certain manifestations in Catholic South Germany, tend to confirm the belief that the Imperial Government at Berlin was consulted, and the nature of the proposals now made gives ground for the belief that its assent was not withheld. Germany, too, more earnestly than at any moment since the beginning of the war, under the compelling pressure of a sterner necessity, desires peace. She has been amazed and appalled by our coming into the war, by our swift preparations to make our entry decisive in the conflict. She is alarmed by our embargo upon exports to neutral Powers, for that is going to deprive her of food supplies, without which mere privation will soon develop into starvation for her people. Her man-power is diminished, her morale is seriously impaired, her means and her power to continue the war have undergone serious diminution. She wants peace. The terms now proposed, it will be readily seen, are not materially different from the terms more than once proposed by VON BETHMANN HOLLWEG. They come now in form from a source that permits and invites counter terms. The opportunity is open to the Allies to set forth their own preliminaries; in their reply to Pope BENEDICT they can lay down the conditions of a preliminary agreement under which they would consent to enter a peace conference. The Pope will be in a position to put the conditions before the Central Powers. Their answer, in turn, will be a measure of their sincerity in asking or permitting the Vatican to make peace proposals. They will give to the Allies the information which they must have before any peace conference can meet, whether Germany is now ready to make peace upon terms which will assure its continuance, which will be a guarantee for Europe and for the world that democracy is to be safe. There can be no German peace. That Germany and Austria must understand from the very beginning. There can be no peace that will leave Germany free to "begin again."

GERMAN TRUTH VINDICATED AGAIN.

The official German passion for the truth is an antique virtue whereof a world of cables is not worthy. The "semi-official" Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung printed yesterday the denial of the existence of the telegram "alleged" by former Ambassador GERARD to have been sent by the Kaiser to Mr. WILSON in August, 1914, when Belgium's neutrality "had to be violated by Germany on strategic grounds," as the Kaiser delicately put it. There was no such telegram, the semi-official sage was "in a position to state."

The Kaiser gave an audience to Mr. GERARD on Aug. 10, 1914, so that Mr. WILSON's offer of mediation might be placed before him. The Emperor could only have heard it read, he declined it with thanks, as inopportune, in circumstances of strategic violation, and politely waived the friendly offer to a more convenient season. The Emperor conversed with Mr. GERARD, explained to him how the war was brought about, "particularly pointed out the ambiguous and disloyal attitude" of ever perfidious Albion, "which had destroyed all hope of a peaceful agreement." Mr. GERARD's "statements in his memoirs appear to be a reproduction of this conversation." Still, the Kaiser may have written a memorandum during the conversation, to check any inaccuracy in Mr. GERARD's report to Washington. In that case it was only a guard against Mr. GERARD's inaccuracy when he reported to Washington. No message was sent by the Kaiser to Mr. WILSON.

So German Truth, from her antique well. How disconcerting to her worshippers to find, in the same newspaper with the denial, the official text of the Kaiser's communication in writing of Aug. 10, 1914. It sounds like lèse-majesté to read that some changes had to be made in the text by the imperial pen. Thus the message is, as Mr. GERARD has printed it, the strategic violation, the curious theory of King GEORGE's powers and all.

Seldom is the German official devotion to the truth checked up so swiftly.

SINN FEIN AND THE POLICE.

A meeting of members of the so-called Friends of Irish Freedom was in progress at a Broadway corner Monday night. It met under police license. That license was interpreted by the speakers and the police as a license to emit treason. An American citizen, a member of the National Defense Council, heard a speaker denounce our ally Great Britain, denounce the United States, call WASHINGTON and FRANKLIN "greater traitors than ROGER CASEMENT," the German tool. The American citizen justly resented this seditious and disloyal harangue. He tried to break up the meeting. It was his right and duty.

The policeman who should have silenced and arrested the utterers of disloyal sentiments arrested the man who was guilty of talking and acting as a loyal American. He was taken to a station house, charged with disturbing the peace. The outflow of anti-Americanism was allowed to go on unchecked. The patriot was to be punished. The advocate of Germany was protected by the police.

The patriot was honorably discharged by the Magistrate before whom he was brought, who asked the policeman why he had not arrested the seditious speaker. The policeman replied that he had acted under the instructions of the Sergeant in charge of the policing of the meeting. The Magistrate advised the patriotic citizen to take the matter up with Police Commissioner WOODS. That competent and patriotic official may be trusted to deal justly and severely with this or any other manifestation by the police of sympathy with or failure to suppress public seditious speeches.

Under one cloak or another, Germany is encouraged and the United States opposed and derided at public meetings. If the policemen who heard the treasonable talk at this meeting of the friends of Germany who call themselves Friends of Irish Freedom don't know treason when they hear it, their intellectual density is hopeless. They should be removed for crass stupidity. If, fully understanding, they willfully protected it and deliberately sought to punish the patriot and protect the traitors, their behavior is infinitely worse. In either case, they are intolerable in the Police Department. New York will not permit members of the police to coddle Sinn Feinism. Fighting against Germany, the United States will not endure the transportation here of the reckless and shameless German sideshow now having its brief hour in Ireland. Over here Sinn Feinism will not be allowed to cover a German propaganda, a German purpose. If Great Britain can not or will not repress her traitors, we shall repress ours. We have nothing to do with an Irish "freedom" that means vassalage to Germany. We are fighting for the freedom of the United States.

If there is any police backing of these anti-British, anti-American, pro-German promoters of disloyalty, under whatever sounding name they strive to hide, the Police Commissioner should smash it at once and utterly.

A LOAN AND TAX PROGRAM.

The series of articles which Mr. LOREE, President of the Delaware & Hudson Railway, is contributing to THE TIMES convey both practical and theoretical suggestions regarding a program for apportioning the expenses of the war between loans and taxes. The portion published today includes a study of the practice of England and Germany, representing the extreme of taxation and the extreme of borrowing respectively. Apparently England has raised nearly a quarter of its expenses by taxation. But the total giving that proportion includes ordinary expenses, loans to allies, and interest on debt, which last obviously is not used against the enemy in the field. With these corrections it appears that in 1916 England's credit bore 92.52 per cent. of war expenditure and taxes less than 8 per cent. However, these burdens are not lifted from the taxpayer, and it may be reckoned that England's proportion of taxation is 15 per cent. Mr. LOREE does not estimate the burden upon the population of the unexpectedly small per cent. of taxation. Within a day or two Lord ROBERT CECIL has supplied this factor. He says "taxation per head in Great Britain has increased from less than $16 a year before the war to $61 yearly at present."

If the British percentage of taxation is smaller than has been thought, its incidence is so severe as to raise doubts about an increase without distress. The British reputation for tenacity is shown in Mr. LOREE's statement of the consistency with which the rate of taxation is sustained and the general participation of the nation in its loans. A participation of 4,000,000 subscribers to the Liberty Loan was rightly thought remarkable for us with our 100,000,000 population. But England's last loan was taken by 8,000,000 subscribers out of a population less than half ours. Germany's proportion of loan takers is smaller than England's, as well as its proportion of taxation. In a population larger than England's by half, its last loan was taken by only 7,063,347 subscribers. German financial reports are not so full as England's, but its policy is known to be not even to tax Germans for interest. For that reliance was placed upon indemnities. Mr. LOREE states that more than three-quarters of the war credits voted by the Reichstag has been raised by loans. The rest is debited to floating debt, so far as the world knows. A formidable part of this debt is in the most vicious form, paper money. Over this there hang clouds of mystery, but the depression in mark exchange tells the story sufficiently. Our burden of taxation in the civil war was nothing to us compared with the ruin of our credit by juggling with the value of the dollar. Germany has this experience before it as the result of its shirking of taxes. During our civil war we borrowed $2,621,000,000 and raised by taxes $667,000,000. Our proportion of taxes was about one-fifth.

Mr. LOREE argues that not all that can be taken in taxation should be so taken. There should be left a margin for safety and increase in the event that the war should be prolonged. Peace would bring to England lower taxes. Germany is prostrate in depression before she has begun to levy taxes, excessive loans having mortgaged the future irretrievably. On the other hand, the advantage of use of the borrowing power, jointly with discreet taxation, is that even patriots respond more liberally to persuasion than to compulsion. Rewards are better than penalties, and > patriotic impulse to purchase a bond will make deeper inroads upon the property of almost any citizen and retain its efficiency much longer than realization of the patriotic duty to submit to grinding taxation.

If too much of the national resources is taken by taxation the result is depression in corresponding degree. If all war costs were paid by taxation all activities except war's would be stopped. When a nation stops its growth it begins to die. Even in these billion-dollar days it is possible to say that there is not yet in sight the total which the United States could not raise to meet all visible demands, provided only that the nation's income is not stopped by drying up the source.

THE JAPANESE MISSION.

The Japanese Mission to the United States, headed by the illustrious diplomatist, Viscount ISHII, Ambassador Extraordinary, has had in San Francisco the cordial welcome it is sure of in every part of the United States. Japan, our old friend of more than sixty years, is now fighting by our side. The members of the mission come, as Viscount ISHII says, "as allies in a common cause." As such, and at this time, the Americans greet them and their nation with especially hearty good wishes. The questions between the two countries will ultimately be settled right, and call only for a little forbearance on both sides and an understanding by each of the position of the other. These matters can be postponed. While the war lasts, and until its great objects have been attained by the Allies, such differences disappear in the momentous common interest and comradeship of nations banded to abate the German danger to the world.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Waiving and Claiming Exemptions.

In words characteristically clear, and to be called cold or judicial according to preference, the Chairman of the local district board has formulated the principle on which he and his associates will, and the members of every other such board should, act in dealing with appeals from the decisions of the original examiners. "It is the interest of the nation solely," said Mr. HUGHES, "that must be subserved. The interest of the individual or of associations of individuals cannot be considered except where such interests coincide with the interests of the nation." And his conclusion expressed the same thought: "The national interest is the cardinal point to be regarded by this board, and we must bear in mind that we have nothing whatever to do with anything else."

The sooner that is thoroughly understood the better, for one reason because its thorough understanding will lead to a realization on the part of thousands and thousands of drafted men who now contemplate an attempt to evade service that in doing so they will be wasting their own time, which is of some importance, and the time of the district boards, which is of much more. The decisions of the local boards would have been accepted in a much greater number of cases—probably in almost all where real mistakes had not been made—if the phrases "waiving exemption" and "claiming exemption" had not received an amount of official recognition wholly undeserved by them. The unfortunate consequence is that there has become widespread in the public mind an impression that according as a man claimed or waived exemption he would or would not be enrolled in the national army. For this assumption no real basis has ever existed, but it was created and it will be hard to remove.

It cannot be too often or too emphatically stated that enrollment depends, not upon what the drafted man thinks or wants, but upon his physical qualifications, the nature of his work and his relation to it, and degree of dependency on him of his close relatives. These are matters of fact, not of opinion or personal feeling, and if only a truthful presentation of the facts had been expected or accepted from the potential recruit, the process of enrollment would have been much simplified. Also, no invidious distinction between the man who waives exemption and the man who does not would have arisen to trouble us in the future.

Utilizing Scientific Possibilities.

It is encouraging to see in so many directions an inclination or determination to utilize in creating our new armies and in caring for them after they are created the facilities which modern science provides for putting the right men in the right places and for keeping altogether out of those armies men whose peculiarities are such as to make them an element of weakness, not of strength. A notable illustration of this change from the days when the military officer scorned the civilian expert as a faddist and resented his advice as impudent meddling is to be seen in the fact that our recruits, in addition to the regular physical examination, are to be subjected to tests by psychiatrists and neurologists in order to discover betimes whether or not they are likely to endure mental as well as bodily strains.

This is something quite new—a development of the present war, and the thing is to be done more systematically here, seemingly, than in any of the other belligerent countries. The advantages thus to be derived are real and they are important. Cowardice, for example, has hitherto been regarded as a vice, more or less amenable to the will, and, when proved against a soldier, it was punished as a crime. Now it is numbered among the constitutional defects, and the idea of personal responsibility for it, though not yet entirely eliminated, has been much weakened. It is viewed as a factor in a general neurosis or psychosis, sometimes remediable and sometimes not.

No longer must the coward remain undiscovered until he manifests his peculiarity in camp or battle, for there are ways of detecting it while he is under examination as a recruit, and he can then be rejected just as he would be if he were too short, or under weight, or had a bad heart, or was infected with tuberculosis. And he as well as his country profits from this, for he becomes an object of commiseration rather than of the old contempt, and he is not asked to do work which he is unable to perform. In other days, indeed, he was almost sure, sooner or later, to be stood up against a wall and shot. That method was not entirely without advantage to the race, as it helped to eliminate an undesirable strain, but this was an advantage that was too often secured at a dangerously great cost of lives of fellow-soldiers who had depended on the coward's doing an allotted task.

A Difficult Problem Confronts Us.

If, as is reported on what seems to be good authority, the Captain and four artillerymen from the American tanker Campana are, or have been, prisoners on a German submarine, there is every probability that the questions of reprisals in kind, so long and so hotly—and so futilely—discussed in England, will be transferred to this country.

The Germans have made repeated assertion of their determination to treat as pirates the responsible members of crews of merchant ships that attack their submarines, and the shooting of Captain FRYATT shows that they are quite capable of carrying out their announced policy. In mounting guns and carrying trained gunners, the Campana ignored the German prohibition and defied the German wrath even more than did Captain FRYATT, and the fact, if it be a fact, that the five men were taken aboard the submarine—where their presence is most inconvenient—instead of being left to take their chances in their boats, is one full of sinister significance. Should the Germans condemn these men to death or treat them otherwise than as prisoners of war, the problem of what we can, and what we should, do in the matter would instantly arise.

One course theoretically open to us is first to threaten with death a like or greater number of our German prisoners, and, second, to carry out the threat if need arise. For that action there would be perfect justification in both law and morals—if there were a reasonable expectation that thus the lives of these or other like American prisoners could be saved. Such things were done on both sides in our civil war, and on both they proved to be efficacious in preventing further execution of death sentences. The circumstances then, however, were somewhat different, especially the circumstance that neither side was dealing with a Government or a people like that of Germany.

At present it is impossible for us really to think of ourselves as shooting or hanging Germans in America simply as Germans and because their ruling class at home had been guilty of a crime in which the men selected for punishment had no part. The effectiveness as a preventive of further crimes of doing it is highly dubious. The more likely result would be a competition in savagery, in which we are poorly qualified for coming out the winners.

To Give a Son.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In these days when one hears so much of efforts to avoid the draft, it seemed to me worth space in your columns to give an incident from the other side of the picture. The Advisory Committee, with which I am connected, is associated with the Quartermaster's Department, U. S. A., and has been called upon at times to supply men for different civilian positions connected with the army. Today a Russian, of uncertain age, but whose bent shoulders told of long years of toil, presented to me a letter signed by one of this city's medical examiners for the draft. From memory I quote as follows:

> To all it may concern: —— —— has been examined by me and passed the physical examination satisfactorily.
>
> He is anxious to serve his country, but is the sole support of his aged father and mother.
>
> He will waive all rights to exemption if his father (who will present this letter) can obtain work.
>
> Medical Examiner, —— District.

The foregoing was handed me by this father of foreign birth with his plea for a position. I have not met the son, but am willing to give the palm of patriotism to the old father, who has made his son a soldier.

J. CLIFFORD WOODHULL.

Summit, N. J., Aug. 13, 1917.

AT NIGHTFALL.

Night falls within the garden of the heart
With healing balm for every flower that blows,
And from its dewy chalice doth impart
New perfume to the rose.

Deep in the shadowy dells the falling brook
Drowses its murmur. Water-lilies cool
Sleep on the placid wave; while from some nook
A wood-rat seeks the pool,

Startling the reeds above a sunken star
It sets a-dancing in black depths profound;
And through the low grass cometh from afar
The cricket's chirping sound.

The fragrance of all blooms is borne upon
The rise and falling of the fitful breeze;
And deep in golden blossoms of the sun
Sleep the gold-banded bees.

O magic Night, that hold'st in thy embrace
A rarer sweetness than is born of day,
How gladly doth the eager earth her face
Turn from the sun away!

FINANCING AMERICA'S SHARE IN THE GREAT WAR.

II.—The Lesson Afforded by Great Britain in the Division of the War Burden Between Loans and Taxes.

By L. F. LOREE,
President, the Delaware and Hudson Company.

The extremes of method in providing for war expenses, as in governmental character and conduct, are represented by England and Germany. England with expenditures, for all governmental purposes, of $24,634,589,225, (to June 30, 1917,) has provided $5,989,562,180, or 24.31 per cent., by taxation, leaving $18,645,027,045, or 75.69 per cent., to be provided by loans. The data are ordinarily presented in this form, but it does not afford a correct view for the reason that the total of $24,634,589,225 includes the expenses of the regular peace establishment in addition to the war expenses. The regular expenses represented approximately $990,000,000, (£198,000,000,) annually, which is $82,500,000 per month, or for the thirty-five months from August, 1914, to June, 1917, inclusive, $2,887,500,000. Deducting this sum from $24,634,589,225 leaves $21,747,089,225 as the real cost of the war, and deducting the same sum from the amount raised by taxation, it appears that the actual tax contribution to the cost of prosecuting the war has been $3,102,062,180, or 14.26 per cent., and the amount provided or to be provided by loans $18,645,027,045, or 85.74 per cent. These comparisons (except in the extent that the cost of the peace establishment may have increased during the war,) represent the official data, although doubtless it will considerably shock many who have formed a different impression to learn that England, with laudable purpose to mortgage the future as little as possible in making provision to meet war expenses, has yet found it inexpedient to raise as much as 15 per cent. of the cost of the first three years by taxation. If the comparison is modified by excluding the whole aggregate of loans to allies and dependencies it will appear that Great Britain has directly expended, for war purposes, the sum of $16,557,089,225, of which only $3,102,062,180, or 18.74 per cent., has been raised by taxation.

But this is by no means the whole story. British expenses for the year that ended with March 31, 1917, included $537,335,595 (£107,467,119) for interest on war debt and the whole amount in excess of the sum necessary to meet the cost of the peace establishment during that year was $1,877,137,910. As $537,335,595 of this was required to meet interest on war debt, it follows that only $1,339,802,315 was available for the actual cost of conducting the war operations and maintaining war supplies during that year. Deducting the same amount of interest for the expenses of that year and further diminishing their aggregate by $990,000,000 (the ordinary cost of the peace establishment) leaves $9,463,227,955 as the amount really expended for the war purposes of the year. This was provided in the proportions of $1,339,802,315, or 14.16 per cent., from taxation and $8,123,425,640, or 85.84 per cent., by borrowing. Similarly, for the year which ended with March 31, 1916, interest on war debt required $199,555,270, (£39,911,054,) so that only $494,278,850 of $693,834,120 added taxation was available for purposes of actual war, such purposes requiring, however, the sum of $6,606,236,615. Therefore, 7.48 per cent. of the real cost of the war during the fiscal year 1916 was met by taxation and 92.52 per cent. was met by the use of the governmental credit. The estimates for the fiscal year that will end with March 31, 1918, include $972,500,000 (£194,500,000) for interest on the war debt.

Unfortunately figures permitting similar analyses of the expenditures of the other periods of the war are not now at hand, the following table containing the only information available:

Period.	Total Expenses All Purposes.	War Expenses, (Total Less $82,500,000 Per Month, Approximate Cost of Peace Establishment.)
Aug. 1, '14, to Mar. 31, '15....	$2,491,799,900	$1,831,799,900
Apr. 1, '15, to Mar. 31, '16....	7,795,791,885	6,805,791,885
Apr. 1, '16, to Mar. 31, '17....	10,990,563,550	10,000,563,550
Apr. 1, '17, to June 30, '17...	3,356,433,890	3,108,933,890
Total	$24,634,589,225	$21,747,089,225

Taxation less $82,500,000 per month required for peace establishment:

Period.	War Expenses. Amount.	Per Cent.
Aug. 1,'14, to Mar. 31,'15..	$198,793,720	10.85
Apr. 1,'15, to Mar. 31,'16..	693,834,120	10.19
Apr. 1,'16, to Mar. 31,'17..	1,877,137,910	18.77
Apr. 1,'17, to June 30,'17..	332,296,430	10.69
Total	$3,102,062,180	14.26

The foregoing, (which does not give consideration to the interest on the war debt,) not only shows that the proportion of the war expenses provided for by taxation is much lower than is commonly stated, but it also discloses the error in the statements so frequently made which purport to show that a larger share of the cost of the war was raised by taxes during the first eight months than during later periods. The drop in the proportion produced by taxes for the last period shown, (three months ended June 30, 1917,) is attributable both to the enhancement of war costs and to the due-dates of taxes not so largely falling within the period. This falling off in the percentage of expenditures raised by taxation, together with the increased interest charges on the war debt, points plainly to a very real defect in any plan which exaggerates the burdens of taxation at the beginning of war. A sound financial plan would always leave a safe margin so that, to whatever unexpected duration the war might extend, taxation could be expanded to care for each increment of interest on debt and for a moderately progressive share of the other new expenditures.

British borrowing is not, it may be added, by any means as yet wholly represented by permanent obligations. In fact, the total of these obligations, (exclusive of bond issues, wholly marketed in this country,) is now but $9,830,000,000, (£1,966,000,000,) or 52.72 per cent. of the total of $18,645,027,045 of war expenses, (to June 30, 1917,) not met by taxation. The balance in excess of the permanent loans is temporarily provided for by Treasury bills and other credits at banks and elsewhere, (including American loans.) Three internal flotations of bonds have been effected, as follows:

Date.	Amount.	Subscribed by banks, (approx'te.)	No. of Subscribers.
1914, Nov.	$1,750,000,000	$500,000,000	100,000
1915, J'ly.	3,080,000,000	1,000,000,000	1,100,000
1917, F'b.	5,000,000,000	None.	8,000,000
Total ..	$9,830,000,000	$1,500,000,000

The loan of February, 1917, includes $650,000,000 of Treasury bills which were converted. It is not understood why the British Government prefers to state the number of subscribers in such round, and obviously imperfect, figures.

So much for the nation which unquestionably has gone much further than any other belligerent in financing the war by taxation—it has raised in taxes less than 15 per cent. (or only 18.74 per cent., if loans to allies and dependencies are excluded from direct war expenses) of the moneys which it has expended to carry on the struggle in which it is engaged. At the other extreme stands Germany, which is commonly supposed to have entered the contest with the expectation of compelling its opponents to pay indemnities sufficient to liquidate its expenses and has not increased its tax revenue even enough to carry the current interest upon its war loans. Details equal to those available with regard to Great Britain are not to be had, but to Feb. 23, 1917, Germany had voted war credits in the aggregate of $19,750,000,000, (79,000,000,000 marks,) and had floated bond issues in the total sum of $14,996,750,000, (59,987,000,000 marks,) or 75.93 per cent. of this outlay. The present amount of Germany's floating debt is unknown, but it is understood to be enormous, and probably is not less than the remaining 24.07 per cent. of the cost of the war. A further loan is anticipated in September. The loan record is as follows:

Date.		Amount.	Number of subscribers. $50,000 or less.	Total.
1914,	Sept.	$1,120,250,000	231,112	1,177,235
1915,	Mar.	2,276,500,000	452,113	2,694,063
1915,	Sept.	3,040,750,000	984,358	3,966,418
1916,	Mar.	2,692,000,000	2,406,118	5,279,645
1916,	Sept.	2,674,750,000	1,794,084	3,810,696
1917,	Mar.	3,192,500,000	......	7,063,347
Total..		$14,996,750,000

The far greater portion of Germany's aggregate of loans bears 5 per cent. interest and none bears less than 4½ per cent. The issue price has ranged from 95 per cent. to 99 per cent. of par, the average price apparently being in the neighborhood of 98 per cent.

Dependence upon taxation as the principal means of defraying war expenditures is usually advocated upon the ground that "the generation which has brought war upon itself ought to bear the burden of its cost and not pass that burden to posterity." It is hard to reconcile this idea with the one that "we are in the war to make the world safe for democracy." If it be equitable that those who enjoy should pay, then future generations are as intimately concerned as are we of this one. Having a given burden to bear, the manner of its adjustment is often of the greatest consequence. Properly adjusted, a weight can be carried that, without such adjustment, could in no wise be supported. So of the expenses of warfare; with wise fiscal adjustments a people can and will supply funds far in excess of the sums which they could be induced or compelled to furnish under other conditions. Loans have all the manifest advantages which moral suasion has over compulsion, which an appeal has over a demand, which the promise of reward has over the threat of a penalty. The patriotic impulse to purchase a bond will make deeper inroads upon the property of almost any citizen and retain its efficiency much longer than realization of the patriotic duty to submit to grinding taxation.

If the whole cost of a great war could be borne by taxation, it would absorb the whole potential savings of the period of its duration. While it lasted no mill or factory would be erected or equipped, (save for the production of war munitions, and such establishments, save as they are convertible to other purposes, do not become capital,) no new roads or streets would be developed, no man would build or enlarge his residence, no farm would be fenced or drained, no citizen would be able to set aside anything for the proverbial "rainy day." As the period of accumulation in the lives of most men is of but fifteen or twenty years' duration, succeeding to the period of preparation, and taking up the years of middle age, such a system would operate most unequally and unjustly—destroying for a relatively small age-group the opportunity to which all are entitled and scarcely touching the others. It is true that in another aspect war falls with similar inequality upon those within the fighting ages, but an unavoidable inequality ought not to be considered as sanctioning an avoidable injustice.

It is exceedingly doubtful, however, whether, even if it were desirable, a system of taxation could be devised which would provide revenues sufficient for even one-half of the cost of such a war as that in which the greatest nations of the world are now engaged. The problem confronting each of these nations is nothing less than that of hastily converting the largest practicable portion of the national wealth into current funds which can be used to command the services and the property which are essential to its military efficiency. Taxation alone could not serve this purpose—the whole surplus income of the war period would not suffice, and if the whole surplus of any period were taken, that of the next would be greatly diminished—extreme taxation would dry the springs of production at their sources.

On the other hand, an attempt to finance a war of more than the briefest duration by borrowings, only, would be foolish and disastrous. The credit to support vast new issues of bonds must be supported by enlarged taxation at least sufficient to afford a liberal margin over the additional interest requirements. Too great reliance upon loans was a serious defect in the financial management of the civil war and produced the conditions which finally resulted in the unfortunate expedient of the greenbacks and the Legal Tender act.

COUNCIL AIDS KAISER, PEABODY ASSERTS

Former Pacifist Leader Rebukes Peace Body for Abandoning American Methods.

FAVORS SELECTIVE DRAFT

Tells Anti-War Propagandists That Russia Needs Our Example as Law-Abiding Nation.

George Foster Peabody, prominent in pacifist propaganda before the United States entered the war, in a letter received by the People's Council yesterday, spurned the efforts of that organization to enlist his support and branded it as assisting the German Government in its prosecution of conflict against the United States. He made the point that inasmuch as the council purported to be devoted to law and order as opposed to fighting, it was incumbent upon it to abide by the laws of the country as laid down by Congress, including the declaration of war upon the German Government.

His letter reads:

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.,
Aug. 13, 1917.

To the Secretary, the People's Council, 2 West Thirteenth Street, New York City.

Dear Sir—I have received the various circulars and requests that I indorse your aims and objects. I cannot support your program at this time.

In spite of earnest protest and counter appeal, which developed only moderate response, our Congress adopted the declaration of war on the appeal of the President. The Congress is clothed with full responsibility for such action under the Constitution of the United States. I feel that after this action the loyal obligation of those who are absolute opponents of war, as you are, is to refrain from opposition to the powers that be, and thus strengthen their right to be heard as citizens on subjects of immediate importance, such as taxation, freedom of the press, and safeguards of the democracy we have enjoyed.

Of course, nonresistants could not enlist to fight, nor accept service which called for the killing of their fellow-men, but on the other hand they they are not the keepers of others' consciences; and by reason of their respect for the principles of self-government they are bound no less to loyalty to the laws and to their orderly execution. In fact, above all such citizens believing in the majesty of the moral order are called upon to prove their faith in their fellows by due reverence and by respect for the opinions of others as well as the expressed will of the people through their duly elected President and Congress.

Some of the subjects in your program are suitable for present discussion, but others, in my judgment, are not to be hopefully discussed at this time. Some items in your program tend, I think, to make your new organization in a way a vast Cave of Adullam because it in effect gives free opportunity for those of definite pro-German sympathies to affiliate with your organization, thus making it distinctly helpful to the German Government which has made war upon this country, and hindering to the effective prosecution of the program legally undertaken by our Government.

Personally I do not oppose the selective draft. My opposition is to war, but if a democratic government declares war, the selective draft, in my opinion, is the only fair method of deciding who shall give up their lives for the country. I consider the volunteer method more dangerous to a true evolution of a democracy and the ultimate triumph of peace through disarmament.

I am specifically and completely opposed to the new organization, the People's Council, because of the name chosen. For a century or more Americans have found ample and effective opportunity for the expression of public sentiment through organizations of many kinds, all of which have in due course led up to the ballot and the acceptance of its decision as the will of the people. Your proposal seems like an endeavor to overawe the Congress by a delegated organization purporting to represent all sections and classes in the country—an extra legal, and in my opinion, revolutionary method. There is no evidence to support your assertion that the present elected Congress does not represent the will of the people.

I emphatically dissent from the imitation of foreign methods at this time. Your committee is frank enough to say that the name, People's Council, is chosen because of sympathy with the methods that have been used in connection with the Russian Revolution. I am in complete sympathy with the Russian people and with much of their most radical action, to which my soul is giving thrilling response, but I am confident nothing could now be more injurious to the Russian democracy than to have this Republic of the United States, which has blazed the way for democracy for the world, show any lack of faith in law and order and the ballot as the means of securing them. The methods adopted in Russia pertain to the revolution which, although perhaps necessary for the successful overthrow of Czarism and autocratic bureaucracy in Russia, are not in harmony with the due evolution of our American democracy. Only the marvelous patience of the Russian people has prevented the self-constituted bodies from wrecking the present revolution as the revolution of 1905 was wrecked.

The permanent peace longed for—if it is to be effective—must be based upon complete reverence for law and order and the willingness of the unrepresented minority to be loyal to the Government while they seek to induce a majority to join with them in electing other representatives and changing the constitution and laws.

I am, yours very truly,
GEORGE FOSTER PEABODY.

Louis Lochner, Executive Secretary of the People's Council, was asked for comment upon Mr. Peabody's letter. He said he did not think it worth replying to.

Because of belief that the Post Office Department has been inspecting its letters and propaganda sent through the mails, the People's Council is now using plain envelopes for all its communications. It alleges that letters have taken three weeks to get from New York to Washington when mailed in envelopes bearing the name of the council, and exhibited a letter from Henry Ford showing that an appeal sent to him took a month in transit between New York and Detroit.

It was denied yesterday by officials of the council that it claimed credit for the peace resolution of Senator La Follette, but said that its appeals for support for its peace propaganda in which it referred to its agitation in Congress had reference to its general campaign of having letters and telerams for peace sent to Senators and Representatives. However, Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Senator, is a member of the Organizing Committee of the People's Council, the controlling committee, which drafts its peace appeals and keeps in close touch with her father. It is considered likely that Senator La Follette and the People's Council knew well of each other's plans.

WALLACHS ASK PROTECTION

Reassert Their Roman Origin in an Address to Italy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Wallachs residing in Southern Albania and Northern Epirus have sent an emphatic address to Italy strongly proclaiming their Roman origin and their desire to be kept under an Italian protectorate and expressing hope that their soldier brethren in Italy have forever broken the chains wherewith the Mussulmans first and Greeks afterward "attempted to destroy their Latin nationality."

The Wallachs declare that if they are not allowed to live in freedom under the "protection of the great mother Italy" they will fight until they are exterminated.

The Wallachs are descendants of Romans colonized in the Balkans by the first armies of ancient Rome which penetrated that region. One of their best known groups claims descent from Pompey's legionares.

'DAYBREAK' A PLAY WITH A MYSTERY

It Develops Into a Moral, and a Novel Thesis on Motherhood.

A CLEVER TECHNICAL TURN

Interests but Baffles the Audience Until the Last Act—Very Ably Acted.

DAYBREAK.—A drama in three acts and four scenes by Jane Cowl and Jane Murfin. At the Harris.

Otway	Arthur Dennis
Dr. David Brett	David Torrence
Herbert Rankin	Reginald Mason
Tristano De La Casa	Frank Goldsmith
Arthur Frome	Frederick Truesdell
Edith Frome	Blanche Yurka
Hilda Stanton-Browne	Margaret Dale
Carl Peterson	William B. Mack
Alma Peterson	Catherine Tower
Sullivan	Jack Grey

Whatever else Jane Cowl and Jane Murfin have done in "Daybreak," they have turned a technical trick in play construction which is quite novel. During three out of four acts they keep the audience, or the major part of it, in dense ignorance not only of the true character of their heroine but of her feeling toward her husband, and, moreover, toward two other men. For the most part, it seems to be a game of guessing the future co-respondent—a game in which the husband collaborates vigorously with the aid of a detective bureau.

With the play of deliberate mystery we have been familiar since "Under Cover" and "Seven Keys to Baldpate." But in this there has always been some point of keen human interest, interesting characters in a cleverly unfolded intrigue; and the result has been a game in which the audience takes delighted part. In "Daybreak" the apparent situation is quite uninteresting, even sordid; and matters are not much bettered when a doubt arises as to whether, after all, Mrs. Frome is not quite innocent. The mind is intrigued, but the sympathies and emotions hardly touched. Until the end of the third act it seemed, on the whole, most likely that the final verdict was to be: mildly interesting but quite unimportant.

Then came the revelation which disclosed the play as a moral thesis of the most modern sort and an emotional drama of considerable intensity, ending in the shooting of the villain husband and the escape of his sympathetic murderer—"daybreak" for the long suffering heroine.

In case of the ordinary guessing plot, the part of kindness, to playwright and audience alike is to preserve the mystery; but in this case it may be doubted whether the authors themselves would not have done better to follow the conventional technique, in which the audience is permitted to be omniscient. Certainly it is impossible to discuss the play without letting the cat out of the bag—and "Daybreak" is destined to be discussed.

Know then that Frome, strong man that he is, is a habitual drunkard whose temper in drink takes the form of brutal violence. He has killed a polo pony and thrown a persistent newsboy beneath the wheels of a motor car, maiming him for life. Mrs. Frome resolves that no child shall inherit the taint of his character. Learning that she is to become a mother, some years before the opening of the action, she at first thinks of birth control, but, dissuaded by her physician, goes to Honolulu to bear the child, and, returning with it, brings it up obscurely, keeping her husband in total ignorance, in order to shield the child from its father's depravity.

She guards the secret successfully until the child becomes sick; and then, at the opening of the play, Frome discovers that she makes nightly visits in the small hours to a neighborhood less fashionable, and presumably less respectable. And so he, and the audience, are off on the mystery trail.

Granted this method of attack, the play is very ably constructed. The opening scene—a mere pantomime with no word spoken—in which Frome witnesses the stealthy return of his wife, is full of mysterious thrill. For the rest of three acts one assists at colloquies in fashionable life which, though they develop nothing of real interest or importance, are brisk, full of distinct character, and amusingly written.

A subordinate affair between a sympathetic if dashing divorcee and the amiably idling (and drinking) man of her second choice is excellent in its kind and delightfully played by Margaret Dale and Reginald Mason. The physician friend of the family—one's final mistaken choice as Mrs. Frome's lover—is equally well portrayed by David Torrence.

Then comes the climax, in which the much-hounded wife admits that she has a child, and defies her husband. It is not until the last act that Frome is convinced that the child is his, and—as the result of a characteristic bit of cruelty to the husband of a typist he has victimized—is finally disposed of.

In a recent curtain speech Wilton Lackaye spoke of a good play as camouflage to a serious idea. May it be suggested that in "Daybreak" the authors have weakened a potentially strong drama, and at the same time obscured a very modern and significant thesis by the success of their mystification?

As plays go, however, this is of rare excellence. Last night's audience was attentive always, frequently amused, and ultimately stirred and thrilled. Subsequent audiences will know far better what it is all about, and a very substantial success seems certain.

ACTRESS WED ON BIRTHDAY.

Miss Vivian Wessell Married Alexander L. Cochrane of Boston.

Alexander Lynde Cochrane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cochrane of Boston, and Miss Vivian Hervey Wessell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wessell of this city, an actress, were married last Friday in the West End Collegiate Dutch Reformed Church by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Henry Evertson Cobb. Those present at the wedding were the bride's parents, Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., a sister of Mr. Cochrane, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Knox Bell. Francis D. Cochrane was his brother's best man.

The bride selected Friday for her marriage, she said, because she was born on Friday, baptized on that day, and met Mr. Cochrane on Friday. The engagement had been announced less than a week previous to the marriage. Mrs. Cochrane played comedy rôles in "Along Came Ruth," "The Only Girl," and other plays. Mr. Cochrane was graduated in 1893 from Harvard and is a member of the Somerset, Myopia Hunt, and other clubs. Mrs. Howard G. Cushing of this city is one of his sisters.

BLAMES TROLLEY MOTORMAN

Head of Shore Line Railway Denies Employe Was Overworked.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 14.—Motorman Wesley Negus of the Shore Line trolley car that crashed at full speed into another at New Branford yesterday, resulting in the deaths of nineteen passengers and the injury of two more, today admitted in a Coroner's inquiry here that he had tampered with a safety device on the controller of his car. According to Deputy Coroner Wynne, who is conducting the inquiry, Negus said he had fastened down a spring that, if free, would have automatically stopped the car as soon as his hand was lifted from the controller.

He also declared, the Deputy Coroner says, that he was in a doze for two hours before the accident. This is disputed by Frank Harrison, a passenger, who testified that Negus was wide-awake just before the smash.

President Perkins of the Shore Line Electric Railway today denied that Negus and Tryon, the conductor, had been overworked. The time scheduled, he asserted, showed that Negus had worked only ten hours and twenty minutes on Sunday and five hours and thirty minutes yesterday. The conductor, a spare man, Mr. Perkins said, had worked no longer. Mr. Perkins said that indications seemed to point to failure of Negus to remember the switch as required by the schedule.

Two of the bodies identified today were those of Miss Waite, matron of the Elm City Hospital, New Haven, and of her friend, Miss Phoebe Ingersoll of Chicago. In the clothing of the latter were found a will and papers of considerable value.

Mrs. Arthur L. Goodrich, who was killed in the wreck, was the widow of General Goodrich, for many years Treasurer of the Hartford Courant Company. She was a native of Westfield, Mass., and prominent in church and civic organizations.

Tonight Negus and Tryon were confined in the county jail here awaiting the conclusion of the Coroner's hearing, which is expected to end tomorrow.

As yet no one has identified the body of a woman killed in the wreck, the only one of the nineteen dead unidentified.

GIVES A 'DRIED LUNCHEON.'

Mrs. Lansing Demonstrates Palatability of Evaporated Food.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The "dried luncheon" made its appearance among the household war economies of official life today when Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the Secretary of State, served to her luncheon guests a six-course meal composed entirely of dried foods.

Dried vegetable bouillon, dried chicken, dried vegetables of many kinds, dried salad, dried fruit, and dried mint were on the menu, and the guests said afterward that the combination was unusually appetizing. It more than demonstrated, they said, that the Department of Agriculture experts were right in advocating the use of more dried food. Those present were Mrs. Josephus Daniels, Mrs. William C. Redfield, Mrs. Champ Clark, Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, and Mrs. Hugh L. Scott.

Miss Pryor to Wed Dr. Furman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunstan Pryor of Ward Place, South Orange, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Mary Pryor, to Dr. Benjamin A. Furman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Furman of North Seventh Street, Newark. Dr. Furman is a Lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps.

Engagements.

Mrs. Alice D. Slade of Lawrence Park, Bronxville, N. Y., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Lydia Seabury Slade, to Donald Stuart Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lambert Wilson of Bronxville, N. Y. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Naval Reserve and is stationed at Block Island. No plans have been made for the wedding.

Mrs. Sara L. Broffe of 149 Lexington Avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Beatrice Livingstone, to Charles G. Beersman, of this city. RED CROSS DENIES DELAYS IN ITS OFFICE

Contributors Frequently Fail to Furnish Proper Forwarding Addresses, Official Says.

DEFENDS NEW METHODS

Office Force to be Cut in Half Because Work Is Now Running Smoothly, Says P. S. Duryea.

Some perplexity has recently grown up among contributors to the Red Cross because of a new method of accepting donations and making acknowledgments adopted recently when the society was reorganized. Some of the contributors thought that acknowledgments were unduly delayed, and several have complained that the practice of returning receipts for small gifts apparently had been abandoned. This led some to declare "that conditions in the Red Cross were in bad shape," and that the new régime, even with its "many high-salaried officers," was not proving the success that had been expected.

Inquiry at the office of the War Finance Committee at 50 Wall Street, where all contributions are received and acknowledged, was met by the statement yesterday that there was little legitimate ground for the criticisms. In many instances, P. S. Duryea, in charge, explained, the delays in acknowledging gifts was due more to the failure of the contributors to furnish proper forwarding addresses than to any laxity on the part of the Red Cross workers.

"A great many persons who contribute to the Red Cross go to the country in the Summer," Mr. Duryea said, "and they take it for granted that we will know where to send the acknowledgments. One man, a very generous giver, recently sent some money from Maine, and the girl did not think to forward his receipt there, but held it here, awaiting his return. This may have been a mistake in judgment on her part, but not unusual, perhaps, in the circumstances.

"Another cause for delay is that contributions received by the branches are sometimes not sent at once to this office, but are held there a day or so, until enough has accumulated to justify a special trip to this office. There are two offices beside this one where donations to the Red Cross are received—at the Atlantic Division headquarters at 1 Madison Avenue, and at the Fifth Avenue office of the New York County Chapter. Both of these branches ultimately send to this office all the money they collect, and receipt is acknowledged by this office, which is acting for the Central Trust Company, the Assistant Treasurer of the Red Cross War Fund.

"This necessity of forwarding contributions from the branches to the office at 50 Wall Street and having the acknowledgments go out from there, instead of at once from the branches, has sometimes caused a delay of a day or so, but has resulted in no serious inconvenience. We are so well along with our work that in a few days we expect to reduce our office force to about half what it is."

The War Finance Committee of the Red Cross yesterday made public the following list of companies that had paid in full their special Red Cross dividends:

Auto Car Company, $20,000.
Ajax Rubber Company, $10,000.
First National Bank of Syracuse, $10,000.
Beech Nut Packing Company of Canajoharie, $9,000.
Mechanics', National Bank of Trenton, $5,000.
Hudson River Trust Company, $625.
Julland Bank, Greene, N. Y., $250.
First National Bank of Brownsville, $250.

The committee also announced that the Buffalo-German Insurance Company had collected Red Cross dividend allotments on all but fifty-one of its 4,000 shares, and that the Directors had announced they would pay the remainder out of their own pocket. The dividend amounts to $2,000. Of the $5,000 dividend declared by the Stafford Mills, Fall River, $3,173 has been received, the committee announced. The Susquehanna Trust and Safe Company has paid over $1,196 of its dividend of $2,000.

"The percentage of returns from dividends declared by out-of-town companies has been higher than the percentage from dividends declared by New York corporations," the War Finance Committee announced.

In a letter to the committee received yesterday, a Captain in the office of the United States Quartermaster wrote that he would contribute to the War Fund the salary he received each month from the Government. A check for $252.72, his first month's salary, was inclosed in the letter.

STEWART ESTATE $6,200,320

Inheritance Tax of $200,777 Levied in Suffolk County.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The inheritance tax upon the estate of the late John K. Stewart of Centerport and Chicago, who died at his home at Centerport in August, 1916, is the largest ever levied in this county. The appraisers' report filed with Surrogate Selah B. Strong fixes it at $200,777.47.

The gross estate was valued at $6,200,320.87. The net amount was $5,257,343.94. Of this amount $1,744,514.65 went to Mrs. Julia C. Stewart, the widow, who died at Aiken, S. C., in March last. The sum of $1,601,314.65 went to each of the two daughters, Jean and Marion Stewart. Thomas S. Clark of Sierra Madre, Cal., son of a deceased partner of Mr. Stewart, receives $150,000.

It appeared that Mr. Stewart thought that owing to the war there might be a panic and had converted most of his securities into cash.

New York Men Who Have Been Enrolled in the National Army

The Lists Here Published Include All the Enrollments Obtainable Last Night From the District Boards in Session in Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens.

Reports received yesterday from seventy-seven exemption boards in the city showed that 8,197 men had been examined and that 1,985 had been enrolled in the draft army.

Under the caption "Yesterday's Report" the results of the work in each district heard from are shown. Opposite the word "examined" in each case is the number of men who came before the board for physical examination. Opposite "excused" is the number of men who, because of public service automatically making them unavailable for the draft army, foreign birth, or physical disability, were rejected or excused by the examiners. Opposite "claiming exemption" is the number of men who were found physically and otherwise acceptable for military service but announced their intention of claiming exemption. Opposite "enrolled" is the number of men who were found physically fit and made no claim for exemption when examined and those enrolled as members of the draft army when their claims for exemption were denied or when they failed to respond to notices to appear for physical examination.

In the daily report from any district the number of "enrolled" may be larger than the number of "examined," because those whose claims for exemption have been denied and those who have been posted as failing to appear for examination are included among the "enrolled" on the day on which their enrollment is announced, although they have not come up for physical examination on that day.

It should be noted that many of those claiming exemption may be drafted into the army, their claims being denied, and that others not claiming exemption when declared physically acceptable may file claims for exemption within the period allowed them for this purpose.

In any case, where a district seems to have exceeded its quota it is probable that men enrolled before yesterday have been or will be dropped for various reasons.

The Draft Situation to Date.

PACKARD TRUCKS

Are you preparing for low-cost hauling —in any new emergency?

War's demands threaten business at one critical point—transportation for materials and products.

Traffic tie-ups are forcing dependence on trucks and teams for what was railroad service. And army requirements are almost certain to deplete the market of horses.

To make sure of unfailing supplies and prompt deliveries, far-sighted business men are providing equipment now for broader and more exacting hauling needs to come.

Packard trucks are first choice because Packard economy, range and rugged strength provide dependable service and low final cost.

Silent, chainless, seven right sizes —1 ton to 6½ tons. Four-speed transmission on all models gives terrific pulling power and marked savings on gasoline, tires and upkeep.

Call on Packard Motor Car Company of New York, Broadway at Sixty-first Street, New York, for cost figures. Ask the man who owns one.

COME OVER AND VISIT IN CANADA

and make that famous trip—"Niagara to the Sea." All the old world scenic attractions may be duplicated in Canada—just at your door.

Included in this Thousand-Mile Water Journey are The Thousand Islands (the Venice of America), quaint old Quebec (Cradle of New France), the lower St. Lawrence (rivalling the fjords of Norway), the Miracle-Working Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, the world-famous Saguenay River Canyon, compared with which the Rhine and Danube are insignificant in grandeur; Murray Bay, with its duplication of the West Coast of Scotland scenery, and the marvelous rapids, for which Europe has no counterpart.

Tourist Europe is closed to you, but Canada welcomes you with open arms. No annoying border restrictions or passports required for "bona fide" American citizens.

Look at the map. You can begin or end your journey at Niagara Falls, Toronto, Rochester, Alexandria Bay, Clayton, Montreal or Quebec.

For full information call or telephone (Broad 2785) New York office of Canada Steamship Lines, 32 Broadway, or inquire of all Tourist Agents. Send two cents in stamps for illustrated map and guide, "Niagara to the Sea," including rates, etc., to

A two line advertisement, costing one dollar, will serve the purpose of a journey to New York and save time, trouble and the expense the journey entails. Country merchants needing goods should dispatch a short telegram to The New York Times stating requirements and next morning the manufacturing and wholesaling world will read the advertisement on the Business Page. Rubber Buyers Looking Ahead.

While buyers do not appear very anxious to supply present needs, there is no dearth of inquiry in the local crude rubber market for stuff wanted for 1918 shipment. Ceylons especially are wanted, but there are few sellers in sight. First latex is now quoted at 64½ cents for all positions to the end of the year, and for similar shipments smoked sheets are holding at 64 cents. The Brazilian rubbers continue to rise slowly, up-river fine yesterday commanding 69½@70 cents for spots, and 69 cents for September-October shipment. Spot up-river coarse was firm at 48 cents, with upper Caucho ball at 40@40½ cents.

***

Capes Instead of Scarfs.

The fur manufacturers expect to see a change in the Fall from scarfs to capes. The scarfs now being worn bunch up in the back of the neck and when the cool weather sets in, as one manufacturer pointed out, they cannot be comfortable, as they offer scarcely any protection except across the shoulders. The style of cape that shows promise of becoming popular consists of a wide band across the shoulders with long ends reaching to the waist in front. A big business has been done on scarfs and an equally large demand is looked for when capes begin to sell.

***

A Successful Fur Sale.

Next year there will probably be many buyers of furs to follow the example of a Chicago man who put on a sale of popular furs during the hot spell last month. His decision to stage such a sale was opposed at the start by the merchandise manager of the store, who did not think it would prove successful at such a time, even when he gave his consent. The object of the buyer was to include in his offering articles that would appeal to the popular class trade, selling sets from $10 to $25. The results were more than satisfactory, the sale beating all records of the department.

***

Skirt Men Adopt Dual Discount.

The Separate Skirt Manufacturers' Association of New York has accepted dual discounts as suggested by the retailers to settle the question of terms in the women's ready-to-wear trades. This leaves only the Ladies' Garment Merchants' Association to follow suit and make the agreement on dual discounts unanimous in the industry. The Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association and the Dress and Waist Manufacturers' Association have already accepted the suggestion of the retailers. As soon as the consent of the memberships of all the wholesale associations is obtained, it is the purpose of the retail organizations to fill their part of the contract, which calls for stamping out various trade abuses that have prevailed in the trade.

Gray Goods Sales More Active.

The steadying up of cotton had a stimulating effect on trading in the local gray goods market yesterday and, while prices did not actually advance, a firmer undertone was in evidence. Among the business done by first hands in the course of the day were sales of 39-inch 72-76s at 13 cents for spot and nearby shipment, as well as prompt 68-72s at 11⅝ cents. Sales of the latter, and also of 38½-inch 64-60s, were made from second hands at prices about an eighth below what the mills got. A growing scarcity of wide, high-count goods is reported. A marked shortage of 38½-inch 64-64s is also told of, largely because many mills have stopped making them. Sheetings sales appeared to be more or less scattered, but prices on these goods were relatively firmer than those asked for printcloths, which closed as follows:

39-inch, 80-80s	14c	38½-inch, 64-60s	10½c
39-inch, 72-76s	13c	38½-inch, 64-56s	10¼c
39-inch, 68-72s	11⅝c	38½-inch, 60-52s	9⅛c
39-inch, 56-44s	8⅝c	38½-inch, 60-48s	8¾c
29½-inch, 64-64s	*10⅞c	27-inch, 64-60s	7⅛c

Renewed Peace Talk Affects Prices Little—Bethlehem Steel Declines.

Once again peace talk received stock market consideration yesterday, but the net results of the day indicated that the tentative measures proposed through the Vatican aroused little beside academic interest among financiers and traders in securities alike. There was a considerable churning up of prices, but all the way along the same evidences of uncertain and rather apathetic operations were seen that have marked trading for so long. The Street was persuaded through reading the meagre details of the Pope's proposal, that weaved through it was the war-weary yearnings of Roman Catholic Austria, and the fuller details which arrived later in the day set forth ethical grounds for peace which were not considered impressive under current conditions. The ethics of the war have long been weighed by the Allies and the finacial community held the impression that more specific reasons for ending the conflict must come before real peace talk could be furthered.

The quality of trading seemed to indicate that the action of Bethlehem Steel stocks was more of an influence in the day's proceedings than the news from Rome. The break of 4¼ points in Bethlehem B shares drew fresh attention to previous gossip of new financing by the company, and while this was merely the thrashing over of old straw, still the other steel stocks reflected the declines. As a market influence the comment on Bethlehem financing gained impotency because of the larger figures mentioned. The Street heard that the Directors were considering an issue of securities which might run as high as $50,000,000, either in short-term notes or in stock. In banking quarters it was learned that fresh capital would probably be raised in the near future, but no details were obtainable. The influence of Bethlehem's decline was particularly felt in late trading, but dealings were so largely professional that it would have been difficult to say that the decline of 1¼ points in Steel common, 1⅛ in Republic, and the better part of a point in Crucible denoted any lasting tendency among this class of industrial issues.

The return of Liberty 3½ per cent. bonds to par, accompanied by an increased demand for municipal securities, was a development which brought satisfaction to investment bankers. Again it appeared as though these markets were reflecting the possibility of a tax feature attached to forthcoming war issues, attracting investors with large incomes to high-grade bonds which are tax exempt. The Street received without any degree of unsettlement news that Congress would probably be asked to authorize a new loan of at least $3,000,000,000 for advances to the Allies. Such a development has been considered for some time as a natural outgrowth of the huge scope of the country's participation in the war.

The intimation from Washington that steel prices might be established somewhere between $65 and $70 per ton was looked upon in the steel industry, as well as in financial circles, as a matter not to be viewed with apprehension, and apparently had nothing to do with the day's doings in stocks. In view of the improved sentiment evident in the Street for some days in respect to the price-fixing program, it seems probable that there will be little more worry about the situation, at least not until he results of the Federal Trade Commission's investigations are known with clearness.

TRADING QUIET IN LONDON.

South American Railroad Issues Affected by Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The stock market had a good tone today, but trading was quiet, apart from some activity in miscellaneous speculative shares. Bonds were maintained and Mexican stocks and railways showed renewed strength on favorable political and financial reports.

The high price of silver encourages the belief in an impending revival in Spanish securities. The general strike movement on South American railroads and news that the strike was growing more serious depressed the shares of the roads affected. The other South American groups were steady.

Money was in increased demand and discount rates were steady.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Motor Shorts Squeezed.

Dealings in General Motors yesterday supplied one of those occasional episodes which send cold tremors up the spines of Governors of the Exchange. Before the opening the tip was passed around generously that the stock would give anybody a good "ride" who got aboard, and a 6½-point jump on the first sale seemed to prove that the tip was more than coming out true. Somebody needed stock badly in order to bid so high for it, and the Governors, who keep a particular eye on business procedure, made a quiet investigation. There was nothing official about this, so it was said; quite the contrary. Still the Street heard from excellent sources that the word was unofficially passed along to certain interests which had called in a lot of General Motors on Monday night which was out on loans that it might be well to lend some of it again to urgent borrowers in order to ease the situation. Presumably the stock was lent, as the quotation sagged and the market quieted down.

⁂

Staging a Squeeze Play.

The basis of the surprising rise in General Motors appeared to lie back in the decline of last week. The stock dropped from 116 to 105½ under a heavy volume of short sales. A number of short sellers tried to borrow stock to make deliveries on Monday and found the supply small. More than half the General Motors shares are locked up in the Chevrolet Motor treasury, and big blocks are understood to be held by W. C. Durant, the du Pont interests, and other big investors. On Monday afternoon the shares were so few in the loan crowd on the Exchange that numerous borrowers paid as much as $150 for the use of 100 shares over night, and it was said that more stock had been called. The story heard yesterday was that a group of big speculators had accumulated a block of 60,000 shares before last week's decline and had loaned a large part of this to the short sellers and then directed that the shares be withdrawn. The quotation retained 4 points of its gross gain at the close yesterday and the shares loaned at a slight premium, indicating that there were shorts still looking searchingly for stock to borrow.

⁂

Trading in Liberty Loan Bonds.

Liberty Loan bonds were traded in large volume yesterday, the total sales on the Stock Exchange amounting to $2,505,000. Most of the bonds changed hands at par, or close to par, and one of the early transactions was a sale of $864,000 at 100. In smaller lots $30,000 more were sold at par. The lowest quotation of the day was 99.96, ($999.60 per $1,000,) and the final sale was made at 100. The strength of the Government's issue was ascribed to talk of the possibility of the next War Loan being made subject to the Federal income tax.

⁂

Liberty Loan Payments Today.

The fourth and next to the last installment on the $2,000,000,000 Liberty loan bond issue, amounting to 30 per cent., is payable today. Inasmuch as a large portion of the bonds have already been fully paid, today's cash receipts will be relatively small. In the New York Federal Reserve District, where the allotments totaled about $617,000,000, the payments will not exceed $20,000,000 or $24,000,000, according to bank officials. The total for the country will be in the neighborhood of approximately $200,000,000. There will still remain another 30 per cent. installment, which is payable on Aug. 30. The 3½ per cent. certificates of indebtedness recently sold by the Treasury are not acceptable in payment of today's installment.

⁂

Am. Locomotive Out of Munitions.

It has been known for some weeks that the American Locomotive Company has been gradually completing its foreign contracts for war munitions, but it became known yesterday that the company is not only doing this, but is getting out of the munition manufacturing business altogether. By the end of this month at the latest the company will have completed delivery on every outstanding contract it has for war munitions, and will take on no new business of this description. Instead, the company will concentrate on the manufacture of locomotives, having already orders on its books for locomotives enough to keep all its plants running at capacity for an indefinite period.

⁂

Changing Course at Full Speed.

The policy of the American Locomotive Company in dropping munitions to concentrate upon its true specialty of locomotives was dictated by considerations of the future. Even had locomotives not been, as at present they are, as much in demand—in Russia, for instance—and as badly needed for the war as shells, it is understood the company would have preferred building up business for the future to any amount of quick profits in the present. As it was, the unprecedented demand for locomotives made the change easy. It was accomplished, moreover, without even the serious temporary dislocation of factory output of which some other munition-making firms have complained. The Richmond and Montreal plants of the American Locomotive Company were handling practically all the company's munition business. Contracts were arranged so that they could "taper off" on shell-making and at the same time gradually resume work on locomotive parts. Day by day machines and operatives, one or two at a time, have found themselves shifted over from war to peace. "Shells, we hope, will not always be so much in demand, but there will always be work for locomotives to do," said an official of the company yesterday.

⁂

No New Railroad Likely.

A story that the Rockefeller interests have been busy acquiring thousands of acres of coal lands in West Virginia, and that they are also buying land for the right of way of a new coal-carrying railroad to run from the neighborhood of Charleston, W. Va., to Newport News, Va., published in a morning paper yesterday, was in circulation in Wall Street all day, but without gaining general credence. As has happened before, no official or formal denial of the story was obtainable from 26 Broadway, but persons in a position to know fairly well what is going on in the inner precincts of that building showed no hesitation in declaring that it was without foundation. The story of extensive purchases of coal lands was attributed to the fact that the United States Steel Corporation has been buying in Kentucky, across the border from West Virginia, lately, but the story that a new railroad is in contemplation was said to be made out of whole cloth.

⁂

Transportation Is Cheap.

As indicated by the purchasing value of commodities, says R. J. Clancy of the Southern Pacific Company, railroad transportation is now approximately 50 per cent. cheaper than three years ago, and, in this time of soaring prices and increased cost of living, is probably the only product, relatively speaking, that has decreased in price. "A bushel or sack of wheat, corn or barley, a bale of cotton or wool, a barrel of pork or flour, a ton of copper, iron or steel," he says, "will buy approximately double the amount of railroad transportation it would three years ago. This, too, regardless of the fact that during the last three years wages of railway employes and cost of capital have greatly increased, along with an increase of 100 per cent. in cost of fuel oil for locomotives and an increase of from 50 to 500 per cent. in the cost of railway supplies, equipment, and material."

COTTON GAINS AGAIN

December Contracts Sell at 25.22, or 78 Points Above Monday's Closing.

Prices on the Cotton Exchange yesterday advanced sharply. The more optimistic view of peace prospects based upon the Pope's proposals seemed to reach the ring at a time when technical conditions rendered quotations very sensitive to buying orders. Covering was also stimulated by more serious complaints of deterioration in the Southwest, and December contracts sold up to 25.22, or 78 points above Monday's closing figures. That delivery closed at 25.20, with the general list closing at a net advance of 50 to 77 points.

The market showed a somewhat reactionary tendency at the start. First prices were steady at an advance of 17 points to a decline of 2 points, with near months relatively firm. Bearish sentiment was still much in evidence around the ring and prices sagged off during the early trading with active months selling back about Monday's closing figures. But the offerings were not as heavy as they had been previously, and there was considerable covering after the recent decline of approximately 2 cents per pound. Reports that a Southwestern authority estimated the condition of the crop at 70.4, as of Aug. 10, compared with 72.7, as of July 25, directed attention to the drouthy situation in the Southwest, and some of Monday's sellers seemed to be disappointed over the failure of the weather map to show rainfall in that section. The market steadied in consequence, and the covering became more active on the political news, with active months selling 66 to 78 points net higher in the late trading. Closing prices were within a point or two of the best.

Aside from renewed anxiety over crop conditions in the Southwest, and the talk of peace prospects, there appeared to be no fresh feature around the ring. Traders as a rule seemed skeptical as to the success of any peace movement at this time, but in some quarters the latest developments were taken more seriously than previous efforts in that direction, and certainly the renewed talk of peace possibilities served to check selling. Many thought that bullish features in the news would have been less effective had it not been for the stronger technical position developed on the decline from the high level of last week. Some scattered Southern selling was reported on the advance, but otherwise offerings were very limited, and new crop cotton is not yet available in sufficient volume to make much impression upon the market.

Exports for the day were 3,471 bales, making 104,618 so far this season.

20,000 AMERICANS TO SAVE CANADA'S CROP

Dominion in Return Will Send Laborers to Help Maine Farmers Dig Potatoes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. — Twenty thousand American harvest hands will help save Canada's grain crop and nearly half as many Canadians will dig potatoes in Maine under an arrangement reached today by representatives of the American and Canadian Governments. Immigration regulations will be suspended by both countries to permit the labor to cross and recross the border.

American harvest labor, working northward with the grain season, heretofore has stopped at the Canadian line and scattered to other pursuits in this country. The agreement made today contemplates their crossing to take the places of thousands of Canadian workers who this year cannot go to the Western grain fields because of the labor shortage in the Dominion.

The wheat fields of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta begin to ripen just after the crop in the northern tier of States is gathered. Canada is counting this year on a 300,000,000 bushel yield of wheat, the second largest the country has grown.

Maine's potato crop is about ready for digging and there is not enough available labor in New England to take care of the yield. Canadian labor employed for a short time will enable Maine farmers to save all of their crop.

RUSSIAN FREIGHT RULES.

Supply Commission to Allot Space for Shipment.

The American-Russian Chamber of Commerce announced yestedary that new regulations had been established by the Russian Supply Commission in connection with the allotment of space for private freight purchased by Russian manufacturers from American firms for shipment to Russia.

All American firms which have received orders from Russian manufacturers or from Governmental institutions in Russia and which have received official permits from Petrograd authorizing the shipment of such goods to Russia, have the right to file applications regarding such shipments with the newly organized Special Department of Private Industry and Commerce of the Russian Supply Commission. Permits for the filing of such applications may be obtained from the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, 233 Broadway.

No private merchandise will be shipped to Russia without official permits issued in Petrograd to the Russian firms which have purchased goods in the United States. In alloting space for shipments of this character, the requirements of the Government for national defense will be of prime consideration. The Chamber's statement said that the new procedure applied to private freight contracted for by Russian manufacturers or Governmental institutions in Russia. It does not apply to contracts entered into with the Russian Supply Commission in this country.

Lehigh Valley R. R. Must Stand Trial

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 14.—Supreme Court Justice Swayze today refused to quash indictments against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company returned by the Hudson County Grand Jury in connection with the Black Tom munitions disaster in Jersey City more than a year ago, and ordered the record remitted to the Hudson County Quarter Sessions Court for trial. He said: "We think there is no reason why a corporation should not be held for criminal consequences of its neglect or nonfeasance. There is nothing in punishment prescribed which makes it impossible to punish the corporation." He says the Crimes act prescribes an alternate fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for ten years or both.

REJECT 6-CENT FARE TEST.

Second District Commission Denies Request of City Authorities.

ALBANY, Aug. 14.—The request of various city authorities throughout the State that a test case be made in Schenectady of the proposed six-cent trolley fare proposition, so that the Public Service Commission's jurisdiction in the premises could be tested in the courts, was denied today by the Second District Commission.

The denial was made public in a letter by Secretary Disney of the commission sent to Corporation Counsel Drummond of Auburn, who had been selected by the city authorities as their spokesman. The letter said there were at least two and possibly three cases already submitted to the commission still undecided, and one of which would serve as a vehicle "for arriving at a prompt judicial determination of the question of the commission's right to approve of increases in fare where special franchise conditions are involved."

WHEAT.

The wheat market will pass fully into the control of the Government on Sept. 1. Leading exchanges have been asked by Mr. Hoover to suspend all operations in futures on that day. In consequence of the Government's taking over of the market ordinary factors which are usually instrumental in bringing about price changes have lost their significance and are being considered only as a matter of curiosity and habit. The impression prevails that the Food Commission will name a lower price than prevails at present, the popular idea being that a minimum of $2 in Chicago will be decided upon, although some authorities believe that even a lower figure may be named. This is materially lower than prevailing cash prices, which at present range from about $2.25 to $2.50 in Chicago, according to grade. In the local cash market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at $2.35 and No. 2 hard at $2.55 nominal, cost, insurance, and freight, New York export.

Rye—Market weak; No. 2 Western, $1.85, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

CORN.

Prices in the corn market were firmer with a good demand from shorts, prompted by a sharp rally in the price of old cash corn. Peoria, which had experienced a very radical decline on Saturday and Monday, reported an advance of 9 to 10c in the price of cash corn there, although there were no specific evidences of renewed aggressive buying by distilling interests. The local cash market was firm; No. 2 yellow quoted at $1.98 and No. 2 mixed at $1.96, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

Further buying by exporters, who were credited with taking 500,000 bushels, gave the market a steadier tone, and prices closed ⅜c to ⅝c net higher. Receipts were larger and there was a disposition to look for increased offers of new oats. The local cash market was easy; standard quoted at 80½@81c; No. 2 white, 81c; No. 3 white, 80c; No. 4 white, 78@79c; fancy clipped white 82c; ordinary clipped white, 79@80c, all nominal, elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for provisions was more or less feverish. Prices opened irregular, and, after showing quite a sharp decline under liquidation, prompted somewhat by a feeling of uncertainty regarding the scope of the Food Control bill, there was a good rally on covering. Peace rumors had more or less influence and the strength in hogs served to check selling. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 10,000, estimated for Wednesday 25,000; Kansas City received 9,000 and Omaha 3,700.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The cottonseed oil market was kept in a state of nervousness by the feverish action of lard. Early there was considerable pressure on account of a decline in the lard market and also of uneasiness over the workings of the Food Control bill and the export embargo. Subsequently, however, prices rallied, and closed unchanged to 12 points net higher.

Early declines were followed by rallies in the coffee market yesterday, with the close net 2 points lower to 3 points higher. Sales were reported of 24,500 bags, including exchanges of September for May. The local spot market was quiet and unchanged at 9¼c for Rio 7s and 10¼c for Santos 4s. Cost and freight offers were said to show an easier tendency, and it was said that a block of Santos 4s had sold at 9⅝c, London credits.

SUGAR.

The futures market opened excited and very active, at declines of 12 to 31 points. The heavy selling was probably induced by reports from Washington stating that sugar would be one of the next commodities to be taken up under the Food Control bill, which may have caused the active evening up of accounts and the unsettling of sentiment. At the decline, however, a leading lower Wall Street trade interest supported values which held selling in check. There was a sharp rally later on covering, and most of the early loss was quickly gained, the close being net unchanged to a net decline of 9 points. Sales for the day amounted to 33,950 tons.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged, but trading was light, as refiners were not inclined to make new commitments. In fact, two of the refiners were out of the market entirely, while others were more inclined to catch up on old orders before making new ones. Prices ranged from 8.40 to 9.15 for fine granulated. Raw sugar continues unsettled, with spot prices nominal in the absence of fresh business. Early holders of Cuban sugars were soliciting bids at 6½c, cost and freight, owing to the sharp break in exchange prices. At the close operators were offering Cubas, September shipment, at 6½c and August at 6⅝, both cost and freight. Spot quotations follow: Centrifugal, 7.65@7.77c; Molasses, 6.67@6.89c; cost and freight, 6⅝@6¾c, but quotations purely nominal.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 9,721 packages. Monday's decline was partially recovered and the market has a firmer tone on the more desirable grades of fresh creamery. Receipts quite moderate and Western advices stronger. Renovated steady, ladles and packing stock barely sustained. Creamery, higher than extras, per lb., 41@41½c; extras, (92 score,) 40½c; firsts, (88 to 91 score,) 39@40½c; seconds, (83 to 87 score,) 37@38½c; thirds, 36½@36¾c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 42½@43c; extras, 41½@42c; firsts, 39½@41c; seconds, 38@39c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 40@40½c; good to prime, 37½@39½c; common to fair, 35@37c; renovated, extras, 38½c; firsts, 37@38c; lower grades, 35@36½c; imitation creamery, firsts, 36@37c; ladles, current make, firsts, 35@35½c; seconds, 34½c; lower grades, 33@34c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 34½c; No. 2, 34c; lower grades, 32½@33½c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 12,802 cases. Arrivals are light, and there seems to be no general improvement in quality. A few marks are running better than last week, but many are as poor as ever, and some worse. There is still a great scarcity of fresh gathered stock fit for the best class of trade, and shipments that contain a fair to good proportion of such are sought for at firm and hardening prices. Sales at some further advance on leading grades. More seriously mixed and inferior qualities are still very freely offered at irregular prices, and show no material improvement. Only a moderate movement in storage eggs; sales are chiefly in the ranges quoted; some very fancy marks are, however, held for higher prices, and occasional sales are reported. Nearby white eggs in small supply, and there are very few of uniformly heat free quality; these are wanted beyond the supply, and favor the seller; defective stock is extremely irregular, and moving slowly at a wide range. Fresh gathered, extras, per dozen, 42c; extra firsts, 40@41c; firsts, 37@39c; seconds, 34@36c; thirds and poorer, 28@33c; dirties, No. 1, 30@31c; No. 2 and poorer, 20@29c; checks, good to choice, dry, 27@29c; undergrades, 18@26c; refrigerator, firsts, storage and insurance paid, 35½@36½c; seconds, 34½@35c; refrigerator, State whites, 40@42c; State, Penn., and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 51@53c; ordinary to good, 42@50c; gathered whites, good to fine, 42@50c; poor to fair, 35@40c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 35@44c; State, Penn., and nearby, hennery browns, 43@46c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 35@42c.

BONDS OF MUNICIPALITIES

FOR years, a favorite investment of the most conservative investors—savings banks, insurance companies, trustees of estates and individual investors who place safety first in the choice of their investments—MUNICIPAL BONDS are now in even greater favor because income derived from them is

EXEMPT FROM THE FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Municipal bonds offered by HALSEY, STUART & COMPANY are secured as to payment of both principal and interest by a direct tax on all the taxable properties in substantial and growing communities. Their safety is, therefore, unaffected by changing business conditions. They may be had in short or long maturities, in amounts of $1,000, $500 and $100, and at prices to yield from 4.20% to 5%.

Our new pamphlet—"Bonds of Municipalities," tells how to select bonds of this character wisely. A copy will be sent free of charge together with our August circular of offerings upon application for Pamphlet Z-35.

MAXWELL PASSES DIVIDEND.

Motor Company Director Says Surplus Will Now Be Strengthened.

Directors of the Maxwell Motor Company at their meeting yesterday decided to pass the quarterly dividends on the common and second preferred stocks which have been paid regularly since October of last year. The second preferred has paid 6 per cent. per annum and the common has paid 10 per cent.

The passing of the dividend had been expected in Wall Street, and the action of the Directors was forecast in the recent decline of the common stock from 35⅛ to 29¼. Yesterday the stock sold down to 31½ and closed at 32.

One of the Directors explained after the meeting of the board that the dividend payments had been suspended for the reason that the company desired to strengthen its surplus, especially in view of the probable high excess profits tax the corporation would be called upon to pay. He said that the concern's finances were in sound condition.

Ray Copper Profits $3,679,898.

The report of the Ray Consolidated Copper Company for the quarter ended June 30, issued yesterday, shows profits of $3,679,898, which is equivalent to $2.33 a share, or at the annual rate of $9.32 per share of $10 par value. The profits were based on 27.562 cents a pound copper, as compared with 26.819 cents in the first quarter. The average cost of all net copper produced was 11.272 cents per pound. The total production of copper for the period was 23,532,119 pounds, compared with 22,952,404 pounds the previous quarter.

BAR PITTSBURGH EXCHANGE.

New York Exchange Will Not Furnish It with Stock Quotations.

The New York Stock Exchange authorities yesterday shut off the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange from receiving its quotations for stocks and bonds. Members of the Board of Governors of the local Exchange declined to discuss the step taken, but it is understood that the decision was based on information that the ticker prices were not properly guarded.

It is said that the New York Stock Exchange's quotations will be received by the approved brokerage houses in Pittsburgh, the number of such houses having been materially reduced recently as a result of the Exchange's persistent campaign against "bucket shops."

UNITED STATES GOVT. BONDS

Inasmuch as the bulk of the business in United States Government bonds is done over the counter, and not on the Stock Exchange, THE TIMES gives the following quotations, obtained from bond dealers:

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Dealings in United States Steel common on the Consolidated Stock Exchange exceeded 35,000 shares. That stock early in the day sold as high as 125⅝, which was a full point above its closing quotation on Monday. Trading in Bethlehem Steel B was on an active scale, 12,500 shares of that stock being dealt in. The market was strong in the early trading, but subsequently a sharp selling movement carried prices rapidly downward. The latter apparently had for its basis the peace reports current during the day. Commission house business throughout the list was on a good scale, with the dealings in odd lots broadly distributed.

Willingness to Listen

Many times it develops that important business has been lost to a financial institution because its officers were apparently too busy to give proper consideration to the tentative plans of a prospective patron. The officials of this Trust Company, acting on the assumption that the business of such a patron is always worth while, are willing to listen attentively to its presentation and render an opinion in accordance with modern business practice and its experience in similar cases.

How can the officials of this Trust Company serve you?

SOLDIER, TAUNTED, SHOOTS TWO BOYS

Called Him "Fatty" and "Red Head," and He Replied with Bullets.

ONE YOUNGSTER MAY DIE

Private, Locked Up, Says He Fired Over Their Heads so as to Frighten His Tormentors.

Because a crowd of boys in the Italian section of Brownsville taunted the soldiers of an army supply train, on its way to Mineola from Fort Hamilton yesterday, two of them are in St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, with bullet wounds, and Private William H. Cook of the Supply Company of the Twenty-second Infantry, U. S. A. Engineers, is locked up in the Brownsville Police Station on a charge of felonious assault. According to the police, Cook admits the shooting, but says he didn't mean to hit the boys.

The supply train of twenty-seven wagons was escorted by a mounted troop under Captain F. H. Adams. Each wagon was drawn by four mules, with a driver and one other man on the front seat, the cavalrymen in file on either side. The wagons had gone from Fort Hamilton out through Eastern Parkway. Drawing near the thickly populated Brownsville section, just before noon, the wagons and soldiers attracted large crowds of boys, who followed along the way of the train. According to witnesses, it was when the train turned into Stone Avenue, on the edge of the Italian section, that the boys began to get "fresh." There were taunts hurled at the soldiers, and the police received reports that stones were thrown as well. Many witnesses agreed that the boys directed uncomplimentary epithets at the troopers.

One of the group appeared especially hostile to a big driver, whom they called "Fatty" and "Red Head," as they ran along by the side of his wagon. In the midst of their yelling a shot sounded and two of the boys fell screaming to the pavement. The police said that the troop train did not stop. The wounded boys were Charles Zollo, 14 years old, of 168 Stone Avenue, shot through the right shoulder, and Jannaro Boccano, 13 years old, of 163 Stone Avenue, shot through the left lung and the left arm. Witnesses said they heard only one shot, although the police believe two or more were fired.

Policemen notified the Seventh Branch and Detectives Harry Beck, Joseph Connors, William Ryan, and Joseph Donellon commandeered an automobile and set out after the supply train. One of the wounded boys had said that "a big, fat, red-headed man who was driving" had shot them. The detectives caught up with the train about a mile fro mthe scene of the shooting, and from the description given them picked out Cook. They said that an examination of his service revolver, a .45 Colt, showed that three chambers were empty and that it smelled as if it had been recently fired.

They took Cook to the Seventh Branch where, it was said by the detectives, he told them he had intended to discharge the revolver over their heads to frighten the boys who were hampering the progress of the train, but that it went off in his hand He expressed keen regret for what had happened.

The detectives then took Cook to St. Mary's Hospital, where, they said, the wounded boys identified him. A charge of felonious assault was lodged against Cook at the Brownsville Police Station.

At the hospital it was said Zollo was seriously hurt, but that Boccano, because of the wound through his lung, might not recover.

Wisdom In Few Words

V.

LIE NOT WITH DOGS.

Benjamin Franklin was hard on thoughtless folk, men and women, who wasted their substance in foolish ways. He dealt out sharp satire and admonition to them. That was 160 years, or more, ago; but people now, as then, spend hard earned money for things superfluous, and for food and drink whose quantity and quality are hurtful to healthy minds and bodies. And the world needs thrift and common sense just now, more than ever. So Franklin's ways and words will fit to-day. He said:

"What maintains one vice Would bring up two children."

"He that lies down with dogs
Will rise up with fleas."

Thus he exemplified wisdom in few words. A small pamphlet called "The Proverbs of Franklin," issued by The Franklin Society, an institution that for thirty years has been successfully helping thousands of people to practice Franklin's philosophy of life, will be sent for the asking.

Who Is Responsible for Your Baggage When Traveling?

Do you insure it or leave it to chance?

Transportation companies are only responsible for it while in their custody—hotels assume little or no responsibility.

Why risk a loss when a NORTH AMERICA baggage policy will pay you promptly?

It covers the personal effects of yourself and family while away from home—at the office, golf or country club, school, college, etc., and wherever traveling for business or pleasure.

Losses are happening daily. Thieves are active, hotel fires frequent, accidents and losses in transportation are common.

Remember your chance of loss is just as great on a day's trip as it is on a long tour.

TO THE THEATRE GOERS OF NEW YORK:

There is in New York today an entertainment such as the human mind could not have conceived three years ago.

It transcends in dramatic effect, sublimity of settings, fascination, heroism, life, beauty and action the most inspired works of author and painter.

Nature alone—God, if you will—and man—SUPERMAN—called upon to enact roles never before even dared—have staged this drama.

Into it they have put sun and snow, peaks and gorges, romance, pathos, inspiration, the love of the faithful, the courage of martyrs, and above and beyond everything else, self sacrifice raised to a degree that the world has never before known.

There is, as one great New York critic termed it, something so fine, so brave, so beautiful in this entertainment that life for its own sake is made to seem trivial.

It will lift you to the heights, even as the heights of the earth are spanned by those who play the leading parts in the picture.

It will absorb you—make you think, and feel better for the thinking.

It will touch the innermost springs of all that is best, truest, and noblest within you, and at the same time it will stir and thrill you.

At times you will be held taut in your chair with the sheer rush of feeling.

At other times, with pulses throbbing, flesh thrilling and throat choked, you will want to jump to your feet and shout with a delirium of enthusiasm.

SUCH IS THE INSPIRATION, THE INTEREST AND THE ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED BY THE FIRST AND ONLY OFFICIAL ITALIAN WAR PICTURES, "THE ITALIAN BATTLEFRONT," WHICH OPENED AT THE FORTY-FOURTH STREET THEATRE ONE WEEK AGO, AND SINCE THEN HAS LITERALLY ENTHRALLED THOUSANDS AT EVERY PERFORMANCE, WITH THOUSANDS OF OTHERS UNABLE TO GET INTO THE THEATRE.

The pictures were taken by the Cinemographic Service of the Supreme Command of the Italian Army. The American tour is under the personal direction of William Moore Patch.

So much for the genuineness of these amazing art treasures of the great world struggle.

Now for a word of caution:

DO NOT MISS ONE OF THE MOST SATISFYING INTELLECTUAL AND INSPIRATIONAL TREATS OF MODERN TIMES BY COMPARING THIS PRODUCTION WITH ANY OTHER WAR PICTURES THAT HAVE BEEN SHOWN.

These pictures differ from all other pictures of a similar character, not alone in their genuineness, but primarily in the great human, dramatic note which they reveal, plus the most marvelous natural scenery that has ever been shown in any picture.

They are heroic, rather than terrifying; absorbing in their revelations of war as it is fought to-day, and at the same time as intense in action and incident as a melodrama; subliminal in artistry, yet with a gorgeousness that serves only as a setting for the stirring events enacted on its vast slopes and across its dizzy chasms. In the air, on the sea, on the roof of the world—this greatest of all human struggles is enacted, and the rushing tempo of the pictures carries you along with the action, as if you were part and parcel of it.

You sweep the Adriatic in a gigantic airship. You speed through deep swells in a charging motorboat toward an enemy submarine, and watch the bubbles rise to the water's surface as a shot from your gun pierces the periscope and sends the hidden craft to the bottom.

You climb the side of the earth, dragging heavy cannon through snow knee-deep until you feel that you are no longer men but machines. You make of the clouds a playground of death, and along white glaciers of everlasting snow you creep hand over hand right to the foe's breastworks.

These are but a few of the experiences and sensations which these thrilling records of history will bring to you. To miss them will be to forego one of the most unique and at the same time inspiring experiences of life. Matinees daily at 2:15. Evenings, 8:15. Seats selling three weeks in advance.
